All About Wheat.
Something About Goats.
Rye and Corn.
And Uncle Sam's Experiment.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

CHICAGO, Ill., March 13.

THE government worries about prohibition, about what England, France and Japan will do in the way of permitting us to build ships and about some other things. It ought to worry about WHEAT.

It is no longer a question of pleasing the farmer or holding farm votes for the Republicans. It is a question affecting the business of the United States, interests of all the business men, the welfare of all the workers.

FACTS and figures follow from reliable sources. Government and business men are invited to consider them and predict the final result of the government's attempt to corner wheat, buying it for more than the world's market price and storing it.

THIS country, last week, exported eight hundred eighty thousand bushels of wheat. Canada last week exported four million seven hundred thousand bushels.

Canadians have turned their wheat into cash. Our government takes the farmer's wheat and turns it into the grain elevators to be stored, to increase the unsold "carry over."

THE government fears that a serious slump in wheat prices might have a bad effect on general business.

More important is the possibility that artificially holding up wheat prices may in the end produce disaster.

If government continues to buy at prices that make wheat exportation impossible, July first, with the crop of winter wheat ready for storage, will find no empty elevators to hold it.

The grain elevators in the United States are practically full now.

Nobody will buy wheat from the farmers in July when he has no place to store the wheat, and those that are really pessimistic, say that when July comes it won't be a question of price, but a question of wheat being UNSALABLE.

MAY wheat sold in Chicago today at a price fractionally higher than Liverpool's price which controls the world's wheat markets.

Between Chicago and Liverpool there is a transportation charge of from 15 to 18 cents a bushel.

The government holding back American wheat is turning over the wheat markets of the world to the Argentine, Russia and Canada.

Unless government can get rid of the wheat it is storing, and others are storing, what will be done with the July crop, where will it be stored, how will it be sold?

SOME men that understand grain, invited to join the grain board, declined. They knew what would happen.

In Minneapolis the government buys wheat from farm co-operatives for $1.25 a bushel, against a normal price of $1.01. In Kansas City the government is paying $1.15 a bushel, normal price $1.00.

United States elevators now hold one hundred fifty-five million bushels of wheat, biggest storage in history.

EVERYBODY knows that the government and the grain board have a sincere desire to help the farmer and protect business generally.

But serious mistakes have been made with the generous desire to help.

A few months before the government began to buy wheat at artificial prices, May wheat was selling at one dollar and sixty cents a bushel. The price now is one dollar and ten cents, F. O. B. Chicago.

Corn has suffered ten cents a bushel, for lack of elevator storage.

SOME men, looking ahead are building new elevators as fast as they can, certain that the government will be compelled to rent or buy them to take care of the July crop.

One Chicagoan said today:

"I am getting rid of my wheat, emptying my elevators to rent them to the government. I have eight hundred thousand bushels of government wheat stored in one of my elevators and I know it is going to stay there indefinitely. The government pays me fifteen cents a bushel for storage per year, $120,000 a year rent for my elevator. That suits me."

The banker who suddenly found himself in the silk business when he refused to extend credit, will sympathize with Uncle Sam who finds himself suddenly in all kinds of business.

Millions have been advanced on co-operative creameries, on beans, on fruits.

According to a circular of the National City Bank of New York, the government has advanced eight million dollars on goats. It is supposed that the wool when shorn will pay the debt.

This writer, having tried raising angora goats, can testify that that isn't a certainty.

GRAIN men believe that the only hope of avoiding disaster, when the July wheat comes on top of the present storage, lies in the possibility of a serious world crop shortage.

Winter acreage this year shows two per cent increase. With government advertising its intention to buy above the market, sowing of spring wheat probably will show a great increase.

Barring government miracles,

FORNEY CASE GIVEN TO JURY

2 Women, 10 Men Weighing 'Racket' Charges in Trial On Slot-Machine Gambling

A jury of two women and 10 men retired in Criminal Court at 12:30 p. m. today to decide whether Alfred W. Forney is guilty of operating slot machines.

Before retiring the jury heard Forney's lawyer, Hiram D. Hirsh, chide District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner's office for not producing missing prosecution witnesses.

"The district attorney's office has had since Thanksgiving to prepare this case," Hirsh contended. "It is not the business of the defendants to produce witnesses for the prosecution."

CITES "PROTECTION"

Hirsh closing argument preceded Judge Frank P. Patterson's charge to the jury. Judge Patterson held that the jury would be justified to return a verdict of guilty if it believed Forney's grand jury testimony that he paid for police protection.

Admission of Forney's grand jury testimony, usually secret, was the high point o fthe trial. In this Forney told of handing over the lion's share of the receipts from 218 slot machines in the North Side to a mysterious R. L. Phillips, who never has been identified.

"ROBBERY"

Prosecutor John F. Haggerty, in his closing argument, estimated that Forney's machines swallowed $728,000 a year and declared the machines were a 10-to-1 shot against the players . . . "highway robbery," Haggerty complained.

Forney, indicted in November, 1928, disappeared on the date of trial in March, 1929, was declared a fugitive, surrendered in November, and was awaiting a verdict on charges of maintaining gambling devices.

FLAMES SWEEP PRINTING SHOP

Fire attributed to spontaneous combustion did damage roughly estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000 in the printing and engraving plant of the C. R. Moore Company, 1315 West Liberty avenue, today.

The estimate was made by W. W. Miller, treasurer of the company. Battalion Chief William H. Kuhlman made a much lower estimate.

Miss Gertrude Bollhorst, an office employe, coolly locked valuable papers and records in a fireproof safe.

Firemen poured water into the building an hour before the blaze was under control.

The loss consisted principally in the destruction of chemicals, valuable cameras and photo-engraving instruments, films, zinc plates and machinery. Officials said the loss was partly covered by insurance.

Irene Tells of Getting Officer's Gun in Battle

CHAPTER III.

WE were up against it in St. Louis.

We were up against more than starvation, illness, despair. We were up against a police officer's pointed gun.

Glenn drew his old Spanish revolver. The officer fired and I saw the rip in the shoulder of Glenn's coat made by the bullet.

Glenn was down. I was wearing man's clothes, and I guess the danger turned the girl inside those clothes into a man.

I drew my pistol and got between Glenn and the officer.

The officer yelled: "Drop it, kid!"

I screamed back: "You shot my man!" and knocked the gun out

DRY PROBERS ROW OVER WITNESS

Rum Law Upheld by Stagg, Noted Coach; La Guardia Says Statement 'Telling'

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—A double-barreled defense of American business men and American youth against charges of flagrant violation of the prohibition law was placed before the House Judiciary Committee today by spokesmen for the nation's leading dry organizations.

Carlton M. Sherwood, of New York, secretary of the Citizens' Committee of One Thousand, read a dozen telegrams from business men denouncing the statement of Grayson M. P. Murphy, New York "big business" man, that he did not know a single big industrial leader who did not flout the dry law.

Alonzo A. Stagg, famous coach of Chicago University, defended the country's youth and particularly denounced stories of widespread drinking among young people.

LIFE DEVOTED TO YOUTH

"When I was a young man I promised God that I would devote my life to the young people," said Coach Stagg. "For over 38 years I have been connected with the University of Chicago and I happened to live near one of the main thoroughfares. Before prohibition, drunken men were quite common on the street, now only occasional.

"There has been a tremendous gain in social and economic conditions among the poorer classes as a result of prohibition, and the children have profited thereby. The children are growing up with a much fairer chance to bridge the span between childhood and manhood."

Stagg said athletic directors of the Western Conference discussed

FIGHT ON SUGAR TARIFF FAILS

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(INS.)—The "billion dollar" high protection alliance proved its might in the tariff wars today when the Senate refused to reconsider the sugar schedule and in effect, approved for the second time a $32,000,000 increase in sugar duties.

A motion by Senator Nye (Rep.) of North Dakota, leader of the Democratic-Insurgent coalition, to reconsider the sugar schedule was defeated 38 to 47. Three erstwhile Insurgents and nine Democrats voted with the alliance, indicating the old coalition had crumbled in the tariff warfare.

The result of the ballot reaffirmed the Senate rate of $2 per hundred pounds against Cubar imports and $2.50 against world imports. The ultimate rates will range somewhere between these duties and those of the House.

Heinz Company Gets $29,244 Tax Refund

WASHINGTON, March 13—(AP.)—The H. J. Heinz Company, of Pittsburgh, today was refunded $29,244 by the Bureau of Internal Revenue on account of adjustments on income tax for 1927 and 1928. Nearly all of the amount due, the bureau announcement said, was to have been allowed in revising the Heinz credits to the Heinz Company for payments of income taxes in foreign countries.

Seaplane Record Comes Back to U. S.

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.)—Another world air speed record was brought back to the United States today when Capt. Boris Sergievsky sent his loaded Sikorsky seaplane roaring over a 100-kilometer course up Long Island Sound at 143.3 miles an hour.

Security Pact Leads To U. S. Entanglements In Europe, Says Child

By RICHARD WASHBURN CHILD,
Former Ambassador to Italy and Noted Author.

The United States has never been afraid to deal in a friendly way with other nations to settle our foreign affairs.

On the other hand we have wisely refused to enter any European system where we pawn in advance our freedom to remain aloof from affairs which are none of our business.

R. W. Child

There are many propagandists, professors, and others who want to shake an empty basket of peace-oats to get us into the European corral. They always try to confuse our desire for peace—our willingness to deal with others directly and generously and fearlessly—with a supposed duty to join some United States of Europe.

No better instance of this has ever been seen than in the case of the present naval conference in London.

We were able to build a navy equal to that of Great Britain plus Japan's but we went to London saying, "We will reduce navies if you will; we are for peace and for relieving taxpayers everywhere of the unnecessary burdens of any naval race." What do we get for our pains?

We get an invitation to enter a pony-league of European nations; to enter as a MINORITY member.

Some gullible Americans actually fall to see that if we enter an agreement to "consult with European nations in case of a threat of European war" we would be doing precisely what we would do on a larger scale if we went up to the front door of the big league run by the European powers and jumpd in—mouth first.

In either case what we are asked to do is to agree in advance that we will sit in at the European game anytime IN THE FUTURE.

As a price for our efforts to get naval reduction we are asked to join this new bush league of nations. The fact that we are all there merely to "consult" does not, as any practical international politician knows, help us at all. A "consultation" always has the purpose of deciding something, just as the "consultations" of the big league are aimed at deciding something.

The case might be of some threatened row which was none of our business. We can always by our own free will make rows our business. If some wily European diplomats had their way we would be—a minority member—in a diplomatic hole—losing some nation's friendship—perhaps all nations' friendship—in the snarl!

If we enter any "security pact" the case is worse—worse, perhaps, than entering the big European league itself.

What the mothers and fathers of America want less than anything is to see their sons drafted for any war because we have signed any security pact.

The phrase "security pact" sounds like peace and peaches, but a security pact is not a pact for our security, but for some foreign nation's security. It is a pact for us to make war to guarantee the security of foreign nations. It is a MILITARY ALLIANCE.

We want no military alliances with European nations in advance of some future European brawl.

We refused to enter the league

Two Families Made Homeless by Fire

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 13.—Two families were made homeless in a fire near Rogersville, which destroyed an eight-room frame dwelling. Loss was estimated at $5,000. The families of Gilbert Tennant and L. E. King were the occupants.

FIGHT TO SAVE NAVAL PARLEY

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service.

LONDON, March 13.—The American delegates today turned their efforts toward mediating the differences of the other delegations in an attempt to find a key which may open the deadlock now existing at the London naval conference.

Hopes of breaking the deadlock sufficiently to enable a real five-power agreement appeared to be faint, however.

The negotiations were continued in private discussions between the French and Italians and the British and Americans. A meeting of the "big five," originally scheduled for 4 o'clock this afternoon, was canceled in order to give more time for the private discussions.

PAIR POINTED OUT TO JURY AS BANDITS

Wounded Companion of Slain Corporal Awaiting Call To Tell About Killing

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 13.—Prosecuting witnesses today pointed out Irene Schroeder as one of the bandits who held up a store in Butler December 27, a short time before Corp. Brady Paul was slain attempting to capture the bandits.

W. Glenn Dague also was identified as one of the bandits as he appeared in court for the first time since the trial of his blonde sweetheart for the murder of Paul began four days ago. Dague's trial on the same charge will follow Irene's.

State Highway Patrolman Ernest Moore, wounded in the gun battle on the Butler-New Castle road, and two women eye-witnesses were waiting to take the stand to testify as to the slaying of Paul.

PAIR POINTED OUT

"There she is, right at the defense table," testified Wish Angert, manager of the store, when asked by Special Prosecutor Charles J. Margiotti if he could identify the woman.

"And the man?"

"He's there in the front row with Sheriff Johnston. He is wearing a light suit and has a reddish mustache."

The blonde and Dague listened attentively as Angert told his story, but neither seemed to realize the other was in court.

The trigger woman did not look up as her sweetheart came into the courtroom, accompanied by Sheriff Frank N. Johnston.

HOLDUP DESCRIBED

Dague was brought in from jail on petition of Prosecutor Margiotti, who told Judge R. L. Hildebrand, who is presiding, that Dague's presence was necessary

Court Orders Vitale Removed as Judge

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.)—Magistrate Albert H. Vitale was ordered removed from office today by the appellate division of the State Supreme Court, on charges preferred against him by the New York City Bar Association. Five justices, headed by Justice Victor J. Dowling, found Vitale guilty of impairing public confidence in the courts by borrowing $20,000 from the late Arnold Rothstein, Broadway gambler.

MINE DELEGATES DEMAND EXPULSION OF REBELS

RESOLUTION MET WITH CHEERS

Alleged Corrupt Acts in Illinois Field Are Cited; Limit on Speeches Lifted

INDIANAPOLIS, March 13.—The first open demand from the convention platform of the United Mine Workers of America, in session here, that members of the union associated with the rump convention at Springfield, Ill., be expelled from the union, was made today.

A local union in District No. 12 in Illinois, the rebel center, urged that a resolution be passed expelling those members who "are taking part or who have had a part in the rump convention." The demand was made in a telegram sent by his local to Julius Jacoby, Valier, Ill., delegate from Local 3613 in District No. 12, who read it to the convention.

APPLAUSE GREETS ACTION

Loud applause followed the reading of the message.

Giving delegates at the convention here a complete and detailed view of alleged corrupt conditions in the Illinois rebel camps preparatory to official action of the convention, delegates from Illinois today continued their barrage of attacks on actions of union district and local officers in Illinois.

Rules were suspended at the convention today eliminating the five-minute limit for talks by convention delegates to allow the Illinois airing to go on unhampered. The flood was open to any Illinois delegate who wished to speak.

Allegations of illegal union elections, beatings, theft of union funds, and shootings which were described yesterday were continued by the Illinois men who spoke today. Some waved threatening letters promising punishment if they "talked."

WALKER IS TARGET

Targets of the attacks of the District No. 12 delegates besides various union local and district officers were: John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor; Alexander Howat, president of the Kansas union and of the rump convention; A. C. Lewis, legal counsel for District No. 12 and Frank Farrington, former president of the Illinois district.

Following announcement yesterday that William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, will address the convention here Monday, turning his back on an invitation to address the miners' rump convention at Springfield, Ill., it was learned today that he had sent a telegram to Walker asking him to explain his activities with the Illinois insurgents. Green has the authority, by virture of his office, to unseat Walker and suspend the entire Illinois federation from the national federation.

Commenting on the progress of the convention in its fourth day today, Phil Murray, Pittsburgh, vice president of the international association, said that it was pleasing to him and to the entire Pennsylvania delegation of about 400 men who are taking an active part in convention affairs.

Bishop to Officiate At Albee Funeral

NEW YORK, March 13.—(INS.)—Bishop William T. Manning will officiate at funeral services Saturday morning in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine for E. F. Albee, vaudeville magnate, who died Tuesday night in Florida. The body will arrive here tomorrow and will lie in state at the Cathedral Friday afternoon.

Two Boys Seized As Bandit Suspects

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 13.—State police today seized two youths who described themselves as Martin N. Burns, 21, and Daniel Burns, 21, both of Philadelphia. They are being held as suspects in connection with the hold-up of two garages and the theft of a new auto in Philadelphia last night.

which were $2.40 against Cuba and $3 for the world.

A few moments later the alliance again triumphed by defeating a motion to reconsider the $53,000,000 increase in duties on cement. This vote was 38 to 47. Again the alliance drew support from both the Insurgents and Democratic ranks.

This ballot retained the six cents per hundred pound rate on cement which the Senate adopted last week after having placed the item on the free list last January. Coalition leaders sought in vain to win back the deserters who voted to put cement on the free list and then switched to protection.

Dr. Eckener Sails To Get U. S. Medal

HAMBURG, Germany, March 13.—(AP.)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, famous Zeppelin expert, sailed for New York today aboard the Hamburg-America liner Hamburg.

He will remain in the United States about a week. The object of his trip is to receive the gold medal of the National Geographic Society at Washington. He may visit Akron, O., to see his son Knut, who is engaged in Zeppelin construction there.

Bishop Lauds Girl Scorning Beauty Show Attire

MACON, Ga., March 13.—(AP.)—Refusal of Senorita Julia Salazaar, of Costa Rica, to appear in a bathing suit at the international beauty pageant at Miami, Fla., won praise from Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

"I glory in her spirit and the word of rebuke," the bishop told a luncheon club. "The example she set should make us realize the array of the carnal which is making its appeal in America today."

Rival to Radio Draws 30-Day Sentence

Central Police Station's most talkative prisoner talked himself into 30 days in the workhouse today.

Arrested several times previously, Charles Johnson, 40, Negro, had wearied Magistrate Leo Rothenberg with his verbosity. So when Johnson was arraigned today on a charge of drunkenness, the magistrate said: "The longer you talk, the longer your sentence."

Johnson talked 10 minutes and was just getting into form when the magistrate interrupted: "The workhouse needs a radio; 30 days for you."

57 Afghan Rebels Reported Executed

TEHERAN, Persia, March 13.—(AP.)—A report from Kabul, Afghanistan, today stated that 57 adherents of the usurper Bacha Sakao, who was ousted and put to death by Nadir Shah last year, had been executed by Nadir Shah's orders. After the fall of Bacha Sakao, who was known as "Water Boy of the North," the men had attached themselves to Khan Mohammed, a notorious robber.

Stroke Is Fatal To Noted Surgeon

LOS ANGELES, March 13—(AP.)—Dr. William Taylor McArthur, physician and surgeon of international reputation, died at his home here yesterday. He suffered a paralytic stroke three weeks ago.

Dr. McArthur was 66 years old and had been accorded many high honors in the medical world since he came to Los Angeles.

LAYS STRENGTH TO DIET

Prof. Paul C. Bregg, great big strong man with untearable hair, who is in Pittsburgh to deliver a series of health lectures at Memorial Hall, says he hasn't tasted milk, meat or eggs for more than 30 years. Neither has any of his three children since they were born, he relates.

Brought here under the auspices of the National Diet and Health Association, Bregg will deliver his free lectures every night beginning tonight, with the exception of next Tuesday, until the series ends March 20.

Once the professor was bald. Strict attention to diet, he says, brought back his strong curly locks. Now he offers $1,000 to any man or women who can make him wince when they tear at his hair. Strong policemen have tried it, in fun, of course; so have other athletes—but to no avail.

The professor never wears a hat. He has never been ill. Besides being a strict vegetarian, he holds seveal Pacific Coast athletic records. Los Angeles he calls home.

Boy's Leg Fractured In Auto Accident

Reinhart Weiss, 6, of 521 Sunnyside street, East Pittsburgh, was taken to the Columbia Hospital today, suffering from a fractured left leg received when he was struck by an automobile in front of the Bessemer Avenue School, East Pittsburgh. The driver of the machine, Frank B. Casey, of 129 Wall avenue, Wilmerding, was released on his own recognizance.

TAXI STRIKERS FAVOR NEW CAB FIRM

Leaders Declared Willing To Support Pittsburgh Independent Company

Leaders of the striking taxi drivers today announced willingness to support U. J. L. Peoples, wealthy architect, in his plan to organize an independent taxi company if Mayor Charles H. Kline grants him an emergency permit.

The strike leaders held a conference with Peoples in his office today. Peoples has expressed willingness to grant the men recognition of their union, the chief obstacle to their settlement with the Parmelee Transportation Company. E. H. Miller, president of the Parmelee concern, arrived in Pittsburgh today.

The taxicab strike situation became further complicated today with the declaration by J. E. Boston, former Green Cab Company superintendent, that he is not connected with any "back-to-work" movement.

Boston said he called a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Melwood street garage of the Parmelee Transportation Company, which was attended by about 200 striking drivers. The meeting wound up by Boston joining the union last night at the headquarters in the McGeagh Building.

BOSTON JOINS UNION

"Within the last two weeks about 200 drivers have told me they were not satisfied with the Moose Temple vote," he said. "I decided on my own hook to get them together. If enough men showed up I was going to ask the strikers' committee to hold another meeting. Somehow this got mixed up with the back-to-work' commitee. I have nothing to do with that. When the men showed up they asked me why I didn't belong to the union.

"I told them that the committee would not take me in. I met last night with the committee and my application for membership was accepted."

Meanwhile, the regular strikers' committee met today in the office of their counsel, Attorney Leonard A. Mazer. The committee would not divulge the purpose of the meeting.

135 MORE JOIN MOVE

The "back-to-work" committee secured 135 additional names to the petition it was circulating among the striking drivers who want to go back to work, according to Maurice Fromme, chairman. This group is to hold a meeting this afternoon in the Yellow Cab Company garage, 208 Highland avenue. The men have asked Walter S. Laird, president of the Yellow Cab Company, to address them, Fromme said.

"We will ask Mayor Kline for an appointment Saturday morning to allow us to present our petition to him with the additional names on it asking for another general meeting of the men," Fromme said.

IN COMPANY'S ROOMS

The company issued the following statement last night:

"The 'back-to-work' movement, which seems to be spreading among the former drivers, started, as far as the management is concerned, as a spontaneous expression of a conservative majority of the men who desire a sane settlement of the present difficulty.

"The work being done by this committee is entirely voluntary. While it, of course, has the sincerest and whole-hearted support of the management, it was conceived by the men themselves, and is not being financed by the companies."

'OFFICE LOANED'

"The companies have lent to this committee a vacant office and refers the conservative element among the men to this address, 801 Standard Life Building."

Strikers' Hearings To Be Held Today

Arrested last night in the union headquarters, McGeagh Building, Chester H. Waddle, vice chairman of the strikers' committee, was released in $1,500 bond, and Thomas Hoover, a driver, in $25 bond. They posted bond before Alderman Martin Griffin, Center avenue.

Waddle is charged with inciting a riot and surety of the peace, in informations sworn to by Fromme and Harry Levine. Hoover is charged with disorderly conduct by Fromme. The informations were made before Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan, of Sewickley. She set 1 o'clock today for the hearings. Constables Ross Shaffer and Charles H. Gordon made the arrests.

Planting Forest as Mother's Memorial

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(INS.)—Former State Senator Benjamin R. Inman, of Indianapolis, has undertaken a unique memorial to his mother in the form of a memorial forest at her homestead near Hayesville, Ind.

Upon the advice of state conservation department officials, Inman has decided to plant white and red pines to reforest the land nearby by the memorial proper, in Norway spruce trees, will spell out the letters of the mother's name. Letters will be 75 feet long and 45 feet wide.

KLINE ALONE SUPPORTING GRUNDY

Armstrong, Malone, Other Leaders Here for Davis; Pinchot Followers Active

Mayor Charles H. Kline appears to be the sole remaining hope of delivering organized political help from Allegheny County to the state ticket headed by Senator Joseph R. Grundy and Samuel S. Lewis.

The Mayor has said he is not committed to any candidate, although he was reported to have conferred a few weeks ago with W. L. Mellon, believed to be back of the Grundy-Lewis ticket.

Nearly all the other elected officials were expected to support a prospective ticket, sponsored by friends of William S. Vare, headed by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, for senator, and former Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown for governor.

PINCHOT FRIENDS BUSY

Former Gov. Gifford Pinchot is out for another term and from all appearances will run alone. His friends have begun to organize his former supporters and are preparing to open headquarters here.

It is generally agreed that Joseph G. Armstrong, county commissioner and Republican county chairman, would indorse the Davis-Brown ticket, but deferring announcement until W. L. Mellon, former Republican state chairman, returns to Pittsburgh next week.

Friends of former President of Council James F. Malone, who with the late Judge Richard W. Martin ran for mayor against Kline, have been girding for the Davis-Brown ticket for some time.

LESLIE SEES VARE

Malone was supported by Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, campaign chairman; State Senator M. G. Leslie and the latter's friends. Neither has indicated a choice of state candidates, but many of their followers seem inclined to Davis and Brown.

Leslie has been in Atlantic City for months and was believed to have conferred frequently with Vare's Philadelphia organization.

SIZE KLINE STRENGTH

Just what voting strength Kline could deliver to the Grundy-Lewis slate, in the efent he decided to support it, is conjectural, and would be confined mainly to the first 15 wards of the city in addition to what Sheriff Robert S. Cain could muster outside the city, judging by the last primary.

State Senator James J. Coyne, who favors Grundy and Lewis, dominates four of those wards and influences another. Kline leaders who control a ward in that territory are Congressman P. J. Sullivan, City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley, George W. Savage, tax assessor, and Mike DeRosa, city park concessionaire.

Armstrong supported Kline for Mayor, and if they part in the state fights, Kline probably would lose most of the North and South Side wards.

FREDERICK PROBLEM

Dr. F. H. Frederick, president of the Civil Service Commission, although appointed by Kline, was reported to be more likely to follow Armstrong, and would be joined by practically all North Side chairman who produce votes.

Kline carried five of the South Side wards last fall, but four of them generally respond to Armstrong's orders.

Sullivan intends to seek re-election to Congress, and would be in a jam if Armstrong and Kline reach the parting of the ways. If Sullivan casts his lot with Armstrong, the Mayor might remove Sullivan's police inspector and magistrate. If the Congressman sticks to Kline he might lose the large Third Ward, as Alderman John J. Verona is a staunch supporter of Armstrong.

Kline's influence with city payroll voters was said to have been materially weakened by the recent action of the city administration in discharging scores of loyal political workers and forcing many others to retire on pensions.

PINCHOT TWITS SERVICE BOARD

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—(AP.)—Announcement by the Public Service Commission yesterday that it had instituted a complaint against the rates of the Scranton Electric Company, and that it was engaged in a general inquiry of electric rate structures of Pennsylvania utilities, today brought a statement from former Gov. Pinchot that the commission "has suddenly waked up."

The former governor in public statements has urged that the commission as at present constituted should be abolished.

Mr. Pinchot today asked why the commission waited until his candidacy for the governorship was announced "on a platform of breaking the strangehold of the utilities over the people and driving the Public Service Commission out of office."

"It was not the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania," he said, "but the Federal Trade Commission in Washington which brought out the facts about the Scranton Electric Company, although it was the business of the Pennsylvania Public Service Board to do it."

Ship Builder's Kin To Christen Train

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.)—Donald McKay was a builder of clipper ships, and his great-granddaughter, Miss Grace Harriet McKay, of Brooklyn, on Tuesday, is to christen the Yankee Clipper, newest and fastest train between New York and Boston.

Parties for Wife Costly, Alimony Cash Used

DETROIT, March 13.—(AP.)—Bernard Barnett has spent so much money on his wife, taking her to swell cafes and shows while she is suing him for divorce, that he has been unable to make temporary alimony payments ordered by the court.

Mrs. Barnett had Bernard brought before Judge Lester S. Moll yesterday, charging that he was $140 in arrears.

"Why, your honor, I've been giving her money right along, and every time I take her out it costs $10 or $15," Barnett said. "I bought her a pair of silk pajamas and here's the receipt for them." He had no receipt for the cash he said he gave her.

The court allowed Barnett two weeks to raise $140 and advised him to pay it through the court.

Estate of Sanford Bequeathed to Wife

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(INS.)—Save for minor bequests to relatives, the estate of the late Justice Edward T. Sanford, of Tennessee, who died here Saturday, was bequeathed to his widow, Mrs. Lutie Woodruff Sanford, under the will filed for probate here today.

No estimate of the value of the estate was given. The will was dated June 8, 1927.

Young Plan Becomes Law As Hindenburg Signs

BERLIN, March 13.—(INS.)—President von Hindenburg today signed the Young plan.

The president's signature, making the plan a law, followed a Reichstag resolution declaring the law urgent and the Federal Council's approval of the resolution.

With the plan now fully approved, Germany is committed to reparations payments until 1988.

POLISH TREATY DELAYED

The President also signed the German-American agreement by which Germany's reparations payments to the United States are regulated, but held up the Polish liquidation treaty.

In an official statement, von Hindenburg declared he signed the Young Plan "with a heavy but firm hand" despite numerous requests from various quarters that he defeat the measure by withholding his signature.

Failure to sign, the President declared, would have meant financial and economic disaster for Germany.

"I never shunned my responsibilities as an army leader," he said, "therefore I rejected the idea of my resignation or a plebescite to determine the merits of the measure."

APPEALS FOR SUPPORT

The proclamation appeals to the unity of all Germans to support the measure and concludes with the familiar words:

"Deutschland uber alles."

The Nationalist newspaper Deutsche Zeitung embellished its front page with a mourning border in publishing news of the signing. Accusing von Hindenburg of lacking the genius of statesmanship, the paper declared:

"We bid the field marshal goodbye, because he eliminated himself as the savior of The Fatherland."

Mrs. W. R. Hearst Feted By Roman Society

By PRINCE PIGNATELLI
Universal Service.

ROME, March 13.—Mrs. William Randolph Hearst was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Prince Altieri at his Roman palace. A dance followed the dinner.

Mrs. Hearst was also entertained at a luncheon party given at the Villa Spada by Alexander Kirk, counsellor of the American Embassy. There were 28 guests at the luncheon, including Princess Marie of Greece, mother of Princess Xenia, the former Mrs. William B. Leeds, Prince Potenziana, and others prominent in Italian society and the international colony.

Mrs. Hearst was shown about the villa by Mrs. Federzino, wife of the president of the Senate. Later in the day she visited the Senate building, where Premier Mussolini was listening to a debate then in progress. Afterward, accompanied by the Princess Colonna and the Marchioness Somni Pignatelli, Mrs. Hearst attended a reception given in her honor by the Princess Bonompagni Ludovisi, wife of the governor of Rome.

NEW PLANET, BIGGER THAN EARTH, FOUND NEAR NEPTUNE

LONG SEARCH ENDED BY DISCOVERY

Lowell Observatory in Arizona Reports Finish Of Efforts to Locate It

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 13.—(AP.)—Prof. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard Observatory, today announced receipt of word from the Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., of the discovery there of the ninth major planet of the solar system.

The planet, as yet unnamed, is beyond Neptune and is probably larger than the earth, but smaller than Uranus.

Dr. Shapley hailed the discovery as one of the most important in astronomy since that of Neptune in 1846.

LONG SEARCH ENDS

The years of research which led to the definite determination of the existence of a trans-Neptune body have confirmed the belief of the late Percival Lowell, brother of President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard, that such a planet existed, Dr. Shapley said.

The telegram, which was received by the observatory this morning, read:

"Systematic research begun years ago, supplementing Lowell's investigation for a trans-Neptunian planet, has revealed an object which for seven weeks has in rate of motion and path consistently conformed to trans-Neptunian body at the approximate distance he assigned. Fifteenth magnitude. Position March 21 at three hours Greenwich mean time was seven seconds of time west from Delta Geminorum, agreeing with Lowell's predicted longitude."

DISTANCE NOT FIXED

Dr. Shapley said the distance of the new planet beyond Neptune had not been definitely computed and neither had its orbit been calculated, so far as he knew.

The known planets until today, were, inorder of their remoteness from the sun, Mercury, Venus, the Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune.

Mercury is oly 28,566,000 miles from the sun at its nearest approach, while Neptune is calculated to be 2,769,000,000,000 miles away. Neptune's passage around the sun requires 156 years.

Neptune was discovered mathematically much in the same way that the existence of the new planet was first surmised because of certain peculiarities in the orbit of Neptune.

Lowell's observations of the phenomena led him to deduce the existence of another planet beyond Neptune.

Like Neptune, the new body is invisible to the naked eye.

DOHENY PLEADS PATRIOTISM

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(AP.)—After counsel had outlined prosecution and defense contentions today in the bribery trial of Edward L. Doheny, wealthy oil man, the government began the introduction of documentary evidence, among it being the order by President Harding in 1921 placing jurisdiction of naval oil reserves under the Navy and Interior Departments.

Doheny is charged with giving Albert B. Fall, secretary of the Interior in the Harding cabinet, a bribe of $100,000 to influence his award of the Elk Hills naval oil lease to Doheny's company.

PATRIOTISM DEFENSE

In a brief outline today Owen J. Roberts, special prosecutor, sketched arguments the government would make in its effort to prove that Doheny gave Fall the money as a bribe, asserting that Doheny had said he expected to make $100,000,000 out of the lease.

Frank J. Hogan, defense attorney, who followed him, summed up the defense and said that Doheny might have expected to make $100,000,000 over a period of 30 or 40 years after the expenditure of $100,000,000 or $150,000,000.

He also indicated that he would attempt to show the oil man bid for the lease through partiotic motives.

Oil Prosecution Trying To Make Blackmer Return

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(AP.)—Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, government counsel in the protracted oil cases, today petitioned the Supreme Court to review authority of the government to compel Harry M. Blackmer, now abroad, and sought as a witness, to return to the United States. Blackmer has been residing abroad several years and refuses to return.

Allegheny Region Traffic Gain Predicted

The Allegheny Regional Advisory Board expects that requirements of shippers in its district will be 5 per cent or 50,922 cars greater in the second quarter this year than in the like 1929 quarter.

The 5 per cent increase arrived at by the board was calculated on the basis of returns from a questionaire sent to 713 carload shippers representing appraximately 92 per cent of the total production of the district. The area constituting the Allegheny Region comprises Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio, Northern West Virginia and the Pan Handle of Maryland.

RIOTS FOLLOW GANDHI MARCH

LONDON, March 13.—(INS.)—Numerous arrests and bloody clashes in various parts of India today followed in the wake of Mahatma Gandhi's sensational "march to the sea" in connection with his campaign of civil disobedience against British rule.

The most sensational arrest was that of Mayor Sengupta, of Calcutta, on charges of sedition.

At Lahore the Extremist leader, Sherjung, was arrested on similar charges. He is alleged to be linked with a widespread conspiracy of political murders aimed at the overthrow of British rule in India.

As the result of discovery of this plot, governmental troops and police began a roundup of suspected characters and political Extremists.

A serious clash occurred at the Byculla station, near Bombay, when scores of railroad strikers attempted to storm the station. Police routed the rioters after scores of the latter had been injured.

Meanwhile Gandhi, accompanied by 100 supporters, planned to continue his march to the seacoast from Aslali, where he halted to augment his force by new recruits. Urging his followers to "be ready to sacrifice your lives," he is marching to the coast to manufacture salt in direct defiance of British law in an effort to compel abandonment of the salt tax, chief source of British revenue in India.

Cunard Line Plans For 'Biggest Ship'

LONDON, March 13.—(AP.)—The Cunard Line officially announced today that it is in communication with certain shipbuilders regarding the building of a new steamer for its Atlantic express service.

It is understood the company has sent out preliminary inquiries and specifications for a new liner which, it is reported, will be the biggest ship afloat.

HUSTON ADMITS LOBBY WORK

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(AP.)—Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National Committee, today informed the Senate Lobby Committee that the Tennessee River Improvement Association, of which he is a former president, had as its purpose the influencing of legislation and added that he thought it might properly be called a "lobby committee."

Huston denied, however, that it was a political organization. He named a number of prominent men who had co-operated in its work.

Among these, he said, were Senator Brock (Dem.), Tennessee; the late Senator Tyson, of Tennessee; the late Senator Underwood, of Alabama; former Senator Shields, of Tennessee, and E. B. Stahlman, Nashville publisher.

The association had urged acceptance of the bid of the American Cyanamid Company for Muscle Shoals. A bill awarding the power project to that company is now pending in Congress.

Oxygen Battle To Save Baby Continues

Doctors today were still battling to save the life of Jean Marie Clark, 3, daughter of George H. Clark, ill with pneumonia at her home, 2322 Venetian avenue, Carrick.

Shortly after 3 a. m. yesterday Carrick police received a call from the home asking for oxygen, which was rushed to the bedside of the little victim.

For hours doctors administered the oxygen at 15-minute intervals. Today they said her condition still was critical, but there were hopes for her recovery.

OHIOANS FIGHT STEEL MERGER

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 13.—(AP.)—One of the bitterest battles for proxies in the history of the steel industry was in prospect today with the proposed merger of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company at stake.

Directors of both concerns late yesterday gave their approval to the consolidation, involving assets approaching the billion dollar mark, but the final decision rests with the sharply divided Sheet and Tube stockholders.

The charter of the Sheet and Tube Company makes the ratification by holders of two-thirds of the 1,200,000 shares necessary for the merger. Youngstown and Cleveland interests who are opposed to the merger are reported to be in control of 500,000 shares. The stockholders meet April 7.

Eugene C. Grace, president of Bethlehem, and James A. Campbell, chairman of the Sheet and Tube board, urged the consolidation on the ground that products of the two concerns complement each other.

Back of the opposition is the reluctance of Ohioans to let control of the nation's fourth largest steel unit pass into the East and the rivalry of Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier, who created the Republic Steel Corporation.

A proxy committee was formed by those sponsoring the merger. It includes Samuel Mather, of Cleveland; John Tod and Richard Garlick, of Youngstown, and Campbell.

At the Cleveland offices of Otis & Co. it was admitted steps were being taken by the Eaton interests to form an opposition proxy committee.

Shoe Clerk Slayer Is Refused Stay

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., March 13.—(INS.)—Plans for the execution of Alphonse D. Reilly, 22, of St. Louis, tomorrow were going forward here today. Reilly was sentenced to the gallows for slaying a shoe store clerk at Los Angeles during a robbery.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 13.—(INS.)—Gov. C. C. Young today had declined to commute to life imprisonment the death sentence of Alphonse D. Reilly.

Beallsville Pastor Dies After Illness

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., March 13.—The Rev. J. A. A. Craig, pastor of the Beallsville Presbyterian Church, died at his home yesterday. He had been unable to occupy his pulpit for some time. The Rev. Craig was a member of a pioneer family of Washington County and was born in the Claysville district.

He leaves his wife and a daughter, Sarah. Funeral services will be tomorrow afternoon, with burial in the Claysville cemetery.

AL SMITH'S SON SURVEYS COAL

SCRANTON, Pa., March 13.—(AP.)—Arthur Smith, son of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, and vice president of the Meehan Coal Company, arrived here on a special train over the New York, Ontario and Western Railroad. He is to be a guest of the Hudson Coal Company while in the city. He made the trip for the purpose of familiarizing himself with coal mining, he told newspaper men.

Rubbish Wagon Driver Rides Hot Seat

Charles Cabbell, Negro, was driving his rubbish wagon unconcernedly along Chislett street today when to his amazement the seat under him began to get uncomfortably warm. The sun above was fairly warm, but the sun can't heat under a garbage wagon seat, reasoned Charles.

Two hundred school children along the street were shouting and then a pedestrian called the attention of the driver to the fact that his rubbish was on fire. Children, firemen believe, threw lighted matches into the truck and papers had ignited.

The damage totaled $25, firemen said.

SPANISH COURT REJUVENATED

MADRID, March 13.—(INS.)—Re-establishment of constitutional normalcy in Spain is seen in Premier Berenguer's announcement today of a decree by King Alfonso abolishing the powers, self-granted by the recent dictatorship, to disregard any distasteful decision of the Supreme Court.

Premier Berenguer said that the King also would sign a decree giving victims of the dictatorship's unconstitutional activities an opportunity to obtain redress.

Reports that he was worried because of inability to make any progress in solving Spain's problems, were denied by the Premier.

"I am carrying on until a parliament is elected and my successor is appointed," he said.

Marry for Money? Surely, Say Dartmouth Seniors

HANOVER, N. H., March 13.—(INS.)—Two hundred Dartmouth College seniors would marry for money. But 121 others would wed for love alone.

There are 31 seniors who have never been kissed by a girl friend.

What Dartmouth College needs most is a course in etiquette, some seniors think. Others believe that courses in golf, ballroom dancing, bicycing, and horseback riding, might profitably be added to the curriculum.

The above disclosures were made by students who will graduate from Dartmouth this year in a class questionnaire, the results of which were made public today.

Rye whisky is preferred by a majority of the class. As a "chaser," sentiment favored ale—or more rye. The questionnaire revealed that 134 seniors drink, 43 are total abstainers.

The vote won for Al Marsters, football star, the distinction of "having done the most for Dartmouth."

Wales Bolts When Officer Looks Other Way

KAMPALA, Uganda, March 13.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales, while motoring into Entebbe, encountered a policeman who didn't know him and refused to believe him when he was told.

When the Prince starts from one place to another all traffic on the roads is stopped in order to insure the royal party a clear run. That was done, but the Prince was ahead of schedule and was signaled by a uniformed constable with his arms stretched out.

Wales, who was driving, pulled up and the constable politely announced.

"You can't go this way until the Prince of Wales has passed."

Provincial Commissioner Postlewaite, sitting beside the Prince, explained: "This is the Prince of Wales."

"Oh, I've heard that before," said the policeman as he drew out his note book and took the number of the Prince's car.

Just then something attracted the policeman's attention. He dashed across the road and Wales hurriedly drove off amid the shouts of the constable, who saw the offender escaping.

No one enjoyed the joke more than Wales.

POLICE OF TWO COUNTIES JOIN BANDIT HUNT

Five Men Sought in Theft of Two Autos and Holdup of New Kensington Store

Police of Allegheny and Westmoreland counties today were searching for five bandits who stole two automobiles and held up the Olympic Confectionery, Tenth street and Fifth avenue, New Kensington, early today, escaping with $100.

State Highway Patrolmen J. M. Burnsworth and Robert Clark recovered the first car used by the thugs after they had ditched it in the Logans Ferry road, a mile south of New Kensington, a short time after the robbery.

CUSTOMER ROUTED

Proceeding to New Kensington in an automobile said by police to have been stolen from George H. Goff, of 1200 Farragut street, East Liberty, the bandits entered the confectionery, covered Louis Catoris with revolvers and rifled the cash register.

Fred Broad, of Freeport road, a New Kensington real estate dealer, entered the store during the holdup and was pelted with candy. He departed and failed to give an alarm because he thought the bandits merely roisterers, he told police.

STEAL SECOND CAR

Ditching the automobile when they failed to observe a curve on Logan Ferry hill, the bandits held up Robert Stach, 21, of Logans Ferry. They searched their victim, but found no money, although he had a sum hidden in an inside pocket. The thugs drove away in Stach's machine. Pittsburgh police later found the car on Northumberland avenue.

Chief Daniel Zeyole and a squad of New Kensington police and State Patrolmen Burnsworth and Clark instituted an all-night search in Pittsburgh and nearby towns for the holdup men.

They are possibly the same three bandits who held up Gus Tsantais in his restaurant at 5121 Butler street at 5 a. m. today and escaped with $8.

ceeded only in reducing the French global tonnage demands to approximately 684,000 tons by elimination of 29,000 tons of special ships and 11,000 tons of vessels in exempt classifications which should not have been included in the French figures originally.

Faced with this impasse, efforts now are being turned toward solution of the Franco-Italian parity problem. If this is solved, it might possibly induce the French to reduce their claims.

There is no doubt in any quarter that the French demands were placed so high because the French realize it is not economically possible for the Italians to build up to parity with them. Should the Italians renounce their parity claim, the French probably would scale down their figures considerably.

STIMSON, MORROW CONFER

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow were closeted together at the Ritz Hotel for an hour this morning. Later they called upon Foreign Minister Briand.

Reijiro Wakatsuki, Japanese chief, discussed the progress of the Japanese-American cruiser negotiations with Premier MacDonald this morning and broached the question of a three-power pact if a five-power treaty becomes impossible. In all probabilities, however, a five-power pact will still result.

In any case, the United States, Great Britain and Japan may try the effect of a binding three-power pact, but even this still presents many difficulties, since the American and Japanese differences are still considerable.

Five-Power Pact Hopeless, French Officials Believe

PARIS, March 13.—(AP.)—French official circles in Paris feel that virtually all hope must be abandoned of a five-power naval reduction treaty, especially if such a treaty hinges upon further concessions from the French delegation.

It is felt here that some sort of agreement may be patched up to save the face of the London conference and not to have it go down in history as a complete failure.

Official circles here express the feeling that France has stated her position clearly and that she cannot recede now from the stand she has taken.

Health Council Will Elect New Officers

A permanent constitution for General Health Council of Allegheny County will be adopted at noon Friday when the council meets at Kaufmann's dining room. New officers will also be elected. The present officers are: S. H. Replogle, president; Sidney A. Teller, vice president, and Dr. John H. Conover, secretary and treasurer.

Shoots 3 in Family, Sought by Police

NEW YORK, March 13.—(INS.)—Police searched today for Arthur Loffrido, who last night shot and killed his wife, his mother-in-law and his brother-in-law, a youth of 17. His wife had gone to her mother's home after a quarrel with Loffrido.

Today

it looks as though nothing but a bad crop failure could prevent disaster about July 1.

The amount actually bought by the government, about 40,000,000 bushels thus far, can make no great difference. If government sold it for 10 cents a bushel to get rid of it, Uncle Sam's loss would be "small change."

The possible effect on farmers, on general price of wheat and on business, is the serious question.

THE attempt of the government, and the earnest desire of President Hoover to help the farmers, are in every way praiseworthy.

Government finds no difficulty helping bankers, other financial institutions and even individual stock speculators, through the Federal Reserve.

When money is needed the Federal Reserve Bank prints it, lends it to banks, on commercial paper, at a reasonable rate, and the banks make whatever they can, by relending.

That is high finance. Helping the financiers, the government understands, but helping farmers by buying their wheat, goats' hair, etc., when they can't sell to anybody else, is something new.

The grain elevators are full now. On July 1 when the winter wheat crop comes, what will be done with it?

GOVERNMENT might say "go ahead and sell it for whatever you can get, abroad, and I will pay what you lose."

But that would be dumping, and Europe probably would not allow it.

Britain would not let Canada's wheat farmers be ruined by United States dumping.

Only July first this country will have two hundred fifty million bushels of wheat "carry over" from 1928 to 1929.

That is fifty per cent more than a year's normal export.

GOVERMENT may have a plan that will take care of two hundred fifty million bushels "carry over," plus the winter wheat crop when July first comes, but the plan has not been published.

Those familiar with wheat and other grain markets, remember that Patten and others that were indicted for attempting to do secretly what the government is now doing openly. They wonder what the government solution of the problem will be and they worry about it.

We produce more wheat than we can use. We must sell it abroad sooner or later.

The whole world knows that we are buying and storing it artificially, and knows also, that barring miracles, it should be able to buy American wheat at its own price for the next two or three years.

WHAT will be the effect of that situation?

This is a good deal about wheat, but what is mere discussion today may be a serious part of the American problem, next July, and cause the problems of our little statesmen sent to England, and our earnest drys and wets, to seem unimportant.

THE question does not interest wheat growers, buyers, dealers and speculators only.

It interests every American, every man in and out of a job, every man in business.

It requires wise handling.

It puts upon President Hoover's shoulders as serious a responsibility as any President has ever borne, outside of war time.

KENNA GIVEN GAS CONTRACT

Two separate companies will provide county departments with motor oil and gasoline for the coming year, the Allegheny County commissioners decided yesterday.

The Peoples' Service Station, operated by Edward Kenna, was the successful bidder for the gasoline contract, while the Atlantic Refining Company, of Pittsburgh, was awarded the job of furnishing oil. Three grades of oil will be provided, costing the county 24.4, 26.9 and 30.4 cents per unit, respectively.

Ship Line Here Wins Verdict of $105,000

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.)—The Italian Star Line, a Delaware corporation with main offices in Pittsburgh, today had been awarded a verdict of $105,000 against the Emergency Fleet Corporation of the United States Shipping Board by a Federal Court jury.

The steamship line sued for $421,000 after the Emergency Fleet Corporation forced it into receivership in 1920. It charged the receivership was forced to obtain records of the line and personal papers of the president, E. Paul Yaselli, to be used to support an indictment against Yaselli based on a ship purchase. The indictment later was dismissed.

U. S. AID URGED IN DRIVE ON CANCER

Doctor Tells Senators of Tests With Treatment, Asks Federal Research

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(AP.)—Walter B. Coffey, San Francisco surgeon, today told a Senate committee and leaders of the medical profession from throughout the country that he and his associate, Dr. John D. Humber, had caused a breakdown of cancerous tissues in 1,300 patients by administering an extract they had discovered.

Coffey urged that the government establish a national scientific research commission to combat the scourge.

TELLS OF EXPERIMENTS

Going into his own and his associate's work on cancer, which has attracted hundreds of patients to their quarters in a San Francisco hospital, Coffey said they had discovered a material, created by nature, that works as an "active principle" in regulating the growth of cells that make up the human body.

Coffey explained the theory that cancer is caused by unnatural, abnormally rapid multiplication of the millions of cells, or body tissue units, that make up the human frame.

SAYS REMEDY KILLS PAIN

"We believe that Nature has provided certain controls," he said, "among which is a stabilizer of the multiplication of cells."

Using a method they devised, the witness said, he and Dr. Humber extracted this "stabilizer" from the glands and made it into a liquid they injected in cancer sufferers' bodies.

"After the first injection," said Dr. Coffey, "the suffering patient usually has relief. After the second and third, pain disappears."

"We are still experimenting," Dr. Coffey told the committee, "and we hope to continue until we prove to the scientific world that our theory is correct."

Asked how long he had been at work on the disease, the doctor responded, "It is the ambition of every doctor, as soon as he gets his degree, to find a cure for cancer."

Coffey added that he had been searching for a cure "all his life," and in that, he added, he spoke "for the profession."

The committee hearing grew out of a resolution by Senator Harris (Dem.), Georgia, looking toward participation by the federal government in a fight on the disease.

Weather Conditions.

The low pressure areas moved very rapidly northeastward during yesterday and last night, and this morning there is a low in the far Northeast, with a trough formation extending southwestward over the Ohio Valley states to a center in the far Southwest. The Southeast high increased somewhat in pressure, and the Northwest high advanced to the upper Mississippi valley.

There is considerable cloudiness this morning, but with little precipitation, and the precipitation for the last 24 hours was light and scattered. The Northwest high is causing a decided drop in temperature over the northern plains and the upper Mississippi valley, while the Southeast high is responsible for mild temperatures over this section. Temperatures are below zero in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and over the adjacent border states they range from 10 to 20 degrees.

River Conditions.

The rivers are now about stationary or falling slowly. Stage at Franklin is 7.5 feet; Lock No. 7, 16.2; Pittsburgh, 17.5; Dam No. 4, 16.0; Dam No. 6, 7.2; Dam No. 9, 14.5, and Dam No. 12, 15.3. The Ohio will begin falling at Pittsburgh this afternoon.

December-May Romance Ends, Man Vanishes

A December and May romance was blamed by detectives today for the disappearance of Maurice Wertheimer, 67, of 2832 Breckinridge street, for years a doorman at Montefiore Hospital.

Wertheimer has been missing from his home since last Saturday.

Detectives investigating the case are seeking a former nurse at the hospital for questioning in connection with Wertheimer's disappearance.

The missing man was reported last seen in company with a group of young people including the nurse and her fiance.

The detectives say their investigations after Wertheimer's disappearance disclosed that he had been keeping company with the nurse for some months.

They traced store records showing that he had bought her a $650 fur coat and other expensive clothing. She posed as his granddaughter, according to the detectives.

Gets Broken Nose Trying Out Hypnotism

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 13.—A skeptic yesterday on hypnotism, Edward McClelland, 14, junior high school student at Salem, today believes in it because he has a broken nose.

Companions said they could put him to sleep, and doubting, he let them try. When he closed his eyes they thought he was shamming. They released their hold upon him whereupon he fell to the sidewalk and broke his nose.

Bees Without Sting Come From Russia

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 13.—(AP.)—Russian bees are good-natured; they don't sting. Proof has come from tests lasting three years at the State Agricultural Experiment Station. The Italian variety is real warlike.

5 RED RIOTERS FREED ON BAIL

NEW YORK, March 13—(AP.)—After being held in jail for six days, William Z. Foster, Workers' Communist candidate for president in 1928, and four other Communist leaders, who were arrested in connection with last Thursday's Red Riot, have been released on bail.

Foster and the four other Communists, Robert Minor, editor; Israel Amter, Harry Raymond and Joseph Lester, left the West Side prison in a friend's limousine.

Foster said he was too tired to talk to reporters and Minor contented himself with the remark, "it was a rotten jail."

Their bail was furnished by bonding companies. Each had been held in $10,000 on felonious assault charges growing out of injuries received by a policeman in the riot, and in $2,500 each on a charge of inciting to riot.

Hubby Demanded Steaks, Wife Wins Divorce

Frederick L. Scherer, insurance agent, of Middle street, North Side, wanted nothing but sirloin steak and fried potatoes for his meals and when this menu was lacking he beat his wife, Mrs. Mary Alice Scherer, 24, of 1718 Crosby avenue, according to her testimony in Common Pleas Court. Judge James B. Drew granted her a divorce.

They were married November 14, 1928, when Mrs. Scherer was a stenographer for the Allegheny County Milk Exchange, and parted in less than nine months. Mrs. Scherer testified the first beating, soon after the marriage, was inflicted upon her because Sherer found no hot water when he came home. On several occasions he beat her until she was black and blue, she said.

BYRD PREPARES FOR HOME TRIP

DUNEDIN, N. Z., March 13.—(AP.)—While members of his expedition were at play in various parts of New Zealand, on tours or fishing and hunting trips, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd today settled down to transact the large amount of business which has accumulated while he attended the numerous receptions given in his honor.

Admiral Byrd, who returned from the Antarctic Monday after more than a year at the bottom of the world, during which he flew over the South Pole, was getting his expedition ready to sail home next week. The bark City of New York and the steamer Eleanor Bolling must be refitted for the trip to New York, which is expected to require about nine weeks.

7 HURT IN GAS FIRE IMPROVED

Six firemen and a street cleaner, injured when a gas explosion fired a vacant two-story brick building at 1739 Liberty avenue, late yesterday, were recovering today. Damage was estimated at $500 by Acting Battalion Chief Ralph Longmore.

The injured were John Gorinze, 44, city street cleaner, of 1411 Mulberry way, burned when he rushed into the building after the blast; Capt. D. J. Carroll and Firemen Bernard Muchians and Edward Jones, of Engine Company No. 2, and Firemen D. M. McCafferty, Frank Grates and George Geis, of Engine Company No. 7.

RUSS IN CHINA FEAR RED PERIL

SHANGHAI, March 13.—(AP.)—The White Russian newspaper, Vremia, says that former Czarist army officers who are refugees in the Shanghai foreign quarter stand in the dread shadow of the Soviet Russian Cheka.

The newspaper asserts that agents of Moscow's secret police have arrived here to seek officers of the old regime who opposed "Reds" during the revolution in Russia. This "thrust of Moscow at Shanghai," says the Vremia, is but a part of the Soviet world wide plan to round up outstanding opponents of the "Red menace."

The agents of Moscow, the article continues, are planning to kidnap White Russians here and take them to Moscow for trial. Several of these formerly prominent officers of the Czar's armies, now residents of Shanghai, are stated to be "undoubtedly objects of Moscow's kidnapers."

The Vremia says that local White Russians are alarmed over the report. It adds that the situation resembles the Soviet's recent action in Paris in which the Anti-Soviet general, Koutiepoff, was spirited to Russia.

ILLINOIS LABOR DEMAND GAINS

CHICAGO, March 13.—(INS.)—An indication of the return of normal business conditions was seen today in an Illinois Chamber of Commerce survey which shows unemployment in the state has been reduced between 25 and 40 per cent since last month.

VICTIMS PICK IRENE, DAGUE AS BANDITS

Blonde, Sweetheart Ignore Each Other as Jury Hears Of Theft Preceding Killing

for purposes of identification. He will be tried after Irene.

Angert described the holdup of his store. A man and a woman whom he later identified as Dague and Irene entered his store, he testified, held him up with revolvers, forced him into a rear room, bound and gagged him. A customer who came in while the robbery was in progress, Fred Altenberger, was also bound and gagged, Angert said.

Defense attorneys were unsuccessful in their attempts to shake Angert's story and he left the stand after identifying articles taken from him by the robbers, which were offered in evidence.

Altenberger's name was called, but a physician's certificate was presented with the explanation that he was ill.

CUSTOMER TESTIFIES

Floyd Dickey testified he was in the store with Angert and that when he was going out, a man came in and bought a can of milk. He identified Dague as the man.

Mrs. Nina Berkholder identified Irene as the woman who was in the store when she entered and said in a rough voice, "The manager will soon be out." She failed to identify Dague but testified the man she saw had a reddish mustache.

Mrs. Angert identified a pocketbook which her husband had testified was taken by the blonde.

WOMAN GIVES STORY

"Two men and a woman came out of Butler's store in a great hurry," testified Mrs. Emma Green. "The woman had her hands in her coat sleeves. They all got into the car. I stood and watched them. The car went toward the Butler-New Castle road. I know the woman. She's sitting right there" (indicating Irene). "I also see the tall man, sitting over there," (pointing to Dague).

Mrs. Green's story was corroborated by Harry Booher.

Police Sergt. Lee Lovett, of Butler, testified to receiving a call from Angert for help and sent two officers to his store. Later he reported to state police, he testified, that two men and a woman, in an automobile, were headed toward New Castle.

Dave Parker, Butler auto salesman, was the first witness called this afternoon. He identified Irene as having occupied an automobile with two men in Butler the day of the holdup.

TALK WITH PAUL

Lieut. Joe Morgan, of the Butler police, told of the alarm having spread to the state police and the subsequent manhunt in Butler. Sergt. Martin J. Crowley, first sergeant of Troop D, State Police, told of having received the first report on the holdup and the broadcast over the police telephone-typewriter system and the state police radio.

Sergt. Crowley said he talked with Corp. Paul and told him of the holdup.

"All right, Sarge. I'll hop out on it and see if they're headed this way," Crowley said Corp. Paul told him after receiving the report.

H. D. Baney, garage proprietor, of Butler, testified that two men, a woman and a little boy had taken their car there for storage the night before the robbery and slaying of Paul. He identified Irene, but said he doubted if he would know either of the men.

William Stewart, night clerk at the Arlington Hotel in Butler, the first witness called this morning, testified that on the night before the killing of Paul and robbery of the store, which preceded the slaying, a woman, two men and a small boy registered at the hotel.

REMEMBERS EYES

One man he described as being taller than the other. The taller man, he said, wore a light colored mustache.

Stewart was unable to identify Dague as one of the two men.

Asked if he saw in the courtroom the woman who accompanied the men, the witness pointed out the defendant blonde.

"Why are you so positive?" the witness was asked.

"It's her eyes," he replied. "I'll never forget those eyes of hers."

Asked for an estimate of the time he will require for presentation of the State's case against Irene, Special Prosecutor Margiotti replied:

"I can't say exactly, but I don't hesitate to tell you that we'll not be through this week."

AGONY DESCRIBED

The prosecution planned to trace Irene and her companion with testimony from the time before the Butler holdup until the time of her capture in Arizona. William Kiessling, St. Louis police officer, said to have narrowly escaped death or serious injury in a gun battle with the pair as they sped through that city, arrived here last night to testify for the Commonwealth. Kiessling brought with him the uniform he was wearing the night when bullets pierced his clothing in several places. The uniform will be offered as evidence.

Three physicians, called to the hospital to treat Corporal Brady Paul, gave description of the agony he suffered before he died and his restlessness and desire to talk with anyone.

Dr. Loyal Wilson, New Castle physician, said Paul was suffering so much that they had to give him ether, and that frequently he cried out in pain.

He was shot in the abdomen, leg and arm, they testified.

PHOTOGRAPH SHOWN

In the testimony of the three physicians called by the Commonwealth yesterday, the State introduced a large cabinet photograph of Corp. Paul as Exhibit No. 1. The photograph was identified by Dr. Loyal Wilson, surgeon at the Jamison Memorial Hospital, where Paul died before an operation could be performed.

The physician also identified two bullets. One bullet, Dr. Wilson testified, he extracted from the victim's left arm. The other, he said, was given to him by Harry Kelly, undertaker, in whose parlors the autopsy was performed. It was not brought out at this stage how Kelly came into possession of the bullet, but it is understood it is the bullet which went through Paul's body and which was found underneath his leather coat when he was undressed.

DRY LAW VOID, LAWYERS SAY

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.)—A new question of the constitutionality of the Eighteenth Amendment, not heretofore passed on by the United States Supreme Court, was raised today by a committee of the New York County Lawyers' Association, which recommended its presentation to the court.

Ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment by state legislatures and not by the people, the committee report said, violated the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution and therefore was illegal.

Justice Cohalan, head of the committee, said that the question of the constitutionality of the Eighteenth amendment was to be tested before the Supreme Court in a few weeks.

He said a lawyer would appear in a prohibition case which involves the legality of the amendment as a friend of the court to advance the question the committee raised.

Former Vice Consul Gets Automotive Job

WASHINGTON.—(AP.)—Capitalizing on his field experience as vice consul for six years, A. W. Childs, Conneaut, O., will direct the automotive division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

In the consular service the newly appointed chief conducted foreign trade promotion work at various posts in South America and Europe.

The automotive division is one of the specialized commodity divisions of the federal bureau, organized to assist foreign sales of automotive products.

ROW FEATURES DRY HEARING IN HOUSE

drinking in colleges last Sunday in Minneapolis.

"We agreed that there were small groups of men who drank and some of them to excess, but we were unanimous that conditions were getting better each year and that the great mass of students were sensible and self-disciplined," said the white-haired coach.

"NOT A REAL PROBLEM"

"Undoubtedly there is a variation in our respective universities, but several directors said drinking was not a real problem. I can state with absolute confidence that it is not a problem at the University of Chicago, that only a small percentage of the students drink at all. There always will be some men who are jackasses enough to take chances of ruining their health and their future success in life by drinking.

"With the breaking down of home life and with all the complexities of new opportunities for being misled, I tremble to think what this revolt of youth might have led to were prohibition laws not in operation."

Representative La Guardia, (Rep.), of New York, an anti-prohibitionist, told Stagg:

"Yours is the most sincere, the most telling statement I have ever heard made on your side of the question."

Sharp clashes between committee members marked the hearing.

Sherwood, preceding Stagg on the stand, charged that "slander and malicious libel" have become a part of the "stock in trade" of the anti-prohibitionists. He said:

"It has been alleged here by Grayson M. P. Murphy of New York, in particular that all the business men of his acquaintance violate the Eighteenth Amendment and the inference was that business men generally throughout the country disobeyed the law.

"Of course this is far from the truth. But what is the effect of such statements on growing boys and girls or upon that section of the laboring population of the country which does not have the opportunity to know the truth and may be led to believe the worst?"

QUOTES BUSINESS MEN

Letters from many business men were read, all taking issue with Murphy's statement. They came from: Robert Garrett, banker, Baltimore; Clarence H. Kelsy, chairman, Title Guarantee and Trust Company, New York; T. J. Gillespie, president, Lockhart Iron and Steel Company, Pittsburgh; Capt. Robert Dollar, steamship operator, San Francisco; J. H. Marshall, president, Federal Wholesale Druggist Association, Minneapolis; Clarence H. Howard, chairman, General Steel Castings Corporation, Chicago; J. C. Penney, chain store magnate; Ralph H. Burnside, lumberman, Portland, Ore.; George W. Coleman, president of the Babson organization, Boston; S. C. Gilmore, Hires-Turner Glass Company, Philadelphia; E. L. Smith, Chicago; C. M. Rodefer, Bellaire, O., and others.

Sherwood also brought statements supporting the prohibition laws from Vic Donahey, former governor of Ohio; Bishop Francis J. McConnell, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, and Prof. Henry W. Farnam, of Yale University, an economist.

Former Gov. Donahey's telegram said:

"Prohibition in my opinion has been successful and in Ohio is being as well enforced as any other criminal statute."

Bishop McConnell, formerly of Pittsburgh, said:

"In general, the results of prohibition have been overwhelmingly beneficial to the American people and the fact that its observance and enforcement is not 100 per cent perfect is poor argument for its repeal."

Representative Celler (Dem.), of New York, challenged the statement of McSparran that the presidential election was a referendum. He pointed out that Wisconsin and Montana voted for President Hoover and voted wet in state-wide votes the same day.

Right Living, Early Death Advocated

KEENE, N. H.—(INS.)—"Live right, work hard and die early," was the advice of Dr. George F. Balcomb, a Dartmouth College alumnus, given on is eighty-fourth birthday. People, he said, were too anxious to live long. He said he hoped he would not live to the age of his maternal grandfather who died at the age of 97. For 33 years Dr. Balcomb practiced medicine in Worcester, Mass.

Roy D'Arcy to Fight Wife's Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—(INS.)—Roy d'Arcy, actor, is planning to file a cross-c plaint to his wife's divorce suit, his attorneys announced here today. Divorced once, the d'Arcys remarried, and on February 26 Mrs. d'Arcy again filed suit for divorce, charging her husband with having a superiority complex. It is understood d'Arcy decided to contest the suit when he and his wife failed to reach an agreement on a property settlement.

Miss Booth to Leave Army to Write Book

LONDON, March 13.—(AP.)—Commissioner Catherine Booth, of the Salvation Army, daughter of the late General Bramwell Booth, will leave the army, but not voluntarily, to write the biography of her father, Mrs. Bramwell Booth, the general's widow, declared today.

Mrs. Booth said that her daughter wished to continue her work and write the book also, but that General Higgins, new commander of the Salvation Army, had decided that she could not do both.

Posse Seeks Wild Dog Preying On Deer

RIDGWAY, Pa., March 13.—Three deer have been killed in the vicinity of Ridgway within the past few weeks. A large police dog which has been running wild in the woods is blamed for the destruction of the animals. Game Warden E. W. Turley, with a number of volunteer sportsmen, have been hunting for the dog for several days, but have failed to find it.

Accidental Shot Kills Rector, 28

MARION, S. C., March 13.—(AP.)—The Rev. Harrell J. Lewis, 28, rector of the Episcopal Church here, shot himself through the head yesterday at the church rectory. He died before medical aid could be summoned. His friends expressed the belief the shooting was accidental and local authorities announced that an inquest would not be necessary.

Police Seek Man Who Slashed Woman

Police today began a search for a Negro who slashed Mrs. Anna Lapinski, 37, rear of 240 Brereton avenue, and then robbed her of her purse, which contained $2, last night.

Mrs. Lapinski, a widow, was walking near her home when the man, brandishing a razor, accosted her. She screamed and was slashed on the neck by the robber, who snatched her purse and fled. At West Penn Hospital one stitch was required to close the wound. She was able to go to her home.

Specter of Life Sentence Ends Smiles of Irene

By LEE CURRAN,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 13.—"Who can smile when they're going to the pen for the rest of their life, and when their hearts are breaking."

What she thinks will be the outcome of her trial on a charge of killing Corp. Brady Paul, and why she sits so glumly as the state brings out the story of the officer's death, was answered in this statement by Irene Schroeder.

It came yesterday when she visited the scene of the fatal shooting with Judge R. L. Hildebrand and members of the jury. She spoke when newspaper men crowded around her.

"Smile pretty, Irene," a cameraman coaxed.

And she made the reply, bitterly. Perhaps she has lost a little of her "hardness" because her father and sisters are attending her trial.

Several times she has attempted a weak little smile for her family in response to nods of encouragement. She hasn't talked with them yet, but her father says they want to visit her.

Irene was cheered by a message sent her by Glenn Dague, her sweetheart, who is to be tried later. He promised "never to tell, because that would be disloyal to you and unmanly of me."

"Tell the truth," she urged in response. "Tell the truth, regardless of what it means to me."

FIVE KILLED IN 3 SHOOTINGS

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.)—Five persons were killed and another wounded in three shooting affrays in the Italian district of Brooklyn last night. The dead were: Mrs. Anna Lofredo, 28; Mrs. Marie De Crescenzo, 46; Salvatore Crescenzo, 18; Vincenzoe Tradici, 39, and an unidentified man.

Police said Mrs. Lofredo, her mother, Mrs. De Crescenzo, and brother, Salvatore, were shot by Arthur Lofredo, Mrs. Lofredo's husband, following a quarrel.

The bodies of Tradici and the unidentified man were found in an apartment two blocks distant. Police said they believed they were shot in a quarrel with five men over division of money received for smuggling aliens into the United States.

A sixth person, Matali Cardiello, 39, was found in the same neighborhood with a bullet wound in his back. He said he was shot by two bandits.

Carmine De Crescenzo, father of Mrs. Lofredo, said the couple began to quarrel and Lofredo fired at his wife but Mrs. De Crescenzo jumped in the way of the bullet. He fired again and this time Salvatore tried to save his sister, and was killed. The third shot killed the man's wife. Lofredo then ran from the house.

Police, investigating the other shooting, said they believed Tradici and the unidentified man, with five other men, met last night to divide the spoils of a smuggling ring. They were said to have disagreed and a gun fight followed.

Police refused to disclose the source of their information about the smuggling ring.

Br-rr-r! winter is here!

What to do about colds

MEDICAL men have come to an interesting conclusion about colds. They say that lubrication of the nasal passages prevents deadly germs from getting a foothold. Interesting to Mr. Average Man, because this is something he can do for himself with the doctor's full sanction.

Every night before retiring introduce a little "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly into the nostrils. It's absolutely safe. It coats the delicate nasal membranes and protects them.

Equally good for the throat, too. Just take half a teaspoonful, if your throat is husky or irritated. Feel the relief. And don't worry about swallowing it. That's good for you because it has a slightly laxative effect. Just what you need if you feel a cold coming on.

Maybe you can go through the whole winter without getting colds if you'll only take this simple, safe precaution. Get a jar or tube of "Vaseline" Jelly now. It costs only a few cents at the nearest drug store.

CHILD WARNS AGAINST PACT

because we wanted to keep out of brawls. We did not care to take responsibility for their settlement.

We entered the world war as a free agent. We can always do that again. Do not forget it.

These agreements to "consult" or agreements to enter security-pact-military-alliances are not for us.

Are we asleep here in America as our representatives walk along near the edge of a diplomatic chasm, lured by talk of world pacifism and teased forward by "fraternity"?

Does anyone fail to see that it is just as bad to be wheedled into the ladies entrance of some pony-league of Europe—and sometimes worse—as it is to back down on our firm national decision and then go into the big United States of Europe league amid the cheers of all American super-sentimentalists and the chuckles of all Europe's patient and persistent propagandists.

America will continue to support measures for peace, mind her own business and deal openly and courageously with problems AS THEY ARISE.

Getting handcuffed to any United States of Europe so that we lose our freedom of action in 1931 or 1950 or 2000 A. D. is such a prodigious folly that we reject it.

Neighborliness today.

Freedom to use our own conscience tomorrow.

If that policy is endangered by our presence at a naval conference to reduce armament, WE SHOULD COME HOME AT ONCE.

The yardstick for American public opinion on this bject is one which limits our obligations to matters which can be negotiated today. Beyond that limit any proposal to check our conscience, our free-agency, or our useful isolation in the cloak-room of the theater of European difficulties is to be vetoed by Americans with all their good sense and vigor.

DIOCESAN HEAD DIES, BORN HERE

BOSTON, March 13 — (AP) — Bishop Charles Lewis Slattery of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, died at his home here last night. He was 62 years old. He succeeded Bishop William Lawrence as head of the Massachusetts Diocese.

Bishop Slattery was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., December 9, 1867, the son of the Rev. George and Emma McLellan Hall Slattery.

Death followed an acute heart attack after a four-day illness.

Bishop Slattery became bishop coadjutor of Massachusetts in 1922, to aid Bishop Lawrence. When the latter retired, in May, 1927, Bishop Slattery succeeded him.

His widow, who was Sarah Lawrence, daughter of Bishop Lawrence, survives.

Dr. Mayer, a licensed pilot, received the urgent call, hopped off in a plane and made the trip in 15 minutes to Somerset, 32 miles distant.

IRENE BORDONI BALKS DIVORCE

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.)—Irene Bordoni, actress, obtained an injunction in Supreme Court restraining her former husband, Ray Goetz, theatrical producer, from prosecuting a divorce suit which he has pending in the courts here.

Justice Alfred H. Townley, in granting the injunction ruled that the annulment of her marriage with Goetz, which Miss Bordoni obtained in Chicago last November, "is entitled to full faith and credit and established the status of the parties."

Miss Bordoni obtained the annulment on the grounds that Goetz married her six months after he had been divorced from his former wife, Ethel John Goetz, in violation of a court order that prohibited him from marrying for two years.

Goetz ignored the annulment decree in his present action. The suit was filed a year ago.

CHILD ON D. A. R. RADIO PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(Universal)—Richard Washburn Child, diplomat and author, will be the speaker on the third of the patriotic broadcasts sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mr. Child will speak tonight over a coast-to-coast network of the National Broadcasting Company, on "America's Need of Staunch Nationalism."

Mr. Child has had a distinguished public career. In 1918 and 1919 he served on the Treasury Department's War Finance Board, and in 1921 was appointed U. S. Ambassador to Italy by President Harding, serving until February, 1924.

During his term as ambassador he represented the United States at the International conferences at Genoa and Lausanne in 1922. Since retiring from the diplomatic services he has written for magazines and newspapers. He is the author of several books and is regarded as an authority on international affairs.

The D. A. R. radio program, which has already included Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly and former Sen. George Wharton Pepper, of Pennsylvania, will continue with an address by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick on Thursday evening, March 21, and one by Sen. Davis I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, on the evening of March 28. Additional speakers on the program will be announced later.

She Is Making Her Mother Happy

"A big change came over Mary Elise from the time I started giving her ACIDINE regularly for her sour stomach," says Mrs. Semmer, of 7417 Union Ave., Chicago. "She likes to take ACIDINE because it tastes just like peppermint. Therefore I can give it to her regularly enough to help her. Since she's so much brighter and happier now, I want every mother, who has the same trouble as I had, to know how she can get it off her mind."

Too much acid makes most grown folks suffer from biliousness and indigestion. You can imagine, then, why it keeps a child's delicate little stomach so upset she has no appetite and gets puny, pale and drowsy. More than 2 million people are using Acidine regularly because it actually sweetens a sour stomach so quickly, tastes so good and costs so little. Get Acidine at any drug store.

LET CONTRACT FOR PARK WALK

Two hundred tons of irregular stone flag will be used to pave the walks around the new South Park swimming pool, according to the contract let yesterday by the County Commissioners.

The job, awarded to J. B. Ramella, at a cost of 17 cents per square foot, totals $5,940 for the entire 200 tons. When completed the walk will add a touch of "distinction" to the pool, it was stated. The material will be shipped as soon as possible from a quarry at Bruceton, Pa., and the work of laying it will commence shortly.

ASTROLOGY

What the stars foretell for 1930

Prof. A. F. Seward World's Foremost Astrologer

I want to send you the most remarkable Astrological Reading that you have ever read. Dealing with business and social affairs, such as signing papers and contracts, seeking employment, speculations, stocks and bonds, travel, love, courtship, best days for marriage, health, accidents, lucky days, etc.

The stars have been in bad aspect and not favoring the destiny of those born in June, July, September, October and December, 1930 should be a turning point for those born in January, March, April and November.

What a great comfort it would be to have a lengthy, Astrological Reading clear at hand, to obtain advice on so many of the affairs of life—one that you could consult today and prepare for what is coming tomorrow.

My fee for a Reading, covering 11 pages, is $1.00. Order now. It may change the whole course of your life. Send one dollar with your name, address and birth date, by Registered Mail, check or money order.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

JOHN M'CORMACK, Elinor Smith, Johnny Marvin, Countess Olga Albani, Sophie Tucker, Texas Guinan, Richard Washburn Child and Dave Barry, famous "long count" referee of the second Dempsey-Tunney fight, will stir up the wavelengths tonight in radio's best bill for many a moon.

McCormack, Marvin and Julius Tannen will be surrounded by a whole lunar system when WCAE broadcasts the Victor Hour at 10. The beloved Irish tenor will sing Handel's "Largo" and "Ireland, Mother Ireland."

Elinor Smith, brave little girl who established a world altitude record for women last Monday, will tell the radio audience what a thrill she received when she regained consciousness four miles in the air after her plane had dropped a mile out of control. The Champion Sparkers will have her on KDKA at 8:30.

Tucker, Guinan and Barry will usher in a new Columbia network feature at 10 o'clock. This program may be heard distinctly over WABC or WLBW.

"America's Need for Staunch Nationalism" will be discussed by Richard Washburn Child, former U. S. ambassador to Italy, over WRC, WEAF and WSAI at 7:30. The talk is sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

"Singin' Feet," a hot tap dancer, will make his debut on the inaugural broadcast of the Douglas Shoemakers, WJAS, at 8:30.

Jerry Lakewood, Steuben street—The sound of a light wind is produced on the radio by running the fingernails along a silk ribbon tightly stretched on a contraption resembling a small ironing board.

* * *

Francis Owen did the Penco broadcast so realistically last night what we pictured ourselves on a South American plantation. But it all took place in the Law and Finance Building with snow flitting against studio windows.

Owen's travel experience serves him well. How he can gargle Spanish words!

NEXT WEEK: EAST LYNNE

Jim Hughes traveled, too—but on the stage. Nevertheless he had a good one to tell Owen after the broadcast.

It seems that a Spanish orchestra was playing at a swell cafe in Hollywood, where sandwiches are named after presidents, derby winners, lucky numbers and such. The conductor was arranging his program.

"La Paloma," he shouted, and a new waiter dashing by halted to ask, "On toast or rye?"

Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

Bringing the hard-fought battle to an abrupt end in the fourteenth round, Fitzsimmons startled the entire sporting world when he shot over a terrific body-blow under the heart, that completely paralyzed Corbett, and established Fitzsimmons as the new American heavyweight champion.

The contest has been re-created from newspaper and magazine accounts, written by eye-witnesses of the fight which took place in 1897 in Carson City, Nev.

The complete setting of the contest, as well as the blow-by-blow announcement, will be broadcast.

Philadelphia Pastor's Widow Dies in Syria

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.)—The Near East College Association has announced receipt of news of the death of Mrs. Mary Bliss Dale, 74, widow of the Rev. Gerald F. Dale, of Philadelphia, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry G. Dorman, in Beirut, Syria.

Mrs. Dale was born in Abeih, Syria, the daughter of the late Daniel Bliss, founder and first president of the American University of Beirut, and Abby Wood Bliss.

U. S. HANDS OFF IN HAITI NOTE

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(AP.)—Joseph P. Cotton, acting secretary of state, said today there were no indication that the United States would supervise the forthcoming presidential election in Haiti.

Cotton said the Forbes commission would work out a temporary arrangement by which the government would operate until the end of President Borno's term in May, when the elections will be held.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, March 13.—(AP.)—The Hoover Investigating Commission has decided to remain in Haiti until it is further informed on the political situation instead of leaving in three or four days, as was indicated yesterday.

Return of the commission here yesterday brought calm to the capital after considerable unrest had been caused by President Eorno's reported opposition to the commission's plan for a temporary president in Haiti.

The commission reopened its hearings today, receiving testimony from American officials employed under the American-Haitian convention. It will take no action toward Borno until other matters are cleared up.

BOGUS MONEY SUSPECTS HELD

Charged with possessing and passing counterfeit Federal Reserve bank notes, James V. Vozzola, 36, and Michael A. Ruscilli, 45, both of Ellwood City, were held for the federal grand jury after a hearing before the United States Commissioner today. In default of bond they were committed to jail.

Ruscilli, former manager of the foreign department of the First National Bank of Ellwood City, was already under $10,000 bond on a charge of embezzling $10,506 of the bank's funds—a charge on which he is awaiting trial.

Ruscilli and Vozzola were arrested by state highway patrolmen at Delmont last Sunday after complaints had been received that counterfeit $10 bills had been passed at Parnassus, Murraysville and Apollo. Mrs. Dora Kimsky, of McDonald, was arrested with them, but later released.

The case against the two men was prepared by W. A. Landvoigt, United States secret service operative in charge of the Pittsburgh district, who had broadcast warning that counterfeit bank notes were being circulated.

PASTORS HELD IN FUND DRIVE

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg today held over two Negro pastors accused of soliciting funds for the Coleman Home for Colored Boys, 1721 Bedford avenue, without authority of officials of the home.

The ministers held were the Rev. Adolphus D. Brown, 40, Negro, of 2705 Barnett street, head of the Missionary Extension Society of the African Methodist Episcopal Conference of the Pittsburgh district, and the Rev. John W. Maddock, pastor of the Union Hope Church, West End.

When testimony that the ministers had been arrested on similar accusations before was introduced, Magistrate Rothenberg denounced them as cheats "hiding behind the cloth."

J. C. Brown, a son of Brown, was arrested on a suspicious person charge when he attempted to bolt from the courtroom during the hearing.

These New Salts Are Wonderful

That's Just What She Said—Just What He Said

AND A MILLION FAT FOLKS CAN'T BE WRONG

When you take vitalizing Kruschen Salts for a few days that old indolent armchair feeling deserts you—it doesn't matter how fat you are—the urge for activity has got you—and you're stepping lively.

And best of all you like this activity—you walk a couple of miles and enjoy it—you thought you'd never dance again but you find you're getting as spry as ever—the old tingling active feeling reaches even your feet.

Kruschen is a combination of the six salts Nature has already put into your body to keep you alive—if it were not for these vital salts you could not live.

Why not try one 85-cent bottle of these rejuvenating salts—a bottle lasts 4 weeks and one bottle is enough to prove to you that Kruschen will make you feel younger—spryer—more energetic—you'll enjoy life—every minute of it.

As one stout woman wrote: "Kruschen Salts are worth their weight in gold to me."

A half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning is all you need to keep healthy — keep your stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys in splendid condition—free your system from harmful toxins and acids.

All May's and Liggett's Drug Stores sell lots of Kruschen Salts—so do good druggists everywhere.

French Ship Strike Delays Americans

HAVRE, France, March 13.—(AP.)—The Transatlantic Company announced today no attempt would be made to get the steamship Paris off for New York tonight because the strike of seamen was continuing.

The New York passengers have disembarked and will return to Paris about 7 o'clock.

The Clock Says 12:05 P. M.
Five Minutes Later Kre-Mel is Ready

Make this healthful, delicious dessert . . .

Try this recipe—watch the clock—and you will agree that no dessert has ever been so easily prepared—

Mix thoroughly a package of Kre-Mel with ½ cup milk. Add 1½ cups milk and place over fire, stirring constantly until it thickens and reaches boiling point. This will take several minutes.

If cooked in a double boiler, mix as above and stir constantly until thick (2 to 3 minutes) after which continue cooking and stir occasionally for about 5 minutes.

Kre-Mel is pure, rich, delicious—and wholesome as well—yet it costs but 5c a package at your grocer.

FRANCE SWEPT BY NEW FLOODS

BORDEAUX, France, March 13 —(AP.)—Relief for sufferers of the recent flood in the valleys of the Tarn and Garonne had scarcely been organized when another inundation had threatened the valleys from smaller rivers descending from the foothills of the Pyrenees.

The river Gers overflowed its banks and flooded the town of Auch. Rapidly melting snow and heavy rains in the mountains swelled the river Pau so that some of the streets of the city of that name were under water and several smaller towns along the stream were threatened.

A dispatch from Biarritz reported some of the streets of that seaside resort were under water.

PAMPLONA, Spain, March 13 —(AP.)—Hundreds of suburban residents in the province of Navarre have been made homeless and much damage has been done by torrential rains and rapidly melting mountain snows which have caused rivers and streams to leave their banks.

Much livestock has perished and rail service has been about paralyzed.

LANPHIER HITS AIR TIMIDITY

Irregular schedules and timidity of the public, influenced by adverse publicity of accidents, was given by Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier, former Army air service commander, as the drawbacks to development to air travel in the United States, speaking at a meeting of Pittsburgh aeronauts in the William Penn Hotel yesterday.

Speaking on "The Future of Air Transportation," he said that Americans ask too much of an industry that is scarcely a year old, and attributed success of European ventures to the fact that they were subsidized by their respective governments, operating for years before passenger service became profitable.

Other speakers were Maj. Harold F. Martin and Norman Allderdice, vice presidents of the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation; H. V. Thaden, vice president of the Pittsburgh Metal Airplane Company; Prof. A. H. Blaisdell, of the Carnegie Institute of Technology; Frank W. Caldwell, of the Standard Steel Propeller Company; Capt. Stephen J. Zand, aeronautic engineer of the Taylor Instrument companies, and H. C. Ritchie, of the General Electric Company.

Dr. Compton Heads Massachusetts Tech

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 13. —(INS.)— Appointment of Dr. Karl Taylor Compton, of the Physics Department at Princeton University, as president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology was announced today.

Technology's new president, although only 42 years old, has won wide attention as a physicist. He is the author of many works on research and is one of the leading scientists of the country. He is a native of Wooster, O., the son of Elias Compton, Presbyterian clergyman and acting president and professor of philosophy at Wooster College.

Dr. Compton will take office next July when Dr. Stratton will become chairman of the executive committee and of the corporation.

Plan Testing Cattle For Tuberculosis

MERCER, Pa., March 13.—All cattle in Mercer County will be given a tuberculosis test this year. It is estimated that there are 40,000 cattle in the county. Work will be started as soon as unimproved roads are in better shape.

Driver Slightly Hurt As Auto Hits Pole

Howard Brooks, 39, of 5233 Dresden way, was injured about the head when his automobile crashed into a pole at Shadeland and Davis avenues early today. He was treated at St. John's Hospital.

She died Tuesday. Mrs. Anderson was born in Brownsville, O., and came to Pittsburgh 55 years ago. She was a member of the Allegheny Reformed Church, and a member of the board of managers of the Reformed Presbyterian Home for the Aged. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Wyman S. Robb, and two sisters.

REVOLT THREAT IN BESSARABIA

BUCAREST, Rumania, March 13. — (AP.) — Inspector General Petala, of the Rumanian army, returned from a trip through Bessarabia and told the cabinet that martial law should be re-established throughout the province in order to avert anarchy. It was decided to submit the proposal to the regency, some members of the government believing that strict application of existing laws would meet the situation.

No recent reports from Rumania have revealed the basis of the above dispatch. Bessarabia was given to Rumania after the World War, but Russia never has recognized the justice of that transfer.

Springdale Estate Bequeathed Widow

The widow Alexander E. Gibbs, of Springdale, was left his entire estate of $35,000 in his will filed for probate today.

JAPAN FLIGHT SLATED MAY 1

LEONIA, N. J., March 13. — (AP.) — J. Morton Sterling, local aeronautical engineer, plans to take off from San Francisco about May 1 on a non-stop flight to Nagasaki, Japan, a distance of 9,300 miles, he told the Associated Press. The undertaking will be for commercial and scientific purposes.

Sterling said an F-201 tri-motored monoplane of his own design, powered with three Diesel turbine engines, would be used. The plane has six propellers, driven by shafts through the wing, a new device in airplane construction. The huge motors will be housed inside the fuselage rather than under the wings.

The crew will consist of eight, Sterling said. He declined, however, to reveal their identity or to name the backers of the project at this time.

Harvard Students Accused as Cheats

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 13. —(AP.) — Harvard authorities have confirmed reports that nine freshmen are facing possible expulsion and a score of others may be disciplined for duplicating each other's mathematics assignment work.

At the same time the university confirmed the news that two freshmen had been dismissed earlier in the year for cheating in English, while a third, the son of a wealthy New Jersey family, had been forever barred from Harvard for entertaining a young woman in his rooms.

WOMAN BROKER FOUND GUILTY

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.) —Miss Margaret E. McCann, the first woman to enter the brokerage business in Wall Street, was convicted last night by a general sessions court jury on one of five grand larceny indictments returned against her in 1928 in the $450,000 failure of her firm. She will be sentenced March 19. The penalty for the offense is from five to 10 years imprisonment.

Miss McCann showed no emotion over her conviction on the complaint of one of her patrons that a few days before the failure of her firm she had sold $12,800 in stock owned by him, without authorization, and appropriated the money to her own use.

CHILD, 5, BADLY HURT BY AUTO

Charles Johnson, 5, of 123 Boggs avenue, was in a serious condition in South Side Hospital today as a result of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile near his home late yesterday. George H. Jones, of Bertha street, said to be the driver, took him to the hospital. He posted $300 bond with police, pending outcome of the child's injuries. At the hospital it was said the boy's skull was fractured.

Inquest Delayed By Girl's Illness

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 13. —Coroner S. A. Baltz, Uniontown, who is conducting the inquest into the killing of John F. Donohoe, former deputy constable, announced that the hearing has definitely been postponed due to the serious illness of his daughter in St. Louis, Mo.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Baby Suffered From Rashes and Painful Skin Irritation

Mrs. B——'s baby was not quite four months old when she noticed considerable chafing in the folds of its skin and an ugly red irritation in the diaper region.

She had trouble, too, with urine scald on the child's thighs and buttocks—and in cleansing the baby after each diaper change she had difficulty in removing the crusty fecal matter which clung to the buttocks.

A nurse advised Mrs. B—— to rub her child's entire body each morning after the bath with Mennen Baby Oil—and to massage the skin gently, making sure to rub the oil into the folds and creases of the skin. The nurse also advised a specially medicated baby powder —and Mennen Borated Talcum was selected. It was dusted over the child's body after the excess oil had been wiped off.

During the day, after every diaper change, Mrs. B—— was advised to oil the buttocks liberally, rubbing the oil into all folds of the skin—the oil acting as a water-proof coating, preventing the urine and solids from clinging to the skin and irritating it. Since both Mennen Baby Oil and Talcum are scientifically medicated they will prevent and cure diaper rashes.

Special Offer! This week your druggist is offering a can of Mennen Borated Baby Talcum FREE with a purchase of a bottle of Mennen Baby Oil for 50c. Mennen Baby Oil is a sterilized blend of oils, properly medicated, pleasantly scented, and will not become rancid.

The Mennen Company, Newark, N. J.

How a Family Doctor made Millions of Friends

FIFTEEN years after his graduation, Dr. Caldwell became one of the best-known members of his profession. A single prescription made him famous. And for forty years it has continued to make friends.

As fast as people could tell others about the marvelous way this prescription corrects constipation and relieves other troubles caused by sluggish bowels, demand for it spread until Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it filled in quantities; bottled and distributed through drug stores.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. Millions of people would never think of using anything else when they're headachy, bilious, feverish, or weak; when breath is bad, tongue is coated or they are suffering from nausea, from gas, or lack of appetite, etc.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin as you buy it from your drug store is made in accordance with the original formula from only herbs and other pure ingredients. It is pleasant tasting; its action is thorough in the most obstinate cases; gently effective for women and children. Above all, it represents a doctor's choice of what is safe for the bowels.

Soap and Hard Water Alone Will Not Give

Best Dish Washing Results

Local housewives claim amazing results when new water-softening cleanser is added in washing anything. Takes ¼ the soap—saves ½ the time.

A NEW discovery is cutting dish washing time in half—eliminating greasy film on dishes and the scum in the dishpan—the penalties you local women have been forced to pay for the hardness of city water.

It is not a soap but a water-softening cleanser that makes any soap more effective in cleansing results by changing "hard" water to "soft". And you need use only one-fourth the soap formerly needed.

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene that you add to your washing water. Just a tablespoon or two.

Instantly, it takes all the hardness out of that water. It makes it act as rain water.

At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all dirt, stains and grime. And thus cuts washing time ONE-HALF or more.

Use the soap or soap flakes you ordinarily do. Then see for yourself the amazing results. During 1929 women used over 24,000,000 packages of Climalene for washing, for cleaning and in the dishpan.

Laboratory Proved

To assure results to you, we buy fine things, lingerie and delicate fabrics, costly china. Then by repeated washings, try to spoil or fade them.

Consider, please, what those things mean to you. Consider, too, that the minute you put this creation into water, all harshness is taken away—your hands protected from roughness, made soft, smooth and white. Then try it.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages. 173-R

NATIONAL SALES DAYS

Why paint the lily? You can't improve it! When the advertising department asked the Buyers for outstanding bargain-offerings for tomorrow, the Second Day of the National Sales Days, they reminded us that this, as a THREE-DAY EVENT, and that ALL the super-values featured for today (Thursday) would be continued Friday and Saturday. So we figured what's the use of taking another lot of advertising just to retell the story. We used seven pages of newspaper space, a hundred billboards, a radio program, besides a hundred and fifty thousand twelve-page bulletins, personally delivered to every home, to launch this three-day sale. And you can make up your mind when we spend that amount of money to promote an event Frank & Seder have the goods to back it up. We can't expect the whole town to crowd here today, and we couldn't take care of them if they did. So we planned to have enough merchandise at these special prices to take care of three days' capacity selling. The only items we can't repeat for tomorrow is the handful of hour sales which were featured for the first hour or two this morning. But every other item you can buy here TOMORROW and SATURDAY at the ADVERTISED LOW PRICE.

No one knows better than we do what a lot of money it takes, even with careful watching to buy food and clothing for a family. And to pay the rent, send the children to school and fix the house up from time to time. That's why this Sale should be a blessing to wage-earners who want to save on Spring apparel and home furnishings. And we wish that we could personally talk to every man and woman to urge them to take advantage of these thrift offerings. After all seeing is believing. Perhaps some neighbor of yours was here today and made a purchase. Ask her to show you what she bought. That will bring you here tomorrow quicker than a page of argument.

HOLLYWOOD NEWS, LOCAL AMUSEMENT NOTES AND FILM REVIEW

Drummer's Yarns on Stage Like Antique Eggs Offend the Nose

By GEORGE SEIBEL

DRUMMERS' yarns, as they used to be called, have been driven out of many places where they used to be popular. Since women learned to bob their hair, such stories are not even heard in barber shops. They have found their last refuge in the revues and musical shows that are supposed to be for the Tired Business Man. No wonder he's tired if he feeds on the sort of stuff dished up to him as humor.

George Seibel

But it won't do merely to tell these "drummers' yarns." They have to be dramatized. So when the curtain goes up and shows a bed on the stage, we all know it is just another variation of the same old "husband-came-home" joke. It was already mouldy with decay and smelled to heaven when Noah told it. It ought to be buried, for it is neither art nor fun.

This is particularly true with regard to what might be called the Epicene Joke. They have one this week at one of our theaters. It is a song about elves, gnomes and fairies, whispered to the master of ceremonies and echoed from the galleries. It is so stupid that rotten eggs would be wasted on its inventor—they would smell sweet to him.

Much must be forgiven the professional comedian who feels it is his duty to the public to get a laugh. But he should be given a course of training—with a boot if necessary—to teach him the difference between what is funny and what is merely foul.

Church and Drama

This is not a question of religion or morals, but of good taste. The Church and Drama League, recently formed for the promotion of good plays and stage art, cannot concern itself with such points. Not even the question of stage profanity is involved though that is also being overworked. It used to be found amusing to hear a sweet young thing emit a ripping oath in a dulcet voice, but now that is getting very stale. They all do it.

Nor is this a question for the Censor, who is usually a ridiculous meddler with a sinecure but no cure for sin. Censorships are a farce because you can't formulate good taste with the policeman's mace. Every censorship, sooner or later, lapses into folly, like the Budapest court which recently fined a dramatist ten dollars for reflecting on the scientific status of dentists.

It is preeminently a question for the Box Office. The business manager ought to know that a bad smell will not bring people into his theater, whether it's due to defective plumbing or garbage on the stage.

History Repeats Itself

Students of the drama know that the drama originated in the church—in the old mystery, miracle and morality plays of the Middle Ages. Just as the Greek drama originated in the religious ceremonials connected with the worship of Dionysus.

But is it generally realized that those old religious plays became so vile that they had to be thrown out of the churches? If Noah could get a laugh by beating his wife and calling her names to make her go into the Ark, he was bound to get that laugh. Just like our modern high-power comedians who have inherited the joke-books of the old-time drummers.

Their test of humor seems to be: If you can't tell it to your mother, it must be funny. They ought to remember another famous definition: Dirt is matter in the wrong place.

If they forget that, they may be thrown out of the theater as once out of the church.

Air Experiment Featured in News Reel

An unusual picture is contained exclusively in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News. It shows the Army airship, C-41 picking up four mail sacks containing films for the Fox-Hearst Corporation, from the roof of a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train speeding through New Jersey near Lakehurst at 65 miles on hour. The experiment was the culmination of two weeks' effort, during which time many attempts were made to perform this difficult feat before it finally succeeded.

Among other interesting subjects shown in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News is President Hoover delivering his address in Washington to the Boy Scouts; Elinor Smith, the 19-year-old girl, completing her altitude record flight and telling of her experiences while she made it; Babe Ruth and Colonel Ruppert signing the "papers" in which the Babe agrees to work for the New York Yankees for two years at $80,000 a year; the first speed test of Uncle Sam's new cruiser, the Pensacola, and the only motion pictures of Jean, John, Jane and June, Broadway's only set of quadruplets.

Needless Pain!

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain.

Lots of suffering is, indeed, quite needless.

Headaches, for example. They come without warning, but one can always be prepared. Bayer Aspirin tablets bring immediate relief. Keep a bottle at the office. Carry the small tin in your pocket. Then you won't have to hunt a drugstore, or wait till you get home.

And don't think Bayer Aspirin is only good for headaches, sore throats, and colds! Read the proven directions for relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic, and other aches and pains. Remembering, of course, that the quick comfort from these tablets is not a cure; for any continued pain, see a doctor.

Bayer Aspirin is genuine. Protect yourself by looking for that name. Always the same. Always safe. Never hurts the heart.

BAYER ASPIRIN

Prima Donna

Fritzi Scheff, Viennese prima donna, comes to the Alvin Monday in a revival of Victor Herbert's "Mlle. Modiste."

HERBERT AND COMEDY ON STAGES HERE NEXT WEEK

Fritzi Scheff, Viennese prima donna, comes to the Alvin for an engagement of one week, commencing next Monday night, in the second presentation of the Victor Herbert festival, "Mlle. Modiste." Its tuneful music includes "Kiss Me Again," "The Mascot of the Troop," etc. Seats go on sale today.

In "It Pays to Adveritse," the comedy to be presented in the Pitt next week, Roi Copper Megrue wrote a part in French. It is rather a lengthy part and it has been assigned to Mabel Kroman. The long speeches presented quite a problem, so, with the consent of the director, Harry Manners, she will play the role in Danish, her native tongue.

"ROGUE SONG" SOON

Lawrence Tibbett, operatic baritone, makes his bow in talking pictures in "The Rogue Song," M-G-M's operatic drama, which comes to the Aldine Monday. Lionel Barrymore directed the production, which includes in its cast Catherine Dale Owen, Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy.

"The Case of Sergeant Grischa" will close a two-week engagement in the R-K-O Sheridan Square tomorrow. "Framed," featuring Evelyn Brent, Regis Toomey and Ralf Harolde, will open Saturday.

William Boyd, star of "Leatherneck," "The Flying Fool" and "His First Command," comes to the Enright tomorrow in his latest film, "Officer O'Brien." Jay Mills will offer "Running Away" on the stage.

SURPRISE IN STANLEY

"Take-A-Chance Week" opens tomorrow in the Stanley. The management promises lavish entertainment.

Polly Moran and Marie Dressler, comedy pair, are William Haines' co-conspirators in the matter of getting laughs in "The Girl Said No," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking comedy, which comes to the Penn, Monday.

Victor Graff will begin his final week in the Harris Saturday. His farewell show will feature Gracie Barrie, "blues singer." The screen feature will be "Cohens and Kellys in Scotland."

Club Plantation Reopens Saturday

Mercur Brothers and Joe Rubin announce the Club Plantation, Babcock boulevard, will open Saturday night. It has been completely refurnished.

The inaugural attraction will be Capt. Wormack's Negro recording orchestra, coming direct from an extended engagement at the Palais Royal, Buffalo. Members of the orchestra are said to be actors and comedians as well as musicians.

Guess Who?

Here is the heroine in the film that comes tomorrow to the Stanley. But the management has hidden her identity behind a mask. It is all part of Take-A-Chance Week in that theater.

'PARTY GIRL,' RACKET AS WELL AS FILM, IN OLYMPIC

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

"Party Girl," new talkie in the Olympic, introduces a new racket. It is that of "booking" girls to furnish diversion at the gay parties of Big Business.

The production is of a sexy sort with gay life atmosphere. Yet, it is tinseled drama and, in some respects, as tawdry as the tinsel that appears on the Christmas tree that is displayed near the finale.

There is an episode where an endeavor is made to create the illusion of an Earl Carroll bath-tub party. Marie Prevost, now most plump, is the victim.

The cast, a large one, features Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Jeanette Loff and John St. Polis, along with Marie.

The story has to do with a millionaire's collegiate son, who is framed into a marriage with one of those questionable ladies. But, though the marriage lasts until death doth them part, it isn't for long. The girl goes zooming to earth from a high ledge in an apartment hotel.

Of course, there is another girl for the hero. She, too, happens to be a "party girl," but she manages to remain pure and sweet.

Giannini in Final Concert Tomorrow

Dusolina Giannini, Italian-American soprano, will give the closing Art Society concert in Carnegie Music Hall tomorrow night. Her program will include a group of songs by Schubert and Brahms. A group of songs by English composers and a group of Italian folk songs also will be given.

SLAP

IT'S rather hard to realize we're through;
I knew that it would have to come some day,
But happiness depended so on you
I welcomed every trivial delay.

I tried in vain to bring the glamour back
That filled the early part of our affair,
But, somehow, all my efforts seemed to lack
The magic spark that caused you once to care.

I think that you grew just a little tired,
A little bored with phrases that were stale;
I knew how much I left to be desired,
I realized that I deserved to fail;

And may I add—now that I'm on the shelf—
At times, dear, you were rather drab, yourself?
—The Perfect Fool.

IT MUST BE TRUE

FROM Hollywood comes Dorothy Fields' report that a British playwright who was hired by a movie firm came, by appointment, to see an executive. He was ask to wait as the exec was in conference. After waiting to see the man that day, and the next, and the next, he flew to New York and took the first back boat to England. Four months later he returned to Hollywood to give the executive a piece of his mind. As he sat on the bench outside the man's office the exec's secretary came out.

Walter Winchell

"Ah, my dear, Mr. Soandso," ah'd the sec, "so sorry to keep you waiting."

FLIP QUIP

Texas Guinan telegraphs that a diamond bracelet was found in her night club Saturday night. It awaits identification by the owner, who, Miss Guinan observes, "must be a good girl, as there are only three diamonds in it."

POKE

BUGS BAER describes a certain master-of-ceremonies in this manner: "He was a good looking guy up to the time he got his face caught in his father's cash register."

BY WAY OF REPORT

The recent announcement here that Helen Cant, a beautiful blonde show girl in "Ripples," wears long flannel nightgowns has aroused several readers from various parts of the country, according to Miss Cant. The writers ask her if it is true, and why does she wear long, flannel nighties, and is it because she "does not love nice things?"

Well, Miss Cant says that she has lived in Buffalo, which is practically Canada, and that she got into the habit because of the extreme cold, and even when she is in Florida she cannot get away from the habit, and what of it?

Now, don't get emotional, Helen!

CONFESSION

Messrs. Rand and Kane, of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, forward their newest ditty, which is en-tittle-titled: "It's a Darn Good Thing Some Fellows Quit School in the Eighth Grade—or Else Who Would Give Us College Boys Jobs?"

"SIPPI"

JOHN WELLS, better known to the Canyon of the Calloused as "Mississippi," died the other day, taking away what probably was the Stem's most engaging character. "Sippi" was the Negro you've probably seen in his stovepipe lid (a la Ted Lewis) and long coachman's coat, sitting with crossed legs on his dilapidated carriage, which was invariably drawn by a dilapidated horse. When Jolson starred at the Winter Garden "Sippi" parked his hack in front of the place.

In fact, it was Mr. Jolson who bought the steeds for "Sippi" whenever he needed one, which was usually once every two months. And when Jolson was on tour then Owney Madden and other locals would buy him one. They all liked the affable fellow, who was somewhat of an idol in his prime and who fought Joe Gans, Abe Attell and the best.

Now "Sippi" has gone on That Long Holiday, leaving but one Broadway character—Rosie, the gum vendor of Shubert Alley, who is ill in a hospital, which is why the Longacre Sector is so quiet these days.

O, MR. WILSTACH!

SUGGESTIONS for Frank J. Wilstach's Dictionary of Similes: William Bolitho's: The entrance fee to a museum, a cathedral and a cave is like drinking a castor-oil cocktail before breakfast . . . Barrett C. Keisling's: Plentiful as chewed pencils at income tax time . . . Milt Gross': He loves you like a diseased parrot . . . and Isabel Briggs Myers': Scarcer than bow-legs in the "Follies."

IN FEWER WORDS

On Broadway particularly, a contract is a confession of mutual doubt.

JUST FINDING IT OUT

"There is a disinclination on the part of public men and others to criticize columnists of daily papers," says an editorialist. "The public man who incurs the displeasure of these newspaper sharpshooters finds himself deluged with a shower of ridicule, if not savage attacks, conducted with devilish ingenuity. The idea of the writers is to make the target a laughing stock."

Precisely.

Right Idea

This three-year-old athlete is the son of Mrs. M. Sarsfield, 5131 Hoopes St., Philadelphia. She says: "Jackie's wonderful condition shows my idea is right.

"Whenever he's the least cross or upset, or has a cold, I give him a little California Fig Syrup. It always brightens him up; regulates his stomach and bowels; gives him a hearty appetite. I have used it with Jackie since he was a year old, and it has never failed to help him promptly."

All children love the rich, fruity flavor of California Fig Syrup. A pure vegetable product, it doesn't gripe or sicken. It always acts gently but thoroughly to cleanse the system of bilious, headachy, constipated children. Doctors say it tones and strengthens weak bowels. Try it with your child. See how bad breath, coated tongue or feverishness disappears!

The name California marks the genuine, famous for 50 years. So look for it when buying

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to comb or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it; then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you may have. This simple remedy never fails.

Vital News For Expectant or Nursing Mothers

Whether your baby is yet to be or is already born, its chances for blooming health and flourishing growth depend on you. Your tiny son or daughter must look to you—and no one else—for its entire nourishment. Both you and the little one will thrive better if you make sure to keep your system plentifully supplied with the wonderful health and growth vitamin A and the equally wonderful "sunshine" vitamin D.

Rich in Building Vitamins

By taking McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets daily, you will abundantly assimilate vitamins that are most important for both mother and child; and you will also protect yourself from the unpleasant and perhaps disturbing effect of taking liquid cod liver oil with its fishy odor and taste and disagreeable greasiness. There is no loss of vitamin value.

Two McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are equal in vitamin richness to one teaspoonful of the pure, vitamin-tested Norwegian cod liver oil from which they are made. The tablets contain vitamins A and D in full volume and strength, and genuine cod liver oil extract is their only ingredient. McCoy's Tablets positively contain no harmful or habit-forming drugs, no inert medicines, no temporary "pick-me-ups."

A Pleasant Way to Keep up Strength

These wonderful tablets have no odor, no taste. And you don't have to miss the midday dose—easy to carry and take. And for any sick, anemic, rundown or underweight condition for which cod liver oil is known to be beneficial, you will find it just as safe, just as beneficial, and far more pleasant to take or give McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets instead. 60 tablets, 60 cents, at any drug store.

A Medical Opinion

"The ideal corrective for 'sour stomach' is calcium carbonate—a potential anti-acid, incapable of disturbing the normal action of the bowels and bladder, impossible of overdosage and perfectly safe to use."

—Two men whose will endure the question from most medical authority.

A Powerful Anti-acid—yet Safe

Old-fashioned folks, not abreast with medical science, still take burning soda. Occasional doses may do no harm.

But Calcium Carbonate, in proper form, is the modern anti-acid! 2½ times as effective as soda, and is safe in its action and positive in its relief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the ideal form of Calcium Carbonate combined with other valuable healing ingredients. Medical authorities commend Stuart's formula as the only kind for use with children and best for men and women.

Film Gates Too Much for One-Eyed Connolly; He Wants Job

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, March 13.

"ONE-EYED Connolly, W. K. gate crasher, has evidently met his Waterloo with Hollywood gatemen. The gatemen hereabouts are so suspicious they won't let themselves in, half the time. At all events, "One-Eyed" Connolly has almost called quits on this burg. He wants a job. Nix on crashing.

BILL (DIRECTOR) BEAUDINE cupped his ear and tuned in on a rumor. To wit: That "The Old Nest," a movie thriller of yore, is to be remade into a talkie. Whereupon Bill suggests that Howard Hawks direct; Billie Dove, Walter Pidgeon and Helen Twelvetrees head the cast and Fox release the flick Oke by me.

Miss Twelvetrees

DOROTHY MACKAILL celebrated a birthday t'other day. Her sixteenth plus.

WHY ALL THE ADO?

APROPOS of recent newspaper space given a local amnesia victim Edwin K. O'Brien of the Fox fold postcards: "Why all the ado about an amnesia victim in the Brown Derby. I've seen plenty of them there when the check came around. And why, when they found the girl's mind was a blank, did they immediately deduce she was a screen actress? She might have been a screen colyum conductress."

REX M'GRAW, JR., of Los Angeles, wishes to know who, other than Lloyd Hamilton, burlesqued the "Your Mother and Mine" number in the "Show of Shows." Frank Fay, Rex, with Louise Fazenda and Beatrice Lillie the the fems in the quartet.

Lloyd Hamilton

IN THE event you're palpitating to know, "Hell's Angels" is absolutely announced as ready to debut in Hollywood within six weeks' time. The major share of interest in this outloud is: Will it look like the four million bucks it cost young Howard Hughes?

SMACKS FOR TULLY

I SEE by the papers that Jim Tully had to battle a Jack Gilbert champion t'other eve in a local restaurant. Seems Murphy McHenry, a writer, took it upon himself to smack Mr. Tully in behalf of Mr. Gilbert, who, it seems, knew nothing of the affair until he optiked it in the paper. Mr. Tully rebuffed Mr. McHenry and Mr. McHenry kissed the dust. At that, it is kinda tough that Tully can't let alone and permitted the pleasure of minding his own business.

YESTER-AFTERNOON, Richard Barthelmess sat for Olive Snell, W. K. British artist, here in Hollywood to paint a few foremost cinema-ites. Miss Snell may return to England, Friday, taking her Hollywood canvases with her. Later, she will exhibit them in London.

"KNEW HIM WHEN"

THE following epistle comes from one who signs his or her letter: "Missing Link."

Dear Dot: Just discovered much to my amazement that you are Ted Cook's Aunt Bella (now I'm flattered) and as I am one of Aunt Bella's favorite correspondents of course we are old friends.

Conrad Nagel

I've decided to let you in on a good laugh I know about Conrad Nagel, which is a perfectly nice laugh, as anyone in Des Moines who "knew him when" is proud of the fact, naturally.

This happened about 20 years ago, when we were going to different high schools together in Des Moines. Conrad had never been to a dance but was willing. My chum asked him to our senior prom. He accepted. Their families were old friends.

They got there too late for the first dance and as my friend was a mighty popular girl her program was completely filled the moment Conrad told the fellows whom he was with and offered them her card.

One poor lad seemed so heart-broken that there was nothing else left that Conrad generously offered him the "Home Sweet Home" waltz. So the dear girl didn't have a single dance with the man after bringing him, but Conrad insisted he had had a swell time when he left her at her door. She didn't have the heart, then, to coach him in the art of making up a dance program for the future Hollywood stars.

But she gets an awful kick out of telling her four children about it now, whenever she sees him on the screen.

You can gamble your last dime that Conrad has improved since then.

Real Estate

The Pittsburgh Real Estate Board membership committee yesterday gathered at a noon luncheon at the William Penn Hotel and organized a drive to add members to the board. More than 20 applications for membership have been received unasked, and realtor officials predict a big increase in the roster in the next two weeks. J. W. Cree, Jr., and J. Frank McClure spoke at the luncheon.

The Kelly-Wood Real Estate Company were the brokers in the sale for L. H. Fellabom to C. Bedell Monro of the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation of a new home at 248 South Homewood avenue gor $40,000. The house is an English type residence of 10 rooms. The lot is 50x175 feet and was a part of the Curry estate.

A brick apartment building at 6317 Marchand street has been sold by E. G. Thompson to Louis A. Baker, Aloysius R. Baker and Frank W. Baker. The lot is 48x125 feet.

The C. L. Saxton Company will move their real estate offices April 1 to the first floor of the Carpenter Building, 241 Fourth avenue. The new quarters will give the company enlarged space for their sales organization.

A house in Haller street, North Side, lot 27x85 feet, has been sold by Elmer H. Kanline to Benjamin Botha.

A house in Giffin avenue, Mt. Oliver, lot 30x100 feet, has been sold by John C. Fischer to Adolph Bartsch.

A house at 216 Barth avenue, Mt. Lebanon, has been sold by Arthur A. Sack to Erwin W. Simons. The lot is 50x75 feet.

In Brentwood, Harry E. Talenfeld has sold to George J. Denk, Jr., 94x143 feet in Meadowbrook boulevard for $5,925.

A six-room brick house at 2048 Termon avenue, North Side, lot 38x115 feet, has been sold by Claude A. Strobridge to Lester L. Metzker.

A double brick dwelling at 5705-07 Darlington road, Squirrel Hill, has been sold by Theresa and Alois F. Aschmann to Marie Lampickler. The lot is 40x169 feet.

House Dress Easily Made

Pattern 1808

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

Designed especially for fuller figures, this morning dress is quite simple, and unusually becoming. The pointed vestee with rolled collar, the pointed pockets that correspond and the narrow belt forming a bow tie in back are interesting details.

Pattern 1808 is practical if made of gingham, percale, pique, broadcloth or rayon. A gaily colored print is charming trimmed with white. Both long and short sleeves are given with the pattern.

Designed only for sizes 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 38 requires 3⅜ yards of 36-inch material and ¾-yard trimming.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our PATTERN BOOK of NEW SPRING and SUMMER STYLES is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

Seek Ridgway Girl, Missing After Ride

RIDGWAY, Pa., March 13.—A 16-year-old high school girl named Grace Smith, of Ridgway, has been missing since Sunday night. On Sunday evening she and two other Ridgway girls took an automobile ride with a young man named Ralph Linneman, of Oil City. After the ride the two other girls said they got out of the car, but the Smith girl remained.

Efforts by police to locate the missing girl have been unrewarded. She is about 5 feet three inches tall and wore a gray coat and fur collar.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

By RUTH WAITE

Every woman with gray, faded or streaked hair is entitled to do something about it, for it is every woman's birthright to retain her youthfulness and charm as long as she can. When a woman mentions gray hair to me, I don't hesitate to advise the use of a restorer and I recommend sage tea and sulphur.

A brew of common garden sage, when properly combined with sulphur, restores gray hair to its original color, lustre and beauty. So perfectly does it do the work that its use is undetectable. You may either prepare the mixture at home or buy it already prepared and ready to use. Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur is the name of the prepared article and it costs only 75c a bottle at druggists. Hence, there's no need of your bothering to prepare the mixture yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, one strand at a time. The very first application banishes the gray and one or two more sees the hair beautifully restored to its original life and color. One would be surprised if she or he knew of the thousands who use this preparation.

FOR more than 30 years the people of Pittsburgh and vicinity have endorsed the quality of Aunt Hannah's—by buying more of it than any other bread.

Good Luck

The man who doesn't have good luck with gasoline doesn't use "STANDARD"

ACTUALLY the "Good Luck" you have with "Standard" products is the result of the extra merit built into them. In "Standard" motor fuels, for instance, there is no sacrifice of all-round performance for a single talking point. In knock-rating, ESSO is in a class by itself, but knock-rating is unimportant unless it is found with quick-starting, lightning pickup and a low end point. "Standard" fuels have all these in the proper balance. For years they have had an end point of 400°—and lower. It is because "Standard" Gasoline and ESSO meet all the requirements of good gasoline better that everybody says: "You'll have good luck with 'Standard'."

"STANDARD" GASOLINE, "STANDARD" MOTOR OIL and ESSO, the Giant Power Fuel, are products of the Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania

FAMINE DOOMS MILLIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—(AP.)—The semi-annual report of missionaries in the interior of China to Father James G. Keller, Maryknoll superior at the Junior Seminary of the order in Los Altos, received here, said that hundreds of thousands of Chinese are dead of hunger and cold in the Province of Shensi.

"The worst famine section is in the Wei River Valley in Shensi," the report said. "A year ago the population was 6,000,000. Two millions died during 1928. Two millions more are doomed by June. Transportation facilities are gone. Animals have been eaten for food and vehicles broken up for fuel. When farmers stop to feed their animals they have to stand guard over the food and fight off the mob. Children scramble under horses' feet and fight for morsels that fall from the animals' mouths. The people are crowded into small quarters and typhus has broken out. Daily there are reports of a starving person frozen to death on the streets.

"There are thousands of cases where the starving has ended their lives to put an end to their suffering. Children are abandoned by their parents or are found crying by the bodies of their mothers. Many children have been killed by their parents to end their suffering."

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.

Mothers . . . Watch Children's COLDS

COMMON head colds often "settle" in throat and chest where they may become dangerous. Don't take a chance—at the first sniffle rub on Children's Musterole once every hour for five hours.

Children's Musterole is just good old Musterole, you have known so long, in milder form.

Working like the trained masseur, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.

Keep full strength Musterole on hand, for adults and the milder—Children's Musterole for little tots. All druggists.

TANLAC FREES JOHN BURKHARDT OF STOMACH TROUBLES

Flat on Back, Super Medicine Puts Him Back on Job

In a few days quicker than you ever thought possible—that super medicine Tanlac starts to prove its merit. And amazing though it may seem, the more stubborn and unyielding the case may be, the more remarkable is the work that Tanlac does in straightening out weak disordered stomachs. It's a real medicine formulated according to modern medical science—that's why—not just a "patent medicine" that makes a lot of ridiculous claims to cure everything. Tanlac was prepared for the specific purpose of strengthening the ailing organs of digestion and because every ingredient in it is designed for helping the good work along, it has won easy victories where everything else has failed. And remember this, when stomach troubles are ended you'll be absolutely amazed at the way bowel troubles, constipation, dizziness, headaches, and even rheumatism usually disappear completely. Tanlac has brought glorious new health to hundreds right here in this town. Among the recent cases is Mr. John Burkhardt who says: "I was flat on my back when I started taking Tanlac. A few doses began to improve my appetite, my digestion grew better and I was soon back on the job." Every mail brings enthusiastic letters of testimonial—52,000,000 bottles have been sold. Guaranteed by all the druggists so accept no substitute.

FOX TRUSTEES FACE TEST

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP)—Federal Judge Coleman late yesterday granted an order requiring H. L. Stuart and John E. Otterson, to show cause Friday why they should not be enjoined from voting the Class B Fox Film and Fox Theaters Corporations stock deposited under a trust agreement made with William Fox last December. The order to show cause also mentioned Halsey, Stuart and Company, of which Stuart is a member, and Electrical Research Products, Inc., which is headed by Otterson.

Under the trust agreement the stock was deposited with the Bankers Trust Company by Fox. His co-trustees will be required Friday to show cause also why they should not be enjoined from interfering with Fox in his taking possession of the stock certificates and why they should not be ordered to "join the plaintiff in directing the Bankers Trust Company to deliver the certificates to him."

The stock in question was voted by Fox at the recent meeting of stockholders of the two companies, under protest from Otterson and Stuart.

Holding the majority control in the trusteeship, Fox being the third member, they wished to vote the stock against the plan of financing advanced by a banking group headed by Banc-America Blair Corporation.

Fox disputed their claim, holding that the trust agreement had been violated, and proceeded to vote the stock in favor of the plan, which was finally carried.

Man and Woman Shot in Scuffle

FIRE DAMAGES CAPITAL SPAN

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(AP)—The Arlington Memorial Bridge, a $14,000,000 structure being built over the Potomac River between the capital and Virginia, was damaged to the extent of approximately $10,000 late yesterday by a fire which started about half an hour after workmen had left for the day.

Fire departments from half a dozen surrounding towns, assisted by a fireboat, extinguished the fire after it had destroyed the wooden framework of Columbia Island on the Virginia side, causing a portion of the concrete to cave in. Engineers said the entire section would have to be repoured. Firemen said they saw evidence of damage to the granite, and progress on the structure will not be halted. The origin of the blaze was unknown.

ASKS WORKERS AID CENSUS

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has sent circulars to all labor organizations informing the members of trade unions how to answer the questions of the 1930 census.

In a letter that formed a part of the instructions, made public here, Green called upon the working men to co-operate with the Census Bureau.

"For years efforts to provide against unemployment crisis such as that of this winter have been hampered because no one knew the facts about unemployment," he said. "Now at last we are to have a census of unemployment covering the whole country.

"The data gathered through this census, will be the basis of study and policy-making for next 10 years. To protect your own interests see to it that it is as accurate and complete as possible. No one can make it correct if the wage earners themselves do not answer carefully and accurately."

Beaten Candidate Hauls Victor's Buggy

COLOMA, Mich., March 13.—(AP)—J. K. Guy, new president of this village, staged his inaugural parade down Main street in an old-time high-top buggy, which was drawn by O. J. Long, his opponent in the village election Monday.

Guy wore a silk topper, a frock coat and white gloves and carried a big buggy whip, which he frequently cracked over Long's head. Guy defeated Long by 26 votes and so Long had to pay the bet they had made before the election.

Bullfrog Rivals Groundhog as 'Old Prov'

LANCASTER, Pa., March 13.—(AP)—A new weather prognosticator was extolled last night in Quarryville, a stronghold of the groundhog. Two hundred persons attended the first annual banquet of the Ancient Order of the Croaking Frog, and heard S. Edward Gable, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, laud the weather-predicting capacities of the bullfrog.

The bullfrog, Gable said, does not limit its predictions to cold and warm weather, but also tells of approaching rain and clear days. The bullfrog through the pitch of his voice tells the change in the weather, Gable said.

Gable and other speakers chided the groundhog for remaining in his hole six weeks while the bullfrog was enjoying himself in the sunshine.

'OLD IRONSIDES' FUND ASKED

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(AP)—Restoration of the U. S. S. Constitution, "Old Ironsides," started by the school children of America, would be completed by Congress by a bill calling for a $300,000 appropriation introduced by Representative McCormack, (Dem.), of Massachusetts.

"The children of America have contributed about $400,000 toward rebuilding the famous frigate and raising of the added amount necessary looks very doubtful," McCormack said. "It is only fitting that Congress should make the $300,000 additional appropriation necessary to make 'Old Ironsides,' only existing link which connects us with the glories of the early American navy, a permanent memorial."

The Constitution is now at Boston Navy Yard.

U. S. Urged to Pay Norway for Service

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(AP)—President Hoover has asked Congress to provide funds for the payment of approximately $5,000 as interest on expenses the Norwegian government incurred in representing the United States in Soviet Russia.

Norway expended slighfly more than 65,000 kronen in protecting American interests in Russia between September, 1918, and December, 1920. The United States reimbursed Norway for this expenditure in 1925, but the comptroller general disallowed the interest claim.

Too many of our meals are lacking.

Lacking in what?

"EVERY TIME I go to the Browns for a meal, I leave the table not entirely satisfied," said a man to his friend. "Why is it . . . they seem to set a good table."

"I agree with you," replied his friend, "and I'll tell you what their meals lack. It's sugar."

Nothing takes the place of sugar in satisfying the appetite. And it is natural that our systems crave sugar. We have learned to expect it in fruits and vegetables, which, if fresh and ripe, abound in original sweetness. But too often, these foods reach us lacking in sugar. A clever cook senses this and replaces it in cooking, or tops the meal with a sweet dessert.

As a matter of fact, sugar is an essential in the diet. Not only for the energy it supplies, but for its value in making essential foods more palatable. Dieticians will tell you that it is correct to add a dash of sugar to carrots, peas, spinach, cabbage and tomatoes while they are cooking. Such flavored foods are eaten with keen relish.

It is your duty to see that you—your family—has sugar in the correct amount. And it can be judiciously introduced in the diet—as a flavor and in wholesome desserts. The Sugar Institute.

"THE SHADOW which pursues us all"

(John Greenleaf Whittier, 1807-1892)

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper form, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco —The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection — against irritation — against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Irene in Gun Battle

of the officer's hand. I didn't care if he was killed. All I cared about was defending my man—my dear Glenn.

The officer turned and ran and I picked up his gun. That was the gun they found on me when we were trapped on the Arizona mountain top. It was the gun we used against the Indians who had us cornered.

The fleeing officer blew his whistle and four policemen suddenly appeared in the street, blocking our way. They fired at us, but they were poor shots.

Glenn was more stunned than hurt. He dragged himself and me back into the car and moaned: "Honey, it looks as if we're on the wrong road. Let's give up."

Give up? Until we got a message on the Arizona mountain that I'll always think came straight from heaven, I never wanted to give up.

"When you're on the wrong road, turn to the right," I told Glenn. I pulled the wheel over and ran the car up a side street to the right. "Turn to the right is right," I said.

Evade Police

WE did, and lost the officers and got out of St. Louis on the Kansas City road.

I've wanted to tell this true story of the St. Louis fight with the police, because so much bunk was told about that affair.

And I want to come to telling about my ideas on the subject of the "mannishness" people seem to find in me. I'm sort of plump and little and womanly and was always crazy about mothering children—my own Donnie, and other little unlucky children I've had to do with; so I don't see why I'm called mannish.

I suppose people mean my fighting the way I did and making Glenn go on and on and never give up—when they talk about my being made of iron. But you've got to be a woman in love, and see your man in danger and wounded, to know what puts iron in a girl's body instead of blood.

Glenn was always the refined one of us two. He was gentle, and religious, and well educated. That's why I admired and fought for him. Sometimes I do think that the way things turned out gave me the man's part and Glenn the woman's. Since we've been in jail that has came out more than ever. The other day Glenn wrote me.

"Honey, my sweet: Please send me down anything you have that needs to be sewed. I can mend, probably not so awfully well, but let me try it. I like to sew, or used to for mother, and I'd like to do it for you. It would help to pass the time away. I want to do it for you, please!"

I want people to understand how gentle Glenn is and how his fineness was a revelation to me. That's why I give this intimate detail.

But, in the terrible days that came before our escape from St. Louis it was Glenn who was the strong protecting man and me the weak, ailing woman.

The terrible time in St. Louis started when we got there, almost penniless, starved, frightened, after almost a week on the road without sleeping once in a bed. I was ill from cold and hunger. Glenn would wait until I was asleep and then he would carefully get his overcoat off himself and onto me. Then I'd wake and make him take it back, and he'd do it again the minute I dozed off.

Outside of East St. Louis, Glenn said: "I don't care what happens, honey, you're going to sleep in a house tonight.

Almost Penniless

I WAS too sick to protest. Glenn found the place, a dirty old boarding house. She made us pay in advance when we said we wouldn't take board, only a room. That left us with only a dollar and a penny; I remember Glenn showing the money to me.

We had to have three things—food, medicine for me and a newspaper, to see if, back East, they were still hunting for us on account of Corp. Paul's death. Glenn risked his life and our safety to go out and get those things.

The paper said nothing about Corp. Paul, so we decided on the third day to start West again.

Then came the fight with the St. Louis police. I don't think it was on account of the trouble in New Castle, though, but because we had to get some money from another gas station.

Maybe, though, the police were watching for us in St. Louis, because I had a brother in trouble there. My brother, Ed, was put in jail in Jefferson, near St. Louis, for stealing a car.

Everybody knows about how poor Ed broke out of the jail and got clear away last November, only to run into a policeman and get killed when he wouldn't give up.

Followed the Road

I GUESS it's in our mountain people's blood not to give up, and never stay in jails, and rather die than let a policeman control our lives. Maybe the police thought I would naturally head for where Ed had his trouble, but that wasn't the reason we went through St. Louis. It was just because the road out West went through there.

AVIATRIX HUNTS LOST FLIER

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—(AP.)—Mrs. Juanita Eloise Burns, 24-year-old aviatrix, made ready to take off here today for the wastelands of Nevada where she will conduct a search for Maurice Graham, mail pilot, missing since last January 11. Mrs. Burns last week located the Western Air Express transport plane that crashed and killed three men in the mountain area near Lake Arrowhead, Cal.

Graham, according to residents of the district, was last seen as he circled the Bristol mines northeast of Las Vegas, Nev. He had taken off from Las Vegas with a cargo of mail. Since then thousands of miles have been flown by searching pilots, but no trace of Graham or his ship has been found.

Mrs. Burns said she would use Las Vegas as a base, and would systematically scan the entire territory for the missing pilot.

3 Held on Priest's Charge of Robbery

Testimony of a Greek Orthodox priest, the Rev. Anthony J. Romza, of Patton, Pa., that he had been robbed in a hotel at 316 Third avenue today led to the holding of three men arraigned in Central Police Court. The Rev. Romza said that he met the men in the hotel and that they had taken $40 from him. They described themselves as John Service, 24; Harry Williams, 28, and William Girod, 26, all of 416 Third avenue.

Turtle Creek Police Captain Is Reduced

Burgess George J. Donaldson, of Turtle Creek, today announced the demotion of Police Capt. Russell Brown to a patrolman. The action was taken "for the good of the service," the burgess explained.

Padlock Ready, Agents Find Building Gone

Mike Decco, of 1036 Walnut street, McKeesport, was advised to appear in Federal Court today by prohibition agents because, they said, an injunction to padlock his place was to be filed.

Mike advised prohibition agents to visit his building instead. When they did, they found an empty lot, the building having been razed. The injunction was not filed.

TARDIEU VOTED CONFIDENCE

PARIS, March 13.—(INS.)—His hand forced by a series of crushing defeats administered by the Left groups in the Chamber of Deputies, Premier Andre Tardieu early today maneuvered a vote of confidence in his government and won, 320 to 260.

A matter of principle connected with the enlargement of free education under government control, ordinarily a trivial question, precipitated the most spirited debating during the budget discussions. While not officially opposing the text of the finance commission, Premier Tardieu refrained from promising further extension of free education as a government policy. His opinion was over-ridden, 292 to 286.

The question of confidence had not been invoked in any of the other matters on which the government was voted down, but Tardieu made an issue of credits for the new under-secretaryships he created in formation of his government.

The majority of 60 votes gave the Tardieu government a new lease on life, at least until the budget has gone through the Senate.

PAROLE SOUGHT BY 'HANDY MAN'

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal.—(INS.)—The "handy man" of San Quentin's ancient stable hopes for an early parole.

He is Harry S. New, Jr., 42. Ten years ago New entered the state prison to serve a 10-year-to-life sentence for second degree murder. His term will be fixed shortly by the state prison board, is was learned today.

New is employed as an assistant, but is known as the "handy man" within the prison reservation. He is subject to call 24 hours in the day, driving prison automobiles between the stable and the warden's office. He has charge of all the cars in the stable.

Fire Rages 18 Hours On Passenger Ship

COLOMBO, Ceylon, March 13.—(AP.)—Fire broke out on the 15,000-ton liner Comorin, en route from England to Australia, here today, and it was more than 18 hours before it could be overcome.

Water was being pumped from the first-class section, which was the part of the ship most damaged. It was hoped to resume the voyage Sunday with the second-class passengers still aboard.

TRAIN AWAITS FLIERS' BODIES

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, March 13.—(AP.)—Relatives and aviators representing three nations were ready today to resume their journey toward the United States with the bodies of Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, American fliers who perished in Siberia last November.

The funeral party will move to Seward by train and from there will go to Seattle, where Borland will be buried. Eielson's body will be taken to Hatton, N. D., for interment.

Fairbanks paid final tribute to the memory of the fliers yesterday. Both Eielson and Borland were well known here, having operated planes out of Fairbanks for several years before they left November 9 from Teller, Alaska, to the icebound fur trader Nanuk, at North Cape, Siberia, on the flight which ended in their deaths when their plane crashed near North Cape.

"I'M GLAD HE DID" SAYS MRS. COOK

Druggist recommended REM

Two coughs are two too many, in the opinion of Mrs. Wm. J. Cook of 940½ Virginia Ave., S. W., Washington, D. C. Her two children are subject to "bad-weather" coughs and had severe ones early last winter. So she went to Herbert's Drug Store at 10th and Virginia Ave., and asked him for a good cough medicine. He suggested REM and Mrs. Cook adds "I'm glad he did, for it gave the children wonderful relief. Since then we've used nothing else for coughs, and my sister-in-law uses it in her family, too, as I told her what I think of it." That's how the good word gets passed along. ACTION ON TOWN HALL DEMANDED

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

BY THE character of its work, the Roselia Foundling Asylum and Maternity Hospital suggests a depressing sadness, but this condition does not exist. The intelligent attaches of this hospital make a point of spreading a contagious good humor among the visitors and patients. On the two or three visits we made to the hospital to see Catherine, the Variety Club's adopted baby, we were pleasantly surprised by the livable atmosphere.

The doors at Roselia are open to everybody and there is no embarrassing cross-examination of the applicants. Many of the infants there are children who have been abandoned, others have been placed by mothers who have no funds. The work is carried on without flourish, without charge and the public's attention is seldom called to the good work or the needs of this institution.

The business of naming the abandoned infants falls upon the hospital staff, and these names are usually suggested by the district in which the child is found. There is, for example, Herbert Carrick. In some abandonments the child's name is found on a note pinned to his or her clothes.

There is at Pitt a course entitled "How to Study," for freshmen. And from our competent spy on that campus comes the report that one student received grades of A in all other studies and F (flunked) in "How to Study."

WE HAVE obtained some startling disclosures on what Pittsburghers like to eat, and these disclosures are yours for the asking. We discovered, for instance, that pork is more popular than beef by a ratio of nine to six.

Our figures were obtained from A. de Marcillac, who might be called the check and double check on the food which is served in the William Penn Hotel's cafeteria. The first thing we asked him about was the sale of spinach, but spinach was listed generally under vegetables, so it is not possible to say authoritatively whether Pittsburghers like spinach. However, we have our suspicions.

If we accept these figures as final (and for the sake of harmony we all must), Pittsburghers spend five times as much for vegetables as for ice cream, but why we compared vegetables with ice cream we don't know. Eggs bring in more than twice as much as potatoes and fish attracts more customers than steak. Lamb is a poor last among the meats.

Pastries are responsible for approximately 8.25 per cent of Ye Old Food Shoppe's receipts and coffee answers for 8.63 per cent. Fruit—the biggest item—is responsible for 12.43 per cent and soup produces 2.69 per cent.

Pensions to P. R. R. Employes Increase

The Pennsylvania Railroad last year paid pensions amounting to $6,665,718, an increase of $582,178 over the previous year, according to the annual report of the pension department issued today by E. W. Smith, vice president of the railroad at Pittsburgh. Last year 1,349 employes were retired under the pension regulations and 845 retired employes died. The total number of employes on the pension rolls at the close of the year was 9,563.

Disarmament conference is getting on pretty good. All we got to do now is promise France if somebody pounces on her that we will help pull 'em off. And in return for our being a night watchman for her, she will cut her naval blueprints down from 725 thousand tons to 625 thousand, a clean saving of a hundred thousand tons imagination.

Mr. Hoover will tell 'em, "we are sorry boys, but we took it serious and went there to sink and not to sign."

CITY TO SAVE LIGHT BILL

When the new county office building is completed, both Allegheny County and Pittsburgh will save a large sum of money in electric service bills, according to the proposed contract with the Duquesne Light Company, approved tentatively by the county commissioners.

Approximately $4,500 will be saved by the county and $2,500 by the city. The contract provides that electric service for the structure be billed under a different schedule from that done in the past.

White House Gavel Presented to Board

A gavel made from long-leaf pine, taken from the White House roof three years ago, was presented to the Allegheny Regional Advisory Board at a meeting of the executive and railroad contact committee in the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, yesterday. H. L. Bravo, lumber technologist of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, New York, delivered the gavel to Royal E. Cook, general chairman. The association obtained the timbers when they were replaced by steel beams.

Motorman Burned In Trolley Blaze

Pittsburgh Railways Company officials today were investigating the cause of a fire which damaged a one-man Crafton-Thornburg shuttle car at Thornburg junction, Steuben and Noble avenues, Crafton, last night. Edward Barrett, of 1224 Straley place, Pittsburgh, operator of the car, suffered burns on the face and arms when the controller blew up, according to a company report. The Crafton Volunteer Fire Department extinguished the blaze.

Controller Report To Cost $2,542.50

Cost of printing and binding County Controller Robert Woodside's annual report will be $2,542.50, it was announced yesterday when the Pittsburgh Printing Company, received the contract for the job. The bid was presented to the county commissioners at that time and acted upon immediately. Other bidders were John Mellor and Sons, $2,925 and Smith Brothers Company, Inc., $4,947.

Bond Club to Hold Weekly Luncheon

The Bond Club of Pittsburgh will hold a weekly luncheon this afternoon in the blue room of the William Penn Hotel. Benjamin Page, president and founder of the Pennsylvania Trust Company, will deliver the principal address. The annual banquet of the Bond Club will be held next Wednesday, according to S. W. Steinecke, secretary of the club and head of the banquet committee.

WHITE HOUSE GANG

Secret Black Hand Society Is Formed by Gang

Theodore Roosevelt, when President of the United States, started the adventurous, rollicking, joyous career of the White House Gang by sending his youngest son, Quentin, to the Force Public School in Washington. Here the gang was recruited. The accredited members are Charles (Taffy) Taft, "Brom" Seeley, Dick (Sailor) Chew, Edward (Slats) Stead, also called "Bedstead," Walker White, "T. R.," the most active member of the gang; Quentin, the leader, and Earle Looker, the author of this story.

Each day, after school, the gang went into a huddle to confound all rules of deportment in high places, mingle in the lines of presidents and policemen, win victories, taste honor, suffer punishments and engage in escapades which were swept along the wires to national publicity. Many exploits of the gang, however, either remain unknown or were known only to the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. Some there were securely hidden even from them.

CHAPTER VIII.

THE mummy loosed the boy, who scurried away, and reached out a clutching hand for Quentin. Q slaped him resoundingly across his mouth, . . . For a moment the mummy was too stunned to act. Then he swung his broom, like a scythe, at Q's legs.

Q caught it, pulled desperately, and secured possession. Instead of attacking him with it, as many another boy would have done, Q flung the broom away from him. "That wasn't fair, either!" he reprimanded.

The pair stood regarding each other for a moment, in the semi-darkness of the boys' playroom in the basement. Then Quentin forced the issue. "Say you're ashamed of yourself!" he commanded. The mummy responded by making another pass at Q. Quentin dove at his legs.

At this juncture, the Gang launched a determined attack upon the mummy from three other points of attack . . . eventually, we all broke away.

"Such people," said Q, dusting himself, and still livid with anger, ". . . such people have no business—" He let it go at that, and his expression changed to one of hopefulness. "Don't you see what we've done?" he said, chuckling. "We've smashed him once. Really, we ought to smash him r-e-g-u-l-a-r-l-y whenever he appears, until he's no more—no more."

New Title
Named Committee of Public Safety

Yet his purely altruistic plan to rid our society of an evident evil, died, like so many flashes of high resolve which are continually exhausting a boy, do die. Older people wonder why he is so irritable; quite often it is because of his first realization of frustration, when opposed to things as they are.

Out of these feelings, undoubtedly, grew the sudden naming of the Gang "The Committee of Public Safety." Q said he had read of such a thing in a book of French history; but he was just as hazy as to details as the rest of us. We had little or no conception of its implication; nevertheless every time we used the title among ourselves, we flattered our own virtue. After a while, its use came to alter our viewpoint, making us critical of human motives, concerning which, hitherto, we had been more or less passive.

Too much amiability in our direction, immediately placed the person exhibiting it under the suspicion of the Committee of Public Safety. As an example, one of the clerks of the Executive Office was unfortunate, or unwise enough to try to worm himself into our good graces On the gravel path outside the offices, just at the moment that the President and a memb of the famous "Tennis Cabinet" were passing on their way to the courts. Q was gravely telling the clerk that we were all sure he, ". . . had some sinister plan in mind." The Committee of Public Safety was standing around the clerk in a solemn circle, striving to discover some signs of guilt in his countenance.

Competition
Quentin Leads in Acquiring Useful Words

TR heard the word "sinister," and halted abruptly. "'Sinister'?" he asked. "What in the world do you mean by that?"

When he realized that the President had heard Quentin's remark, the clerk trembled, turned crimson, then white. Q stammered something about it being a beautiful word, but that he was not quite exactly sure as to just what it meant. The committee shifted from one foot to the other, its members being, now, old enough to realize what it was to be self-conscious.

TR turned to his friend in flannels. "What a word!" he said. "Some newspaperman or other must be responsible for that!"

For some time following, there was active competition amongst us in the matter of acquiring words useful for oratory. But none of us could catch up with Q, who had a head-start with such breath-takers as "intrepidity, irrevocable, emphasis, strategic, inconscious"—which last I cannot find in any dictionary—and "humilitible," another unknown. But the phrase we liked best was "personal aggrandisement." When Q used it he would employ and emphasize all the syllables, enunciating them just as his father would. He coined several words for personal use, in mystifying people moreover, and would use them haphazardly, holding not at all to the original meanings he may have assigned to them. One of these, I remember, was "hohaverfast."

We all assisted at the coining of "hohaverfast." One spring afternoon we drove with Mrs. Roosevelt to Dr. Rixey's farm, crossing the river by the Aqueduct Bridge, and going on up into the undulating hills of Virginia. Medical Director Presley M. Rixey, then ranked Captain—later Admiral, was TR's personal physician. We rarely saw him unless he were booted and spurred, and riding over woodless hills, down into valleys, and up again against the sky-line. We would run with him as long as we were able, and then, exhausted, wait until he galloped back.

Mischief
Boys Put Burr Under Saddle of Horse

We all admired Dr. Rixey, and were very proud to hold his horse while he talked with Mrs. Roosevelt. We were all standing about the horse, under a chestnut tree. There were still some burrs on the ground, and Q very carefully slipped one of them under the saddle on Dr. Rixey's horse. The physician, having finished his conversation with Mrs. Roosevelt, returned, mounted, threw his right leg across the saddle, and was off to a thrilling leap followed by a furious gallop, around the house and out of sight. We all yelled, and it was then, that Q shouted "Hohaverfast!" I cannot explain the word unless it were that the Doctor was holding on ("ho") with everything he had ("haver") and going right away from there ("fast"). Quentin's mind worked quite as quickly as that.

Mrs. Roosevelt waited, some time, for Dr. Rixey to return. But he went miles, and did not re-appear that day.

Ingomar Man Held As Hit-Run Driver

Charles E. Vignere, 30, of Ingomar, was arrested early today charged with being the driver of an automobile which early last night ran down Carl Barry, 5, of 1322 Marvista street, North Side. Police said Vignere failed to stop after the accident. He was held in Woods Run Station on a charge of violation of the automobile laws.

JAIL REMOVAL OPPOSED BY COUNTY

Commissioners Assert Two Million Cost Bars Early Action on City's Suggestion

That the County Commissioners are against the removal of the county jail from its present site, for the time being at least, was evidenced yesterday when a letter was read to the board from Edward Lang, of the city Department of Public Works.

"Two million dollars is too much to even contemplate in the removal of our jail," C. C. McGovern, minority member, stated.

"Instead of thinking about this removal, which Mr. Lang says would relieve traffic congestion at that point, I suggest that Chairman Joseph Armstrong write Mr. Lang and recommend that the city remove the triangular obstruction near Diamond street. This is a traffic menace," he stated.

In his letter, Lang commended the proposed plan to increase the height of the new county office building to 15 stories, the removal of the county jail to an isolated spot and the remaking of the site into a downtown park and traffic circle.

BACK PRODUCT, ICE MEN TOLD

"Tell the virtuse of ice by the printed and spoken word, and also tell the weakness of what is offered in lieu of ice," was the advice given delegates to the twelfth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Ice Producers' Association by James Cullen, of Cincinatti, speaking at the closing session in the William Penn Hotel yesterday.

He spoke on "Ice Versus Chemical Refrigeration," and deplored advertising campaigns that recognized the necessity of attacking what competitors are offering.

"The future of our industry lies with you," he told the delegates.

Other speakers at the day's session were F. H. Ryder, of Cobleskill, N. Y.; A. J. Jeager, of Grand Rapids; George E. Whitwell, George E. Clarkson and John A. Brosky, of Pittsburgh, and Sam Freer, of Philadelphia.

Officers were re-elected at the afternoon session. They are: President, H. C. Reber, of Reading; vice presidents, I. E. Lannan, of McKeesport, and R. H. Barteaux, of Red Lion, and secretary-treasurer, Frank L. Dugagn, of Pittsburgh.

Business Contacts Held Peace Bonds

The surest guarantee against war in the future is the continued formation of international business agreements, Monsieur M. Garreau - Domhasle, commercial attache at the French embassy in Washington, said in an address yesterday at the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

France and America are mutual customers rather than trade rivals. We must endeavor to know each other better," the speaker said.

Pair Given $9,000 For Trolley Injury

Mrs. Elizabeth E. Galloway and her husband, Earl Galloway, of the East End, were awarded $9,000 damages in their suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company for injuries suffered by Mrs. Galloway. She was thrown to the street as a street car she was leaving started suddenly at Hamilton avenue and Sterrett street October 31, 1927, it was testified.

Fire in Cotton Room Causes $5,000 Loss

Fire in the cotton room on the fifth floor of the Royal Bedding Company, at 51 Chatham street, found its way through a chute to the upper floor and resulted in damage estimated at $5,000 late yesterday. The blaze was extinguished by firemen from No. 3 Engine Company.

Traffic Body Scans Ruling On Taxi Stand Status

A decision of the New York Supreme Court to the effect that taxicab stands on the public streets are for the use of any properly licensed taxicab, is being studied by the Better Traffic Committee here, inasmuch as it bears on one of the provisions of the proposed traffic ordinance for the city. The proposed ordinance here also holds that stands are for the use of any properly licensed cab.

The Supreme Court decision goes a bit further, according to Prof. L. W. McIntyre of the traffic committee, and states that private taxicab stands, as authorized in a city ordinance, are illegal, and that the provisions of the law itself are consequently null and void.

ACHILLES CATSONIS HARAL SIMOPOLOUS

M. Simopolous, Greek Minister to the U. S. and Mr. Catsonis, supreme secretary of the Order of Ahepa, in Pittsburgh to attend last night's Greco-American dinner at the William Penn.

GREEK ENVOY PRAISES RACE

Praise for his countrymen who have risen to positions of prominence in the United States was given last night by Charalambous Simopoulos, Greek minister to Washington, at a banquet of Aristotles Chapter, Order of Ahepa, in the William Penn Hotel. The event was in celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the independence of Greece, and was attended by 250 leading Greeks in the Pittsburgh district. Mayor Charles H. Kline and a number of prominent educators of the city.

The diplomat, after responding in English to Mayor H. Kline's welcome, spoke in Greek. He pointed out that the 15,000 Greeks in Allegheny County are typical of those who, inspired by the heritages of their own country, have developed into successful and patriotic citizens of their adopted land.

Other speakers were Archilles Catsonis, supreme secretary of the Ahepa; Lillian Demestichas, a senior at the University of Pittsburgh, and Theos E. Manos, attorney. Arthur Karkalos, supreme governor of the Third district of Ahepa, was toastmaster. George W. Bolanis was chairman of the banquet committee.

Minister Simopoulos was honor guest yesterday afternoon of N. J Hanna, local Greek leader, at a luncheon in the Keystone Athletic Club.

Rotarians to Act In Probationary Role for Boys

The members of the Rotary Club of McKean County are to watch the conduct of Stanley E. Hardy, 16, of Port Allegany, and Claude M. Rittberg, 18. If they become aware of any misconduct by the two youths they must report it to Federal Probation Officer George G. O'Brien.

This ruling was made by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson after the boys pleaded guilty to stealing letters from postoffice boxes at Port Allegany. Attorney Metcalft Catlin, pleading for leniency, told the court the Rotary Club, which is interested in boy welfare work, would act in the probationary role.

Judge Gibson placed the boys under two-year probation.

COUNCIL ASKED TO FIX STREET

Improvements to Shady avenue and Pocusset street, Squirrel Hill, were asked yesterday by a delegation from the Squirrel Hill Board of Trade, which appeared before Council. It was said that this section of Shady avenue had not been improved in years.

This street has been included in a program of improvements, the committee was told. It was estimated that about $25,000 will be required for the work. Councilman George J. Kambach moved that Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, be asked to report on how the surface of the street can be restored.

The delegation was led by Thomas O. Hasley. Others in the committee were George W. Lupton, Frank Brinkman, J. C. Sims, Sol S. Goldstein, Leo Rotherberg, W. M. Justice, George McKee, J. A. West, W. M. Egan and Earl Burke.

IMMEDIATE DECISION ASKED

Three Prominent Citizens See Delay as Depriving District of Advantages

Three more prominent citizens called today for immediate building of the Town Hall. They expressed no preference as to site, but urged the County Commissioners to proceed at once to carry out the voters' mandate.

The Town Hall is "a vital necessity," said one, a railroad executive, and lack of it is depriving the city of important conventions. It will serve to advertise Pittsburgh's products and promote education, said another.

C. M. Yohe, vice president of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, said:

BUILD AT ONCE

"I am heartily in favor of the immediate selection of a site for the Town Hall and the construction of the building without further delay. It would be a wonderful thing for Pittsburgh. Indeed, I regard it as a vital necessity.

"How great the need for such an auditorium is has been brought home to us forcibly in our efforts to bring great conventions to the city. I am not publicly advocating any particular location. My view is that wherever it may be located, there should be prompt action."

Col. Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute, said

"It is my feeling that the Town Hall ought to be built immediately as one great contribution on the part of Pittsburgh toward the settlement of the question of unemployment.

"The people have already duly authorized this great enterprise, which will have tremendous value in the exhibition and exploitation of our commercial output, beside being a constant rallying ground for things which make up the entertainment and instruction of our population."

DEMAND ACTION

Norman Allderdice, president of the Arch Machinery Company and other corporations, said:

"I think the County Commissioners should do something about the Town Hall now—not postpone it indefintely. I have not studied the merits of the various locations suggested. I am not interested in any particular site. But I am strongly interested in having something done promptly."

Braddock Man Dies, Injury Investigated

How Raymond Wisniewski, 37, of 536½ Cherry way, Braddock, suffered a fractured skull which caused his death last night in the Braddock General Hospital was being investigated by deputy coroners and county detectives today.

The victim, who was admitted to the hospital Sunday, told his sister, detectives say, that he suffered the injury in a fall down the steps near his home. One of Wisniewski's friends informed the sister that her brother had been struck on the head by a Negro.

Councilmen Shun Wager On South Side 'Bums'

A ten-dollar hat? Not one of four councilmen would take a chance against that bet offered by W. H. Zoller, of the South Side Market.

He offered to give any one of the four present a ten-dollar chapeau if he failed to show them a dozen "bums and drunks" loafing outside the South Side Markethouse.

Zoller, accompanied by a large committee from the South Side appeared in Council to protest against the removal of the market house. Those present were members of the South Side Business Men's Association.

Their chief grievance, aside from the removal of the market house, apparently was the condition of the comfort stations located near the market house entrance. This condition was ordered repaired.

Another objection came when Zoller protested against the presence of "bums" in large numbers near the entrances. The police arrest them, he said, but they are discharged by the magistrate in the morning.

Then he bet the hat. No one took him up. The general concensus of opinion of Council seemed to be that the market house should remain "as is."

Magistrate John J. Sweeney and Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh are to be consulted by Councilman George J. Kambach as to the best method of getting rid of loafers, who according to testimony infest the place.

BANDITS ESCAPE IN RUNNING GUN BATTLE DOWNTOWN

ROBBERS ELUDE PURSUERS IN BOULEVARD

Bullets Fly as Cars Speed Over Bridge After Holdup; Beechview Store Looted

Police and detectives today scoured the Pittsburgh district for three armed men who late last night robbed Sam Schreiber, owner of the Anderson Pharmacy, 222 Anderson street, North Side, and escaped in an automobile after a gun battle with a policeman in a commandeered car.

More than a dozen shots were fired as the bandit car, closely followed by one commandeered by Patrolman Leonard Brown, raced across the Ninth Street Bridge to Liberty avenue and then south to the Boulevard of the Allies, where the bandits outdistanced the police car.

AUTO ABANDONED

A short time later the car, with three bullet holes in the rear, was found abandoned at Smithfield street and the boulevard. It had been stolen from Joseph Thieker, of 315 Antenor street, Carrick, half an hour before the robbery.

Schreiber was closing his drug store shortly before midnight when the holdup occurred.

ROB BEECHVIEW STORE

As they sped away in their automobile Schreiber ran down the street, and met Patrolman Brown. They boarded a passing automobile and gave chase.

Half way across the bridge they caught up with the fleeing bandits, and Brown opened fire from the running board. The bandits also opened fire, but all of the shots went wild.

An hour before the Schreiber holdup three armed men held up the drug store of Edward Johnson, 1665 Broadway, Beechview, took $50 from the cash register and $12 from David Lobiner, of 300 Ferry street, a customer, and escaped. When the men entered Johnson saved a wallet containing $300 by dropping it and kicking it beneath a counter.

Three armed men held up John Harris, owner of a confectionery at 7922½ Frankstown avenue, and James Iannutti, of 922 Wheeler street, a customer in the place, shortly after 4 a. m. today, and escaped with $73.

Two Acquitted In Robbery Charge

A question of whether it was a revolver or an automobile tool that was waved in the face of Adrian Frederick, 474 Velonda street, a truck driver for Donahoe's, won acquittal in Criminal court for William P. Morris, Jr., Ninth street, Elizabeth and Daniel B. Black, of Brentwood. They were tried for attempted robbery, it being alleged that on January 30 one of them pointed a gun at Frederick and attempted to halt him while he was driving on the highway near Versailles.

Thomson Scholarship Exams Arranged

Competitive examinations will be held in June to fill two vacancies next fall in the Frank Thomson scholarships, which are available to sons of living or deceased employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad system, according to E. W. Smith, vice president. Income from a trust fund, established in 1907 by the children of Frank Thomson, former president of the company, in memory of their father, provides eight scholarships.

VIADUCT BIDS AUTHORIZED BY COUNTY

Turtle Creek Project Estimated at $3,500,000; Cost Will Be Divided

Authorization to advertise for bids on the new George Westinghouse viaduct along the Lincoln Highway at Turtle Creek, was granted to Controller Robert Woodside by the county commissioners yesterday.

The project, when completed, will cost approximately $3,500,000. Of this amount the county will furnish $1,680,000, chargeable to the commissioners' bridge bonds. The project was authorized sometime ago in an agreement with the Pennsylvania department of highways, who will pay half the cost.

Approaches to the bridge will be included in the amount.

The span, which will be 1,700 feet long, was designed by the Bureau of Bridges and the County Department of Public Works. It will be the largest arch structure of this type in the country, and will reach 200 feet above the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and the Turtle Creek Valley.

A bottle neck of Turtle Creek and East Pittsburgh streets will be eliminated and traffic will be expedited.

The combined road and bridge improvement, will effect a shortening of distance and will eliminate a long 10 per cent grade.

The new cut off will leave the present highway near the East McKeesport borough line, through North Versailles Township, East Pittsburgh and North Braddock boroughs and terminate near the intersection of Ardmore boulevard and Electric avenue.

MEMORIAL HALL REPAIRS VOTED

Contention of Soldiers' Memorial Hall attaches that slow elevator service provided a problem in emptying the building quickly, was frowned on yesterday when the Allegheny county commissioners decided to repair the lifts at a cost of $2,152 instead of installing new ones, totaling an outlay of $12,000.

"The Memorial Hall returns approximately $500 a year in rentals," said Commissioner C. C. McGovern.

"When we repair the elevators it'll take four years to pay the expense. The installation of new apparatus is not likely at this time. The service is fast enough," he said.

The outlay of $2,152 will be used to install new cables, safety gates and wire on the cabs. The repairs should last for at least four or five years, it was explained.

Fraternity to Plan For December Meet

Plans for the national convention of Phi Epsilon Pi in Pittsburgh December 29, 30 and 31 will be discussed at a banquet of 250 members of the Pittsburgh chapter in the William Penn Hotel Sunday night. Men prominent in business life of the city will be speakers.

Injured in Crash Fireman Asks $25,000

Alfred L. Henley, hoseman of the Pittsburgh fire department, asked $25,000 damages for injuries sustained in a collision between an automobile and fire truck in a suit against Thomas Wilson, of Wilkinsburg, in Common Pleas Court. Henley averred his left leg was broken when he was thrown from the rear step of the fire truck after it had been struck by the automobile of Wilson January 4 last at Fifth and Penn avenues.

HONOR PRIEST AT SEWICKLEY

The Rev. William P. Curtin, pastor of St. James' Catholic Church, Sewickley, who next Tuesday will observe the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination, will be honored by residents of Sewickley at a reception in Guild Hall, that borough, Tuesday night. He has been pastor of St. James' Church since 1914.

The Rev. Mr. Curtin has long been a civic leader in Sewickley and one of his undertakings was the building of Guild Hall, now a community center. He was born in Toronto, Ont., and in 1905 was ordained at St. Vincent's Seminary. He served as assistant pastor at Holy Cross Church, Pittsburgh, and then took a post graduate course at Washington.

GIVES $20,000 TO AID JEWS

A $20,000 contribution to the Allied Jewish $6,000,000 Campaign for Eastern European relief and the reconstruction of Palestine, has been made by Judge and Mrs. Josiah Cohen, of Pittsburgh, it was learned today.

The jurist and his wife sent a telegram to the New York headquarters of the campaign, the telegram reading as follows:

"The inauguration of the Allied Jewish Campaign in which all the strength of American Jewish manhood and womanhood are for the first time joined in a common bond for the aid of suffering Jews overseas where ever there is need for help, is a notable and historical event in Israel. In recognition of the urgent need abroad of the value of united effort, and in memory of our loved ones, Aaron Naumburg and his wife, Nellie Goldsmith Naumburg, we hereby subscribe $20,000 to this inspiring cause."

FINDS WORLD TIRED OF WAR

Declaring the world too tired of conflict, and looking only to the development of industry, Chester H. Rowell, regent of the University of California, last night predicted there will be no more wars for 20 years.

Declaring the world too tired of conflict, and looking only to the development of industry, Chester H. Rowell, regent of the University of California, last night predicted there will be no more wars for 20 years.

He addressed students of four educational institutions in Pittsburgh at a meeting in the Y. M. & Y. W. H. A., Bellefield avenue, under auspices of the inter-college committee, headed by Joseph Levine, University of Pittsburgh senior.

The value of the Kellogg peace pact, he said, is in that it outlaws war and provides a specific means for the arbitration of international disputes.

Hearing on Rail Grade Crossing Held

Commissioner S. Ray Shelby, of the Public Service Commission, yesterday heard the application of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad Company for permission to construct a crossing below grade on a public highway leading northerly from Pricedale. The highway in question connects with a public road in Rostraver Township, between West Newton and Fayette City.

LEGION GIVES FLAG TO COURT

A large American flag and pictures of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt were presented to Juvenile Court yesterday morning at an informal gathering in the courtroom. Judge D. Paulson Foster received the gifts for the court.

The flag was the gift of the American Legion, represented by William H. McNaugher, who delivered the presentation address. Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence offered the picture of Roosevelt as a token of her appreciation of the work which the court has been doing. The picture of Washington was given by the Sons of the American Revolution. W. J. Askin, Jr., president of the state society, presented the picture. Alfred E. Schwenke, county commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, offered the picture of Lincoln.

Speakers of the various organizations and Mrs. Lawrence stressed the influence which the gifts would exert over juvenile delinquents and praised the work accomplished by the detention home.

Judge Foster will display the flag and pictures in his court room.

Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Should a wife cook her husband's breakfast, even if it means arising at 5 a. m.?

HILDA EIBEN, Carrick, stenographer: "Sure, I would. You can go to bed again afterward. It's better for a man to get good food at home. Cheaper, too. A woman ought to be willing to do that much. Why shouldn't she, if her husband's willing to work for her all day long?"

Miss Eiben

EDWARD DOLAWAY, Oakland, shoe salesman: "Oh, I'd leave it up to her. If she's that willing, o. k. If she's not, I wouldn't press her. It's not her duty to get up that early, though. I'd be willing to let her rest and get my breakfast down town or get my own breakfast."

Edward Dolaway

LATSHAW H. FRAZEE, Esplen, cigar salesman: "If I went to work that early, mine would do it for me, because she says that's part of the day's work. I really think it is a woman's duty, at least. You marry 'em and they're supposed to go along with you and bear their share of the work."

L. H. Frazee

MILDRED DAUENHAUER, South Hills, bookkeeper: "That's kind of tough, but what're you going to do if you have to? He can't make you do it, of course, but that's what you're supposed to do if you marry. That prospect wouldn't keep me from marrying."

Miss Dauenhauer

MADELYN WOHLGEMUTH, East End, clerk: "I think it's perfectly all right. It's the duty of a wife to provide meals for a good husband. If I was working, I would still get up. Then I'd set the house in order before going to work. We'd be happier for that sacrifice."

Miss Wohlgemuth

DOROTHY MATTHEWS, North side, bookkeeper: "Sure, if she loves him. Otherwise, no. It wouldn't be fun, but it would be her duty. When I get married, I'll certainly do that much, if it's necessary. Of course, if they don't love each other, there's no reason why they should do such another, I guess. But a good wife would."

MANUFACTURERS ORGANIZE TO COMBAT FREIGHT RAISE

DISTRICT FACES LOSS OF MANY MARKETS

Tariff Effective May 20 Affects Iron and Steel Products Finished Here

Pittsburgh manufacturers of iron and steel articles will make a strong protest against the Interstate Commerce Commission's proposal to increase freight rates on manufactured iron and steel articles within the Pittsburgh industrial district. This was decided yesterday at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce when the business men listened to Donald O. Moore, manager of the chamber's traffic division, explain what the proposed increase would mean.

It was contended by the business men who attended the meeting that the added tariff would place this city at a disadvantage with outside competitors.

SUPPORT ASKED

Mr. Moore announced that the Pittsburgh Chamber would be asked at its directors meeting today to give its support to the local business interests protesting the rate changes. A committee has been appointed to assemble evidence to present before the commission if the requested hearing is granted.

If a hearing is granted it probably will be held in Pittsburgh in the near future as the proposed rate schedule has been ordered effective May 20.

SEE ADDED COSTS

The consensus of those attending the meeting was that local industries of large proportions would be faced with an increase of freight expenditures, amounting in some cases to $150,000 per year. To approximate the proposed increase in dollars and cents to manufacturers in the district, questionnaires were distributed, to be returned within a week. These will be used by local groups in event the hearing is granted.

$10,000 GIVEN KELLY ROAD

Kelly road, in Forward Township from Lock No. 3, and Elkhorn road to the Pittsburgh Coal Company sub-station, will receive approximately $10,000 aid from Allegheny County.

Yesterday the county commissioners, headed by Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong, approved a request that aid be furnished for completion of the project.

Total cost will be in the neighborhood of $36,000. State aid will amount to $9,728.36. Forward Township's share will be $26,271.64. The county's $10,000 will cover part of the township outlay.

Work will be started as soon as the weather permits and the job will be rushed to completion at the earliest possible date, it was said.

RUFFINO, ILL, GAINS DELAY

In poor physical condition, Joseph Ruffino, 32, of Bridgeville, appeared in Federal court yesterday and after pleading guilty to violations of the prohibition law, was placed on probation. This was the second time that he has been placed on probation within eight days.

On his last appearance in court, Federal Probation Officer George G. O'Brien informed Judge R. M. Gibson the defendant was greatly in need of medical attention. He said he believed he could have Ruffino accepted in the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, with the assistance of the American Legion and War Veterans Bureau.

Ruffino was first placed on probation March 4, for two years, when he pleaded guilty of transporting moonshine whisky. Afterwards it was learned he had another liquor charge pending against him under the name of "Teddy Roberts." He was called back into court and again pleaded guilty. Between the time of the two offenses he was badly crippled in an automobile accident.

The second probation is to run concurrently with the first.

Purdue Educator Will Speak Here

LIQUOR FOUND, AUTO SEIZED

Gerald C. Hahne, 30, of 7 West Willock road, Brentwood, was at liberty on a $500 bail bond following his arrest last night, when dry agents seized his automobile which they said contained two gallons of moonshine.

Hahne stopped the car and a woman alighted and walked towards the butcher shop of Gilbert Miller, at 709 Brownsville road, which was being raided at the time. Observing the agents, the woman, it was reported, nodded for Hahne to drive away. Just then the raiders ran into the street, arrested Hahne and seized his automobile. Miller, in whose shop 10 pints of moonshine were confiscated, was released on his own recognizance.

Forcing the door of a club at 1205 Main street, Sharpsburg, the dry agents reported finding 778 pints of home brew and arresting John A. Udams, 36. In a dwelling at 12 Maryland street, Millvale, 600 pints of home brew were discovered but no arresteds were made, agents said.

RIGHT OF WAY OPPOSED

Right of eminent domain is being employed by the West Penn Power Company in an effort to construct a transmission line across a tract of land in Chartiers Township, Washington County, owned by Lydia A. King.

It cropped out yesterday in the hearing before Examiner W. E. Best of the Public Service Commission that permission to construct the line had been obtained by the power company, from all land owners for a distance of seven miles, except in the King case.

If the commission grants the power company the privilege of crossing the King property, it will place the owner of the land in position to fight a damage case in Common Pleas Court, in Washington County.

ROAD CLEARING BIDS ASKED

County Controller Robert Woodside was given permission by the Allegheny County commissioners yesterday to seek bids for clearing the right-of-way on the reconstruction of state highway route No. 246 from Westview to the Pines.

Estimated cost of the contract will be around $15,500, the commissioners were informed.

Most of the reconstruction work is along a new location through private properties. As a result the county, according to Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong, is obligated by law to pay all damages, which will amount to $52,500. The Pennsylvania Department of Highways will reconstruct the road.

Westland Miner Dies of Injuries

Irwin Conn, 45, of Westland, died early today in Mercy Hospital from injuries suffered several hours before when he was crushed between two coal cars in the Westland mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, according to a morgue report.

HEFFNER TRIAL NEARS CLOSE

Mrs. Elizabeth Heffner, 30 Negress, on trial in Criminal court for the murder last December 9, of her common law mate, James Forsyne, 36, Negro, in their home at 551 Lowell street, may learn her fate late today. The defense was expected to close its case so that the arguments and charge could be completed during the afternoon.

Mrs. Heffner was on the witness stand in her own defense most of yesterday. She described a drinking party attended by her and Forsyne the night of the killing, saying they sent out for a fresh quart of red wine every hour, paying $2 a quart. She said Forsyne had introduced her to someone as Mrs. Heffner, instead of as Mrs. Forsyne and this angered her. Forsyne took her to their home a few doors away and then went to bed, and, the woman said, she was so angry with him that she did not know what she was doing when she stabbed him with an ice pick and slashed him many times with a razor.

Wins Suit Against County for Injury

A verdict of $8,575 damages against the County of Allegheny and the Borough of Millvale was awarded Joseph Seelnacht, of Mt. Washington, by a jury in Common Pleas Court before Judge George V. Moore. Seelnacht alleged he was seriously injured when his automobile skidded on the Millvale approach to the Washington Crossing bridge over the Allegheny River December 24, 1927, and crashed against a pole.

The county and borough were charged with negligence in permitting ice to accumulate on the roadway.

Course Director At Academy Named

J. F. Kinsley, for 20 years engaged in sale, public accounting and educational work, has taken up his new position as director of courses at the Pittsburgh Academy. He formerly was head of the business training courses at California Normal and the Vandergrift high schools.

In assuming his new duties, Mr. Kinsley said that "progressive educational institutions today must adapt their instruction to the changing conditions of business and of the professions." He declared that the instructor of today realizes the necessity of close contact with the field for which he is preparing students.

Congress' Educational Department Rapid Growth Reviewed

THE educational department of the Congress of Clubs that began as a committee five years ago "with 29 members and 50 cents" (as the chairman, Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, put it yesterday) will end this year with a mailing membership of 500, 82 scholarship awards of various kinds and an endowed fund of $3,000.

Of the usual array of introductions, honor guests, speeches and other entertainment features which always mark these departmental meetings, yesterday's highlight was the address of Frank M. McKibben, head of the department of religious education at the University of Pittsburgh. In opening, Prof. McKibben paid a tribute to the much discussed "younger generation," saying that under the superficial veneer which they are forced to assume in this day of changing, tempestuous living, there is just as much wholesomeness, response to good and just as much character as among the men and women who made this nation.

Speaking of what he termed "the complete secularization of education," Prof. McKibben said: "We are facing a serious divorcement of religion from education, the full effect of which we may not at once sense. The program of education is being pressed until it is synonomous with life, but if it does not include a belief in God, which is a great source of inspiration for high and fine living, boys and girls are being given a false impression. Religion must come into a more effective place in the total education of children."

Prof. McKibben believes that this is not wholly a problem of public schools, but that week-day religious schools may solve it in part.

Other honor guests who spoke briefly were Mrs. Mary J. Cowley, of the Board of Public Education; Miss Marie McSwigan, president of the Women's Press Club; George Seibel, of the Sun-Telegraph, and Howard Carroll, of the Post-Gazette. Music consisted of piano solos by Mrs. J. A. Esler and duets by her and her daughter, Miss Louise Esler.

Mrs. Miller announced an illustrated lecture on Turkey by the Rev. Samuel M. Laing, which the Pittsburgh Academy will sponsor in its auditorium Tuesday night as a benefit for the educational department.

THE sixth annual alumnae council is taking place today and tomorrow at Pennsylvania College for Women. About 300 invitations, the largest number ever sent out, have been issued to the four alumnae trustees, the executive board of the alumnae association, chairman of committees, Decade presidents, class secretaries from 1873 to 1929, chairmen of local and distant districts, associate members in Pittsburgh, honorary members of the alumnae association and members of the building fund committee.

The program today began at 9:30 o'clock, in Berry Hall drawing room, with a greeting from Mrs. George M. Swan, president of the alumnae association. Miss M. Helen Marks spoke for the college and Dr. H. Clay Skinner for the faculty. At 11 o'clock Miss Marks discussed "College News" and Miss Eleanor Taylor, field work.

After luncheon Miss Marian Jobson reported on the progress of the building fund and Dr. J. S. Kinder talked on "Follow-Up of the Pennsylvania Study of Higher Education."

The remainder of the afternoon is given over to reports by the various scholarship committees and chairmen of other activities.

Tomorrow at 11 o'clock Dr. and Mrs. Andre Morize will talk on "Dance Music—Old and New," following which there will be a luncheon in Woodland Hall. Other speakers will be Miss Mary Louise Sucoop on the Geneva conference and Miss Nia L. Butler on "Pompeian Wall Paintings."

GOWNS OF BLACK LACE ARE VERY ENCHANTING

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, March 13.—Black magic is surely woven into the gossamer threads of delicate black lace, for it seems to lend an aura of beauty and enchantment to the wearer as does no other material. Black lace frocks have been seen at ever so many Riviera resorts this season, their delicate beauty being particularly alluring in the jewel like settings of the casinos and flowered terraces that overlook the blue waters of the Mediterranean. Chantilly has been about the most successful pattern, and some Spanish lace has also been seen. The long, gracious lines that obtain at present are distinctly suitable to the soft folds of lace that have such a charming slenderizing effect and lend a youthful dignity to the figure. But one word of caution, lace must be good, otherwise the effect will be tawdry, rather than gracious and alluring.

ONE of the loveliest of the wealth of attractive evening gowns displayed in the current Lelong collection is the model sketched. It is of delicate black lace and the upper part of the frock is quite unadorned and is belted at a moderately high waistline. Interest focusses on the original arrangement of finely pleated flounces on either side of the skirt. These swing and ripple in a charming manner with every step. They reach in deep part to the floor at either side. A necklace of crystal rondels is worn with this creation, a particularly happy choice.

THE other sketch is of a youthful frock from Drevoll-Beer. It is of dark blue woolen fabric with an almost invisible silk thread of white. The mixed blue and white selvedge is used to border the deep curving decolletage and makes the belt and sleeve trimming. The jumper is worn over a chemise of white pique which shows in the deep decolletage like a gilet and also, being several inches longer than the jumper is again seen in a band about the hips below the edge of the jumper.

THE collar and cuffs are of pique and a large satin bow forms a tie in front. The box-pleated skirt of comfortable length is stitched in pleats to a point reaching nearly to the knees.

Who would have believed then that ONE COFFEE could change the tastes of a NATION!

IN the leisurely days before industry began to hum in the Old South, America's coffee cups were filled with many different kinds of coffee. Presently, the old Maxwell House, the epicurean dining place of Dixie, began to serve a special coffee. The news spread. So rare and mellow was this blend that all who made its acquaintance agreed there had never been a coffee so smooth, so satisfying, so fragrant in aroma, so delightfully rich in flavor.

Each succeeding year more and more people sought for their own tables the inimitable goodness of Maxwell House Coffee. Each year more and more people changed to this prized blend that still echoes clearly the luxurious living of the Old South. Today in millions of homes its rare and mellow flavor is daily enjoyed.

Why don't you try Maxwell House Coffee? Why not serve it tomorrow? You will find it in a friendly blue tin at your grocer's, and if you are not completely satisfied, he will gladly return your money.

RESERVE BOARD FAVORS BANK RATE CUT

Body Ready to Approve Reductions as Further Stimulant to Business

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Business will have an adequate supply of cheap capital available for the reawakening which President Hoover predicts within less than 60 days.

Federal Reserve Board officials today were ready to approve further reductions in the rediscount rates from the present level of 4 per cent at the New York, Boston, Chicago and Kansas City banks, and 4½ per cent at the other institutions.

Members of the board declined to anticipate the possible action of the New York bank directorate, which meets today. It was the opinion that a reduction in the rate to 3½ per cent would be discussed; also that the cut eventually would be made, although not necessarily today.

AID TO TRADE

The reduction in the New York rate would serve a double purpose. From the domestic standpoint it would have a wholesome psychological effect through encouragement to business by holding out the promise of lower commercial rates, and paving the way for a reduction at the other banks. Internationally, it would place the New York rate a half per cent below that of the Bank of England, thus protecting the London reserve by reducing the likelihood of a large movement of gold to United States.

America has plenty of gold and the government has no desire to further upset the European economic situation by undermining the reserves of the trans-Atlantic countries.

EXPANDING CREDIT SUPPLY

The reserve system also has under consideration extensive open-market operations which would put about $100,000,000 additional money at the disposal of the commercial interests. This would be accomplished through purchases of government securities, the present holding of which is approximately $450,000,000.

Confidence was expressed at the Treasury that the combined effect of these movements will prove of material assistance to those who are co-operating with the President to get business back on a sounder basis and to reduce unemployment. Government leaders expressed the opinion that the assurances given President Hoover and Secretary Lamont of about $7,000,000,000 in public and private construction this year, coupled with the certainty of attractive commercial interest rates, may change the situation of gloom which has prevailed since the stock market break.

Briggs Company Expands Activity

Real Estate Board Asks Jail Removal

The Pittsburgh Real Estate Board has gone on record as favoring the removal of the county jail and the use of the ground bounded by Fifth and Sixth avenues, Diamond and Ross streets, for a public park. A resolution to that effect has been submitted to the County Commissioners. It sets forth that Allegheny County needs both a modern jail building and a public square.

Dry Law Violator Fined in Contempt

Matt Bozich, whose place on Railroad avenue, Johnstown, was subject to a preliminary injunction, was fined $500 today by Judge R. M. Gibson in Federal Court on a contempt of court charge. It was alleged Bozich violated the pending injunction by selling illicit liquor.

Biscuit May Pay $3 on New Stock

If National Biscuit's earnings for 1930 continue along the present satisfactory lines, it is probable directors will pay aggregate dividends of $3 a share on the new stock this year. This will take the form of a regular dividend on the new stocks. A split of 2½ for 1 of old stock, of $2.80 a share and later in the year a dividend of 20 cents a share on the new stock which would bring the total up to $3.

Last year an aggregate of $7.50 a share was declared on the old stock.

U. S. ADMITS 17 OF RUSS PARTY

NEW YORK, March 13—(AP.)—Seventeen Russians, members of a group of 20 representatives of the Soviet government, were permitted to enter the United States yesterday after having been detained for 24 hours at Ellis Island.

The other three members of the party, a man, wife and child, were excluded on the ground that they might become public charges. They will be returned to Russia.

Of the 17 admitted, two were allowed to enter without bond while the other 15 posted bonds of $500 each.

The Russians, who are said to have come to the United States as representatives of the Soviet to study American industrial methods, arrived on the White Star Liner Majestic.

CHICKIE

Fate Cheats Stella Wilson Of a Husband

CHAPTER XXXII.

STELLA WILSON, on her way to the dressing room, passed Chickie's desk. She walked with a kind of angry violence that struck Chickie with curiosity. Half an hour later Stella had not returned.

A note from Janina dropped in Chickie's lap. "Wonder what's biting the old girl now. Better go out and kid her along. You're good at the soft stuff. Maybe her lifelong suitor has given her the ditch as I've predicted he would."

Stella was given to moods of frightful depression. Chickie was tacitly elected by the four other girls in the office to act as sympathizer: to listen pityingly while Stella poured out the grievances of her 30 years.

The office was acquainted with Stella's furious wrongs. She was brought up with two older sisters under strict Methodist discipline. These two sisters were also unmarried and still dependent upon their father for support.

They regarded Stella as "the baby." Even at her present age they exercised vigilant censorship over her personal affairs. If she came home late they or the father and mother demanded an explanation.

The upshot of it was that Stella had no poise, no self-sufficiency, no repose. She was a good-looking girl, but her flighty mind gave the lie to her strong, attractive face. She was a flat failure with men, except for John Bluely. John had been on the verge of proposing for seven years. He was Stella's perennial hope of matrimony.

Twice in the six months she had been in the office he had taken her dancing. She wore roses to work the next day and typed in a dream, believing that at last John had capitulated. At 24 she could have married him. Her mother, in some mysterious way—whether by passing down the hall, sneezing or an inauspicious cough—was credited with scaring him off. He never quite made up his mind again.

Advice From Janina

Stella considered her life blighted. She blamed her family.

Janina and she had frequent clashes. Once Janina said: "Stella, I'll give you a tip. Follow it and you'll land a husband in a month.

"Here it is—live up to the guarantee given by your phiz. You've got the queenly look, why don't you take your cue from that and sit quiet on your throne when a man comes all primed to bend the knee? Men worship the woman they serve. They think she must be pretty good to get them to her feet. They value the thing that costs whether they're got to pay in money or in time or in labor.

"Another thing—don't flash all your idiotic ideas in the first sitting. They'll keep. Throw a mist over the pool and they won't see how shallow it is. Leave them something to angle for. Once they see to the bottom it's goodby to the best of us!"

At first Stella listened as though the word of revelation were forthcoming. When the dig took on a personal twist, her lips curved with tigerish indignation. She stalked out of the dressing room, banging the door. She didn't speak to Janina for two weeks.

She had the look of an outraged animal on her face now as Chickie found her sitting on the window sill, smoking. Her eyes were red. She averted her head sharply: "Well—is Lewis asking where I am?"

Reason to Feel Blue

"No." Chickie slipped her arm about Stella's waist. "What's wrong?"

Tartly, "Nothing!"

"Stella—aw, it's a shame things are so hard for you. Some people get it in the neck, all right, don't they?"

Stella's mouth began to tremble. She pressed her knuckles against her chin. But she listened avidly to the balm Chickie had learned to pour very soothingly over Stella's hurts.

She kept biting her lip and frowning. Tears trickled slowly into her eyes.

"Humph—well, you'll know of it, anyhow!" Grudgingly she drew an envelope from her pocket and half flung it at Chickie. "Makes it nice for some people, doesn't it? But you bet if I had a gun he'd not get away with it!"

The envelope contained a marriage announcement—John Bluely and Eva Bowman. The wedding had taken place the night previous.

Stella's eyes were now miserable with woe. Short, sobbing breaths shook through her. Chickie was so completely shocked she could find no solace to offer. She stared at the announcement and tucked it carefully back in its envelope.

Stella doubled it over and over. "I suppose you think it's good enough for me? Anything's good enough for a fool!"

Chickie protested weakly. "Didn't you know anything at all about it, Stella?"

"No! Well—he went out with her. She's just been scheming to get him for the last five years—giving dinners and having all her friends roping him in. Lot my people would do for me! At my age—30—the last time he called father came in and squatted and never even budged when he was stalling around waiting to say goodnight!"

"You had no right to stand for it. You had your own money. Why didn't you meet him on the outside?"

Stella's lips twisted scornfully. "Outside! I didn't have sense enough when John Bluely first met me to come in out of the rain. I was taught to believe that the more distance a girl put between herself and a man the more he strove to win her. Any old time! Perch yourself in the clouds and you'll find some one else in his arms!"

Chickie laughed, but Stella grew hysterical. "You bet—well, you'll all see—after all these years—"

Had Been Engaged

"You were engaged, weren't you, Stella?"

"Of course we were! It was all settled. I didn't have a ring, if that's what you mean. Well—what would you think if a man had been hanging around for seven years?"

The last words trailed. Stella said furiously: "Lord—I can't go back to that office. I'll not go back. When I think of things! If I had my life to live over again—you bet I'd not be the fool I was."

"Oh, you couldn't do any different, Stella. It wasn't your fault."

"Couldn't do any different! Couldn't I though!" She nodded her head with angry passion. Oh, I couldn't? Well, let me tell you, if I was twenty-four again, and knew what I know today, I'd live!"

Janina's voice, clear and sharp as a little sword cut through the hot agitation. "You're young yet, Stella! Lots of time. You've still got good looks enough."

Stella threw an imploring glance at Chickie, frowning and touching her pocket where the announcement lay. She turned to the basin and began bathing her eyes. "Don't knock before entering, Janina. It's none of your business! I'm talking to Chickie."

Janina came over and put her hand on Stella's shoulder. "Well, it's too bad, ole kid. I saw it in the papers just now. It's the best thing that ever happened to you. Now you won't be harking back to the time you were 24. Thirty's a good age. Look at it that way, Stella."

Janina's Philosophy

"You shut up, Janina Knowles! I don't need any sympathy from you! Chickie, get my hat. Tell Lewis I'm not coming back. Tell him I'm sick."

"Well," said Janina when Stella was gone, "if this is an example of virtue being its own reward, who wants it?"

With a flash of wisdom, Chickie answered: "Don't blame virtue for the sins of stupidity, Janina."

"One and the same, most of the time, Chickie! Takes a clever woman to succeed in spite of her goodness. But I'll admit there's not much hope for the women of Stella's type. The conventions of the past shackled their bodies; the freedom of today dooms their minds.

"Takes a real daughter of Eve to be free for joy and not for license. I mean it, Chickie. It's just as I told you—a women must use her brains to brake her heart. They can scream at the top of their lungs for equality—they'll never be the peers of men until they become superior to their own emotions. There's the road they've got to travel. If we throw over the restraint we've got to substitute huge gobs of hard-boiled common sense. The girl that gets away with a lov affair is the girl that doesn't let it get away with her. Old order or new—Stella was a cinch to lose."

"Do you think she'll commit suicide?"

"Don't be a fool!"

Janina folded her arms and stared at Chickie until the blood dashed in Chickie's white skin.

"Yes," said Janina, "it's tough—and it's true. Take a leaf from Stella's book, Chickie, or the first thing you know it will be written into your own!"

Chickie laughed. She snuggled her head against Janina's shoulder: "A beautiful critter like me, Janina? Don't sacrifice your sense just to make a good epigram. And at my expense."

"Stella must have been a rarin' beauty at 24! Well—you see what John does at 30! And men are all alike."

"Good-night, prophet!" Chickie snapped her fingers. The picture of Stella seared into her thoughts.

In the afternoon Janina caught her flirting with Barry Dunne. Chickie went back to her typewriter. Her fingers fumbled over the keys. She made so many mistakes she had to retype four letters.

By FAY KING

MANY a girl falls in love and marries a man because he is such a great big, tall, good-looking Adonis.

And instead of being the powerful, wonderful, protector she expected, has found out that she has married a big baby!

Only the other day I saw a mite of a wife trying to drag her great big helpless timid husband through the traffic.

I have known half a dozen pint-sized wives who wait hand and foot upon the man mountain they have married.

I've seen one of these handsome hulks hover in the background while his wee wife, fearless, braved the bargain counter to exchange the misfits he had bought.

A lot of these big guys are just always hungry and tired.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Loves Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Wants Mary to Tell of Attack on Noel

"YOU appear to have a full schedule this evening," Dicky gibed as the door closed after Harry Underwood. "Let's see! You have to type that Brixton letter from memory for Harry, interview Mary and pull the real story of the accident to Noel out of her, and get ready to drive to the farm in the morning. I'll bet you'll be packing all night, as per usual."

I caught back a retort eminently truthful, but calculated to rouse his wrath. He had omitted—genuinely forgotten, I knew—the request he had made to find the clothing which he insisted the laundry had failed to return to him and which would take up more time than all my other tasks combined. It is a favorite fiction with Dicky that I am up most of the night before taking a journey. That I am busy for hours before a journey is a fact, but it is not with my own packing. I always keep an emergency bag packed for myself similar to the one I keep rigidly hidden for Dicky, only to be brought out when he is summoned out of town from his studio and has only a few minutes for preparation. And I pride myself upon always having my clothing in readiness for any summons. But Dicky will neither keep his room and his clothing in order nor permit anyone else, even me, to arrange it daily.

Socks, shirts, ties, handkerchiefs, underwear, are jumbled heaps through which he fumbles frantically for the things he immediately needs, calling on me for help when his impatient fingers fail to find what he wants. Whenever I am called away I coax him to take some other room for the night and then put everything in order for him, telling him about it just before I leave to cut short the reproaches for disturbing his things which he generously voices.

But I was too happy in the revival of our love after so long a period of unhappiness to quibble about anything so petty as Dicky's sartorial foibles, and I answered his challenge with a laugh.

"I won't bet," I told him, "because I'd lose. I shan't be packing all night, but I will have to be up several hours, for I hadn't expected to go out to the farm except for a week-end until Christmas time. And that reminds me—would you mind taking Mary's room for the night? Lillian's going to keep her in there with her tonight, for of course, the child is too wrought up to leave Noel for awhile. I'll get the things she needs out of her room and take them in to her. Then you can go to sleep in there and not be disturbed, and I can have the whole apartment to trot around in without fear of disturbing you. Your bed is higher than mine. I always like to lay out things for packing on it."

This is an old subterfuge, but Dicky seems never to have seen through it. As I finished he looked at me with the whimsical tenderness a man uses when he indulges a woman in some unreasonable request.

"Have it your own way, old dear, but don't disturb my things. In going through yours you'll probably find some of my missing socks and shirts. If you do, leave 'em on my bed, will you?"

"Of course," I told him demurely, with no hint even in my voice of the general housecleaning of his bureaus which I meant to make once he was sound asleep.

"Then come over here," he commanded tenderly, smiling at me, "and get our first and most important task done. I hope you don't consider it your most arduous one. You must bid me goodby properly and 'give me lots of lovina,' as Junior says."

He sat down in the big chair before the fire and held out his arms for me. I went into them happily and the next half-hour of disjointed talk, of tender silences, of impassioned caresses, was one which I knew my memory would always hold with jealous tenderness.

Later, when I had sent him to bed in Mary's room I went back to the now dying fire to take stock of the things I must do before morning. I meant to start at daylight, and I did not wish to disturb anyone else at that hour.

Talking to Mary, as Lillian wished, was my first task, I decided, and with a knowledge of one of the girl's pet foibles, I went to the emergency kitchenette I had made of a big closet and attached my coffee percolator to the electric switch after I had prepared the coffee as Mary best like it. Then I went to the Underwood apartment and knocked lightly.

Lillian came to the door and drew me inside with a finger to her lips. Through the open door of Noel's room I could see Mary still sitting motionless by the bedside, her hands clasping Noel's, while Harry Underwood, in a chair at the other side of the bed was bending forward, listening to the boy's breathing.

"I think Noel's asleep," Lillian whispered. "Now the next thing is to get Mary away."

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Announcing the Engagement

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When a bride-to-be is planning to be married with only her fiance's and her own immediate family present, is it proper for her mother to send announcements of her daughter's engagement as well as wedding announcements?

2—Should the two mailing lists be identical?

3—To whom are "at home" cards sent?

4—At what time are the announcement cards mailed?

IN A QUANDARY.

IT is never correct to send formal engagement announcements. The fiancee writes to her friends to tell them the happy news, and the fiance writes to his friends, the day after his bride-to-be had written her notes.

2—See answer to first question.

3—"At home" cards are sometimes sent with the wedding announcements to tell the future address of the couple.

4—The announcements of the wedding are mailed directly after the ceremony has taken place. The wedding invitations are mailed about three weeks before the date set for the wedding.

The Week-End Party

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I would like to know if it is quite correct for a young girl of 19 years of age to go away over a week-end with a group of young people connected with a church? The young man with whom she is "going about" also belongs to the same group.

MOTHER.

THIS is proper, if the group is, as I take it for granted, it will be, perfectly chaperoned.

Common Sense

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I want to congratulate you on the good work you are doing. Personally it has helped me many times, and I have heard several of my friends express their appreciation of its good advice. What is correct and what is not correct depends, I suppose, on where one is at a certain time, but I believe common sense is our best aid in deciding most of our niceties, don't you?

1. When serving guests (where there is no maid) does the hostess serve to the left or right of her guests?

2. When removing dishes, silver, and so forth, from the table, does she remove from the right or left of guests?

S. M. G.

THANK you—and a friendly bow for your friendliness. Yes, I agree with you, in the main, in what you say about common sense. These twins—kindness and common sense—are inseparable virtues in the making of mannerliness.

1. If the hostess serves as a maid would serve, she would serve at the left. But usually the hostess of a servantless home serves from her place at table, or in co-operation with her husband at table. For instance, the husband may do the carving and then pass the plate to his wife, so that she may add the vegetables to the meat on the plate. This is better than for the hostess to serve the guests as if she were the waitress.

2. From the right.

The Marry-Go-Round

Problems of the Fair Sex

THE chief business of lawyers, these days, appears to be soldering up broken feminine hearts with gold, and salving their wounds with silver.

Many a woman thinks that she needs a tonic or a psychoanalyst, when all she needs is a little applesauce and a new heart-interest.

The woman whom a man loves, forever, is the one who never flatters him by being jealous—and never bores him by being "hurt;" who never asks him to "explain"—and never wonders "where he was last night." In short, "the woman who doesn't care—much."

A deserted wife used to be an object of deep commiseration. But, these days, you never know that a woman has BEEN deserted until you receive the announcement of her next wedding.

A man who keeps boot trees in his house-slippers is the kind who will never allow any woman he may marry to RELAX, either.

* * *

As long as woman exists on this earth, there will be two vital problems in her life. How to manage a man—and what to do with her hair.

Science is doing so much to lengthen the lives of men, that the modern wife has little hope of collecting the insurance and looking interesting in picturesque mourning—which was sometimes, the only thing that an old-fashioned wife had to look forward to.

In the game of marriage, the militant wife insists on playing captain, the wise wife prefers to play cheer leader, and the foolish wife just plays the role of the football.

The gold-digger is merely a product of a feminine fixation, based on the theory that it is easier to get orchids and diamond bracelets from a man who doesn't owe you anything, than from one who does.

You can no longer judge a woman's morals by the things that hang on the wash-line.

THE WHITE HOUSE GANG

By Earle Looker

any other time, than just after our secret success with the chestnut burr, that the B. H. S. S. was formed, with Dick as its first, and last president. The membership qualifications were simple, for, with one exception, only members of the Gang were eligible. This exception was John Foster, known as "Little-Bits," who was allowed to witness some of our rites, without, however, being initiated into the true mysteries of them. "Little-Bits" was younger, and the Gang felt paternally protective toward him; moreover, he also met our need for someone who, being somewhat in the know, would, also, be satisfyingly awed by our proceedings.

To all the world but ourselves, B. H. S. S. stood (quite obviously) for Black Hand Secret Society, though it was hardly ever secret from the moment Q. followed by the rest, inked the palm and fingers of his right hand, and pressed it firmly against the spotlessly pure White House. The spot, and spots, was, and were, on the wall, near to where one comes out of the boiler-room into the west area-way, which lies, like a dry moat, between the north carriage-drive and the house itself.

Six black-hands were there, for the initiate and many of the White House staff to see, until they were eventually painted over. As no comment or complaint ever came from anyone about the matter, we considered it hardly worth while to print them again. In the meantime, the secret import of the letters had leaked out, through a message intercepted at school, intended only for members of the society. To our great disgust and tremendous anger, we were soon being asked if we were not the "Baby's Home Sewing Society. . . ."

"Nothing of the sort, you darn fool!" Q denied hotly to one interrogator.

"Well, if it isn't Black Hand Society, what is it?"

Quentin did not deny the true name; he petitioned Dick for a hurried meeting; the name was immediately dropped, and became simply B. H. S. S.—without any meaning whatever.

Within five minutes Q sought out his erstwhile questioner. "It's not Black Hand Secret Society at all—honestly, it isn't," he stated. "Now guess what it is—if you can!"

Aversions to many things and people—particularly to girls—came gradually upon us. We discovered that the latter were afraid of us; they seemed to be growing softer and we more and more scornful. Q once remarked he thought it unmanly to be seen talking to one—a conviction which, doubtless, he kept from his sisters. The boys' and the girls' entrance had much to do with this cleavage. There was, at this time, nothing quite so pleasingly thrilling than for the Gang to form a wedge in the schoolyard, and, headed by Q, charge through the girls' entrance and up into the school. Because it was against all rules, the most gallant time to run a risk of official punishment, was just as the girls' lines were forming, to return to the classrooms, at the close of recess. As Q said, the girls "hung around like a lot of fools waiting for the bell to ring, instead of leaving it until the lastest minute, as we do! Still, it does give one a fine sort of feeling, when they shriek and shriek, as we come busting through them. . . ."

Realize Unfairness

Out of this onset there developed a species of war between the sexes, the whole school, except the serious top-grades, following the lead of the Gang, with frantic and enthusiastic zeal, dragging girls by pigtails, breaking up their games, and herding them in corners, for no other purpose than just to keep them there, and make life generally miserable for them.

But a realization of its unfairness dawned upon Q one morning—suddenly. During the excitement of the first recess a little girl had fallen in the mud, and although not hurt, seriously, had been trampled upon. Q's indignation was particularly intense, because this girl was Elsa Raner, who brought her violin to school, several times a week. Her playing, even then, was lovely, and, many times, we had been thrilled by the limpid tones she brought out of her violin, when asked to play. She became the pupil of Leopold Auer, and now needs no introduction as concert violinist. . .

"Happening to her, of all people!" Q said, greatly perturbed. "This won't do; we must put a stop to it, immejitly!"

The Gang looked dubious, almost antagonistic.

"Then," Q said, with finality, his body shaking with emotion, as TR's did, when he pounded home an important point in a speech, "I ("Aiee," like TR) will be a girl myself, even if nobody else will——"

We looked upon him in appalled silence. Q walked directly into the middle of the girls' part of the playground, his face scarlet with embarrassment, and addressing a group of girls briefly, announced his intention, to their most evident bewilderment and distrust.

Demoralizing Effect

This was too much for the Gang; we rushed after him, and, in a few minutes, had organized a staff for the management of the girl's campaign, led by Q. The effect of our desertion upon the other boys was rather demoralizing, for, immediately, some of the weaker of them came over to us; but the bulk remained loyal to their own sex. A series of violent personal encounters, marked by extreme animosity, resulted. Quite often, the combined strength of the entire Gang was needed in order to effect rescues, and prevent real beatings being handed to individual members.

Apart from the excitements and exercises of recess, it was an unusal event in school-life when we were allowed to act, or think for ourselves. Even the name of the school had an ominous saund, and Q spoke scornfully of being "Forced" to do this, or that.

Slats Stead's disturbance at our acrimonious remarks regarding Force, was only understood, years later, when we discovered that the school was named after his great-grandfather, Peter Force (1790-1868). Force was Mayor of Washington, when it was but a chartered city; he was a Major-General of Militia, a writer, a student and collector of rare books. But he is best known—by American historians, at any rate—for his "Force Papers," an invaluable body of material, to be found in the Library of Congress.

We knew nothing of all this, and, in all probability, would not have shown any proper respect if we had; Slats was wise in holding his tongue. All we knew was, that school was a distasteful drudgery, this one in particular. But rarely were efforts made to capture our interest, and use it as motive power.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

An Ounce of Caution in Hay Fever

THERE are many people who suffer greatly from catarrhal inflammation of the nose, eyes and throat either during the summer and early fall, or throughout the entire year. "Hay fever" is a malady of a catarrhal nature, but it is a violent, acute thing, worse than ordinary catarrh.

DR. COPELAND

It is called hay fever, but hay doesn't seem to have much to do with it. The ailment is associated with many other things.

Summer, when the air is filled with the odor and pollen of flowers and grasses, is the time that most victims suffer from the ailment. Some have it in the season of roses, or when the various grasses are ripe, as when there is the odor of newmown hay in the air.

Goldenrod, ragweed and other early fall flowers are a menace to the sufferers from hay fever. Intense heat and moisture, dust from the streets and roads, as well as physical disability from overwork, may brink on the attack.

If you ever have had this miserable disease, you perhaps had it appear suddenly, almost on the same day and hour it had appeared for years. You would feel uncomfortably nervous. There would be itching, with watery discharges from the eyes and nose, with occasional violent sneezing spells. You would feel about as wretched as a person could be. It is an abominable set of symptoms.

When hay fever gets a start, the mucous membrane of the nose swells and there is an almost continuous discharges from the eyes, nose and throat. Breathing is difficult. Sleep and appetite are poor. After a while, the inflammation creeps down to the bronchial tubes. There is a wheezing cough and an asthmatic condition. Sometimes the inflammation extends to the stomach and intestines.

If it is a possible thing, one should get away into the mountains, where the air is pure and dry, and the vegetation is not irritating. Either this or a trip to the Great Lakes or an ocean voyage seems to be the only thing which will give prompt relief. Even then you may have to go more than once—perhaps every year.

But not everyone can change his abode, even if he suffers greatly from hay fever. But at least you can be careful about the diet. Keep the skin active with a daily bath. Sleep all you can. Keep the bowels in good condition.

There are many preparations for use in inhalers or sprays which give temporary relief, permitting one to sleep. But all such things, including medication, should be used only upon your doctor's advice.

Most of our large hospitals have special clinics for treatment and advice in cases of hay fever. Here are good doctors who give advice for the relief of the sufferer.

There is much to do beforehand to ward off the attack or to lessen its severity. Nasal treatment or slight operative procedures are frequently of great value.

THE BEAUTY BOX

By HELEN FOLLETT

HUMAN skin is a fine, delicate fabric and does not bloom at its best in an atmosphere that is smoky or filled with flying soot. Women who live in large cities must be eternally cleaning their faces, not only with soap and water, but with creamy lotions and cleansing packs. It is a wonder that the cutaneous covering of the feminine face can stand the strain. Men have good skins because every morning they shave off atmospheric filth along with their beards.

Without a firm foothold the body cannot have proper balance. Moderately high heels will pass, but spiked heels send the shoulders forward when they should be thrown back to allow a free passage of air through the lungs. High heels are responsible for bad posture and bad posture is responsible for a list of physical ills as long as your arms.

The girl who has been troubled for years with excessively oily hair may discover to her dismay that her hair has never been thoroughly shampooed and that the oiliness is merely an ever-present film of soap scum. Once in, it won't out. Sometimes no soapy agent will remove it, in which event the hair should be cleaned with benzine or shampooed with eggs.

A wash that is refreshing for tired eyes and inflamed lids is made by boiling together a cup of water and a half-teaspoonful of powdered boric acid. Cool, strain through muslin, and apply with an eye-cup night and morning.

MANY BROTHER ACTS IN MAJOR LOOPS

SINCE Paul Waner was followed into the big show by the younger Lloyd in 1927 to give the Pittsburgh club the greatest brother act that baseball has ever known, family pairs have become more numerous in the fast set than at any previous time. Both Jonnards have passed out as active major players, as have one of the Meusels and one of the Cooneys, but more than enough new combinations to replace them have come into the picture. Not all of them are going to stick, of course, as some of the players are merely green experiments, but for the present, at least, the number of brother sketches appearing on the big league bills must be classed as establishing a new record.

Paul Waner

The Pirates head the list, not only by reason of their having the best of all the acts in the Waners, but because they are the only club presenting two sets of brothers. The other family pair wearing Buccaneer togs is made up of Heinie and Walter Meine, both right hand pitchers.

THE Cardinals may have two sets some time in the future. Right now, in addition to offering Ernest Orsatti in the outfield, they are trying his younger brother, Vic, an infielder. Besides, on the advice of Outfielder Chick Hafey, they plan later to acquire the services of Chick's brother, Don, who has signed with Oakland in the Pacific Coast League.

Next to the Waners, the most prominent are the Ferrells—Wesley, Cleveland's crack young pitcher, who still is a holdout, and Rick, who this year supplants Wally Schang as first catcher for the Browns. Ed Walsh, Jr., pitching for the White Sox, has a brother, Bob, also a hurler, with the Yankees. The Pale Hose have another pair of flingers from one family in Howard McKain, right-hander, and his younger brother, a southpaw, and the Phillies round out the usually long list with Jack Sherlock, first baseman, and his brother, Vince, an outfielder.

WHILE some big league ball players are holding out, there are others who are making desperate efforts to hold on. Some of the old boys just won't give up until their uniforms are taken away from them.

Guess who's the latest to try a comeback? None other than your old friend, Lee Meadows. The bespectacled former Pirate pitcher refuses to stay down. He went into voluntary retirement during the latter part of 1928, came back to the Bucs in 1929, was sent to Indianapolis early in the campaign, and after being dropped by the Hoosiers went to Newark to finish the season.

Lee Meadows

NOW Meadows is back again, trying to qualify for one more shot at a major league job. He bobbed up at the camp of the Brooklyn club in Clearwater, asked for a trial, donned a uniform and is working out every day with the Robins. Lee, who is a free agent, hopes to convince the Dodger management that though he is almost 36 years old he is still good enough to get by in the main tent. If he does not land a contract with Brooklyn he probably will go to the Southern Association, as the Atlanta club is willing to give him a place on its payroll.

THE presence of Meadows in the Brooklyn camp draws attention to the fact that the Dodger team presents an unusual lot of Pittsburgh color. Former Pirates are scattered all over major league territory, but no other club has had so many of them at one time as are now to be found sporting Brooklyn regalia.

Counting Meadows, there are no fewer than five ex-Bucs on the Robin squad. The others are Dazzy Vance, Glenn Wright, Johnny Morrison and Eddie Moore. The Rovers had Vance for a looking-over in 1914 and 1916; Morrison was a Pirate from 1920 to 1927; Moore from 1923 to 1926; Meadows from 1923 to 1929, and Wright from 1924 to 1928.

SECRETARY SAM WATTERS' announcement that the world champion Philadelphia Athletics, with their regular lineup, will appear at Forbes Field on Monday, June 2, in an exhibition game with the Pirates, recalls that only one of the American League clubs has never been seen in action in this city.

The single exception is St. Louis. All of the seven others have played here. Boston has never performed at Forbes Field but appeared in a world series at old Exposition Park in 1903. New York, Washington and Detroit have been seen in world series engagements as well as exhibitions, and Philadelphia, Cleveland and Chicago have figured in local exhibition numbers.

Burt Shotton

IF you'll take the word of Manager Burt Shotton for it, William F. Baker, president and principal owner of the Phillies, has been cured of his old habit of parting with good ball players for quiet cash consideration on the side under the pretense of trading them. Baker has sold enough first-class diamond performers to form a club sufficiently strong to win a string of pennants, but, according to Shotton, there'll be no more of it. That's one of the reasons Burt gives for his frequently expressed confidence that the vast improvement shown by the Phils last season will continue this year.

"ONE thing in our favor is that the attitude on trading is different," says the Quaker leader. "In the old days, if this club let two players go it expected at least two others in exchange for them instead of only one of a better quality. And usually, if any money figured in the deal, the Phillies got that end of the bargain. That idea doesn't prevail any more. President Baker is just as eager to have a real ball club in Philadelphia as I am to give him one.

"It's a case in which he expects me to produce and he's willing to help. The old order of things has all been changed. There's a different spirit all around. Our players are not talking about last place now. They're talking about one-two-three, or at least the first division, and nothing like that has been heard around a Philly camp in the last 10 years."

FIGHT fans in California are still guessing as to what the governor is going to do about the state boxing commission. The terms of Commissioner William M. Hanlon expired 11 weeks ago, but the governor has neither reappointed Hanlon nor selected a new man for the place. James Woods, Los Angeles commissioner, for whom Frank Moran, former Pittsburgh heavyweight was chief inspector, removed to San Francisco and a change was thought to be in order there, but nothing has been done about that, either.

One rumor is that the governor will not let the entire matter rest

PRESTWICK, Cotsland, March 13.—(AP.)—Miss Joan Gow, Scottish International golfer, was married yesterday to Douglas A. Harvey, New York business man. They met while Miss Gow was on a golfing tour in Bermuda. She represented Scotland in International matches in 1923, 1926 and 1927.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 13.—(AP.)—Because of minor injuries to players of both teams, the exhibition games between the New York Giants and Chicago White Sox scheduled for today and tomorrow were called off yesterday. Jim Moore and Carl Reynolds, White Sox outfielders, were out of yesterday's contest, the former with a broken bone in his left hand and the latter with a badly swollen knee.

PITT WALLOPS WASH.-JEFF. FIVE, 67-20

By JESS CARVER.

Charley (To You) Hyatt, Paul Zehfuss, Les Cohen and the 1929-30 collegiate basketball season together faded from the Pittsburgh horizon last night as the aforenamed chaps led the Golden Panthers of Pitt to a decisive 67-20 triumph over Wash-Jeff in the Pitt Stadium. The game wound up the local campaigning of the Men of Carlson, chucked into the Pitt lockers the Big Four title for the year and all 'mid the cheers of the multitude.

The game itself wasn't much to write home about, what with the muscular Presidents being slaughtered to make a Pitt holiday. The only joy of the evening for Wash-Jeff was the gent by that name who did some right noble substituting.

PLAYERS HONORED

The good folk of Uniontown, there must have been half a t'ousand of 'em, turned out to pay tribute to Chipper Charley and the two Cohen boys, natives of Uniontown. The Uniontown American Legion Band, a nattily dressed organization, attired in the uniform of Australian Anzacs, if I know my military, entertained with some snappy selections, which sound o. k. if you've had a full meal, but not so good on an empty stomach. A brace of addresses by the head of the Uniontown schools and one of the Fayette County officials completed the program.

Pitt spared little energy in kicking the tar out of the ambitious Prexys. Wash-Jeff made it a rough ball game at Washington some weeks ago, mixing a fist fight or two in with the general excitement, so the Panthers probably took great delight in running their Big Four rivals silly last night.

Hyatt scored as many points as the entire Red and Black club. He made his local farewell here a memorable one, dropping in nine baskets and a brace of fouls. All in all, Pitt tallied 30 field goals, which is not so bad.

With 10 seconds to play, Hyatt hung up his ninth basket, which broke his former scoring record of 302 by one point. He has tallied 303 points so far, with the Penn State game to go. Maybe he'll make it 325.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

Stepping right off, Pitt rolled up a substantial lead before the portly Mr. Henry, who coaches the Wash-Jeffers, was comfortably settled on the three sections he occupies. Hyatt flipped five of his nine goals during the first half. Zehfuss was good for a pair, Les Cohen dropped three, Willie Arture spun two in and Eddie Baker sank one. They sent Milt Cohen in for Arture and he was good for two. At the half, the count was 33 to 7, which isn't to be called close, even in the native Sanscrit.

Wash-Jeff's points came on goals by Lewis, Hamilton and Smith, with Lewis getting one foul.

Pitt's attack was functioning in beautiful fashion. Les Cohen vied with Hyatt for the star role, playing excellent basketball. The second half hadn't gone very long before Coach Carlson sent in his second team. These kids held the Prexys even. With eight minutes to go, Hyatt returned to the game, was cut down under the basket and when he got up, Phil Hamilton lost his noodle temporarily, and made a few passes at him. They let him stay in the ball game, although he could have been tossed out pronto.

HYATT BRILLIANT

By this time most of the varsity was back at work and the scoring went from bad to worse, until the gap that separated the teams was so wide that the Panthers were hardly even in sight. Steve Kowallis was in at guard in the stead of Eddie Baker and he assisted Hyatt and Cohen in leading the parade, getting

PANKA BEATS WILLIAMS

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

Further evidence of boom times in the local boxing realm was furnished last night, when the new Duquesne Garden A. C., staging its second show in the upstairs auditorium of the ice-skating palace, sold out and had to turn fans away. Last Friday night, the same thing happened at the Moose Temple, downtown.

The crowd that jammed every inch of seating and standing space in the arena saw a good fighting card topped off by two 10-roundders in which George Panka, Homestead heavyweight, settled his question of superiority with Harry Williams, Negro, of the North Side, in decisive fashion by winning all the way, and Andy Andrucci, of the East End, grabbed the judges' decision over Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, in their third hectic battle.

DUNN STOPS MAZZEO

In the two six-round bouts, Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, knocked out Marty Mazzeo, a southpaw, of Cleveland, in the second round, and Paul Balint, of the North Side, defeated Sammy Paris, of the Hill, but saw a much-hooted judges' decision go to his opponent, with the referee properly voting for Balint.

Panka and Williams previously had fought two 10-round draws at the Moose Temple. Last night, Williams was in the running only once. That was in the second round, when he nailed Panka with a looping right that caught George boring in and spilled him in the center of the ring for a count of four. In the first round, Williams himself had been down for a count of one as the result of Panka's opening rush and flurry of solid punches. He weathered the first round with difficulty and was taking a beating when he dropped Panka in the next frame.

Thereafter, with the exception

Connie Mack Writes

HARD TO FIGURE

Manager World Champion Athletics

MIAMI, Fla., March 13.—Just to remind readers, American League clubs finished as follows last season:

Athletics, New York, Cleveland, St. Louis, Washington, Detroit, Chicago and Boston.

We are now starting a new season and it certainly does not mean that these eight teams will conclude the race in the same positions.

Connie Mack

The history of baseball is against such a thing and there is no wonder that the fans in all the trailing seven cities have brighter visions for 1930. The same applies to the coming National League race.

Everybody in the spring is optimistic, and rightly so. Take that workman, clerk, dealer, merchant and professional man who follows baseball and you will find him ready to present figures to prove his team is better and he will argue for an hour that he is right.

These friendly discussions before a championship campaign starts are the life blood of baseball. They stimulate interest in the sport and whet the appetites for the fans for the course of baseball that is yet to come.

A team may have been hopelessly outclassed in the previous year, but there is always hope for the coming race.

A baseball fan, no matter where he lives, is justified in taking such a view. In the outcome of the American and National League races of 1930 much depends on the strength the competing teams have added since the close of the season of 1929.

'Dark Horse' Players Upset Dope

IN ALMOST every year we find that a "dark horse" comes to the front and upsets what we call the dope.

On account of the great number of players purchased and acquired by other teams, it makes a manager wonder what the future will be.

Infrequently a team will get unhearaided a player who becomes a dominating star and who serves to spill all the plans of rival managers.

On some clubs this spring such a player may be revealed who will so uplift his team that all the hopes and expectations of strong clubs will be ditched by the artistry of this one new star.

In my long experience in baseball, I can recount a number of instances when a newcomer with that divine baseball fire has changed

MONTREAL, March 13.—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who have yet to win a game in enemy territory this season, will get their last chance to annex an away-from-home victory in the 1929-30 campaign when they meet Les Canadiens, one of the two local entries in the National Hockey League, here tonight.

The Pittsburghers will meet the Rangers in New York and Detroit in Fort Erie, Ont., before finishing their schedule, but both of these contests are Pittsburgh home games which have been transferred.

The Canadiens gained two victories and a tie in three previous meetings with the Bucs, and they are heavy favorites to win tonight. The visitors arrived here with a losing streak of 13 straight games. The probable lineup:

Pirates.		Canadiens.
Miller	G	Hainsworth
Spring	D	S. Mantha
Mike	D	Burke
Manners	C	Morenz
Darragh	W	Wasnie
Lowrey	W	Joliat

Spares—Pirates: Drury, Jarvis, Barton, Fraser, Smith; MacGregor, Canadiens. Ledue, G. Mantha, LaRochelle, Calvert, Mondou, McCaffrey, Lepine, Desrosiers.

PHILLY PROMOTER BROKE

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—(INS.)—Jules E. Aronson, well-known Philadelphia boxing promoter, in Newark, N. J., filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today in the United States District Court here, listing liabilities of $10,519 and assets of $88.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 13.—The Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday announced the release of Outfielder Burl Pharr. He will return to Arkansas.

ENS PLEASED WITH ENGLE'S WORK

By CHARLES J. DOYLE, Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, March 13.—With only a few more days of the Paso Robles training in sight, it was noticeable today that the rookies who bloomed in the spring, tra, la, were beginning to fade a bit. And at this writing the athletes are a bit tired from the strenuous workouts of the past week.

Dick Bartell

The classic penned by the one and only Casey Stengel appears to fit nicely into the Pirate camp right now. When Casey first went South with a major league club, he was full of ginger, like some of the Bucco kids in the first week or 10 days of training. Then the pitchers began to bear down and Casey penned this note to his home:

"Dear Ma—Your boy will soon be home; the pitchers are beginning to throw curves."

The Pirates' pitchers have started to feed the fast-breaking hooks and many a lad in camp is going around in a melancholy manner. Some of them will come out of this "staggeritis" state, but while the reaction is on them they will not resemble major league performers.

SANKEY MYSTIFIED

Take the case of Ben Sankey. Ben was the sensation of the Pittsburgh camp up until the Campus Comment

By KNUTE ROCKNE

Member All-American Board of Football.

The tremendous interest that has been shown in amateur boxing this past winter, both in athletic club and so-called Golden Glove tournaments, augurs well for amateur sport in this line.

Knute Rockne.

The public is becoming a little fed up with professional boxing. The crowd at the recent burlesque at Miami proved to be quite disappointing to those interested, financially. I am not in a position to state as to the reasons for this, nor the reasons for the continued loss of interest in professional boxing, but there can be no question but that amateur boxing is coming to the fore. Colleges in every part of the country except the Middle West have made boxing a major sport. Those Golden Glove tournaments and athletic club meets are extremely popular because the youngsters are up there trying, giving the best of themselves and are not depending upon the oratorical pyrotechnics of any glib-tongued manager to win bouts for them. It is simple elemental athletic competition based on fairness, skill and courage.

"Professional" is supposed to mean "skilled," but sometimes they become too skillful.

Tonight—North Braddock vs. Duquesne.
Tomorrow—New Kensington vs. Uniontown.
Saturday—New Castle vs. winner Duquesne-North Braddock game.

The second round play in the annual W. P. I. A. L. title elimination tournament comes to a close tonight as Johnny Reed's Harding High of North Braddock quintet meets Duquesne in an upper bracket fracus. After tonight's contest, the surviving teams will work off the quarter and semi-final games tomorrow and Saturday.

Johnny Reed

Harding High of North Braddock won the title in Section VIII of the league by taking over Rankin in a play-off battle. Duquesne came through in Section VII, beating out Homestead, section and league defending champs.

In the first round, North Braddock eliminated Fifth Avenue by a 20-18 count, in a ball game that was not decided until the final whistle. Duquesne eliminated Swissvale, 28 to 26, in a wild affair, featured by great popping away at the basket by both teams, and filled with thrills and field goals, which is a fine thing for any ball game to be filled with.

This game tonight is a hard one to figure. Duquesne has a rea. star in the person of Servick, the clever guard, one of the best individual players that had bobbed up in the tourney so far. He will give any opponent trouble camp battles began. The lad is still playing clever ball afield, but the pitchers are bearing down in such a manner as to mystify Ben and some of the other young infielders and outfielders.

So while this mood is upon Ben and one or two others, the spotlight will have to switch to a few of the more seasoned rookies. Among this class is Stuart Clarke, who right now is being considered seriously as the regular shortstop of the club.

The Yanigans were chesty again this morning, owing to their clean-cut victory over the regulars yesterday. The first team scared the Hooligans at the finish, but the kids romped away with a 6 to 5 success.

Dick Bartell took a part in the workouts preceding the game, but Richard, the Lionhearted, will remain on the bench for a few days. In this way he will be able to get a line on the three young men who are out to secure Dick a steady seat on the Pirate bench.

ENGLE WITH REGULARS

As he announced in advance, Manager Ens made a first-string player out of Charley Engle in the third camp scarp. Engle and Sankey switched jobs for the day. The Memphis recruit is beginning to act like a real performer. Partly because he was recovering from an operation for appendicitis and due also to the fact that he has been in major league atmosphere before. Engle moved slowly at the start. He slammed the ball in a spunky manner in the yesterday's contest, his general actions making a favorable impression on Skipper Ens and other veterans of the club.

The fourth game, set for this afternoon, will feature either four or six pitchers. Sanders, Walters and Chagnon are listed with the Regulars, with Petty, Swetonic and Stoner down on the sheet to shoot for the Yans.

Ens also made a switch that sent Clarke to second. Stuart had been playing third, where he was to be an understudy to Pie Traynor. But Ens wants him to be ready for the task at second as well, and there is a real likelihood of Stewie being thrown into the shortfield hole. Clarke can hit a ball harder than any of the four young men who are trying for the Wagnerian role, although Bartell may bat for a better average than his California rival.

ACTION LACKING

There wasn't much action to the third game of the camp series, yet the hitting was quite snappy in spots. Remy Kremer and Ervin Brame held the Regulars to one safety through six rounds, the Frenchman pitching hitless ball during his tenure on the slab. The first team solved Ralph Erickson for five hits in the eighth when they made three of their tallies.

Andy Bednar, Ivan Green and Martin Lang, each working three rounds, flipped the ball for the first team. Green, the most ineffective of the trio, showed more speed than any hurler who went to the hill, but the Phoenix High School lad was just wild enough to be in amess. His fast ball made the batters gasp.

Facts and Fancies About Our New Bucs

NO. 10—HERBERT SANDERS, PITCHER

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 13.—It is quite singular to note that in the Pirate squad of new "rookies" are three who are crowding 30. Catcher Al Bool will reach that mark next August, Lil Stoner celebrated his twenty-ninth birthday last month, while Pitcher Herbert Sanders is 28.

Herbert Sanders

Sanders is not yet a bona-fide Pirate, but he would like nothing better than to become a member of the big Pittsburgh family. He still is the property of the Wichita club, of the Western League, but this team has very friendly relations with the Buccos and in the event of Herbert showing the stuff he is said to possess he can be purchased quite readily, although the sum of money involved in the straight transaction would be sufficient to purchase a very nice home.

Sanders, a native Oklahoman, will tell you, and very truthfully, that typhoid fever cut into his career by many years. The baseball bug stung him forcibly when he was in knee pants, but the unfortunate youngster, after reporting to a dust-and-cinder circuit of Texas, went down with a severe attack of the fever mentioned and he asserts that the ravages of the malady affected his work for five or six seasons.

Eventually the Sanders family moved to California. Herbert's slab work won him a job with the Los Angeles club, but he could not feel his right strength, and, after several seasons of in-and-out play, he was sold to the Western League.

Sanders found himself with a big bang in 1928. Pitching for the Wichita club, he won 23 battles and a spot in the baseball sun. He won 16 and lost the same number last year, but there was something about his general performance that was pleasing to Pirate agents. Wichita, however, wanted a fancy price for him, so the Pittsburgh management arranged for the trial compromise.

Sanders is about one inch over six feet tall, carries 175 pounds like a lightweight and so far he has shown considerable form. On the other hand, he will have to be very impressive to cause the Pirates to put out the money for his purchase, in view of a preponderance of good-looking youngsters who have not had his experience, but who hold much promise, nevertheless.—CHARLES J. DOYLE.

FRITZI STIFEL IS BEATEN

BELLEAIR, Fla., March 13.—(AP.)—Edith Quier, of Reading, Pa., winner of the qualifying medal, advanced to the semi-finals of the annual Belleair women's golf championship yesterday by defeating Fritzi Stifel, of Wheeling, W. Va., 1 up, in 19 holes.

In the other quarter-finals matches, Mrs. Helen B. Stetson, of Philadelphia, former National champion, and defending titleholder, eliminated Mrs. J. H. Indig, of Chicago, 3 and 2; Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., defeated Mrs. John Arends, Chicago, one up, and Ruth Perry, of Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. Sidney Small, of Detroit, 3 and 2.

WALKER, GAMBER TRAIL

MIAMI, March 13.—(AP.)—Neil McIntyre, of Indianapolis, and Harry Hampton, Chicago, were 1 up on Cyril Walker, Saddle River, N. J., and Clarence Gamber, Boca Raton, Fla., at the end of nine holes in the 36-hole final contest of the $5,000 international four-ball golf matches here today.

LOCALS IN RUNNING

PINEHURST, N. C., March 13.—The Pittsburgh players competing for the twenty-seventh annual Tin Whistle championships, were all in the running at the half way mark of 36 holes here yesterday. Their scores:

Thomas Morrison, 66-70—136; T. A. Cheshire, 69-71—140; Norwood Johnston, 71-69—140; H. C. Fownes, 64-80—144; W. C. Fownes, Jr., 76-68—144; J. M. Jamison, 78-73—151; R. G. Morrison, 79-76—155; C. B. Hollingsworth, 82-76—158; H. C. Anderson, 80-80—160.

Ray Conger Winner Over Swiss Star

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.)—Ray Conger today counted five as he numbered his foreign victims of the past three years on the board floors.

Last night he beat Dr. Paul Martin, of Switzerland, in the mile at the Knights of Columbus Games in Madison Square Garden.

Paavo Nurmi, of Finland, Dr. Otto Peltzer, of Germany, Edwin Wide, of Sweden, and Eino Purje, of Finland, all have been beaten by Conger.

Conger won by inches last night in the fast time of 4:15 2-10.

Miss Stella Walsh, of Cleveland, shattered the American 220-yard record for women and won the 440-yard sprint easily. Her time for the 220 was 26 1-10 seconds, which excelled her own performance of 26 4-10 seconds made at Philadelphia earlier in the season.

First team: Forwards, Hyatt, Pittsburgh; Bender, Columbia; guards, Corcoran, Creighton; Hoag, Michigan State; center, Baker, Pittsburgh.

Second team—Forwards, Lewis, Cornell; Brodbeck, Penn; guards, Schoenfeld, Columbia; Meaner, Georgetown; center, Lewis, Dartmouth.

L. WANER GETS SAFETY FIRST TIME UP

By Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, March 13.—Lloyd Waner opened the season unofficially yesterday with a ringing basehit. Brother Lloyd batted for Remy Kremer in the fourth round, Ivan Green being on the mound. Now this same Ivan showed the camp the fastest ball on display since the preparatory season began, so that the wee centerfielder was not in an easy spot. Apparently Lloyd wanted to go up for Remy and Ens let him go to the barrier.

Green let fly with a ball that had almost as much zip as one of Dazzy Vance's "swifters."

Lloyd took a cut at the pitch, but missed it entirely.

"You certainly did pick a swell spot for your debut," shouted Ens at the convalescent star. The missed strike caused a lot of buzzing along both benches, but Lloyd made the worm turn a moment later.

Green let go with another fast ball and Lloyd's bat spoke like a cannon-cracker, a liner almost knocking the rookie off the slab. As the ball tore up the grass in centerfield, Sprout gave vent to the last laugh. He was batting 1.000.

until the general elections are held next fall. A boxing repeal bill was defeated two years ago, but the governor is said to entertain belief that another attempt to kill the sport in California may be successful, in which event no reappointments or new appointments would be necessary.

Bob Grody

FOR the first time since the McKeesport-De Neri world series at Duquesne Garden and the old Central League days on the South Side, Pittsburgh basketball fans will have a chance in the Duquesne University gym tonight to see two professional floor teams in competition. The Cleveland Rosenblums and the Paterson team are to meet in a regularly scheduled American League game which John J. Freund, Jr., succeeded in having transferred to this city, and one of the best exhibitions of the sport ever witnessed here is in prospect. The Rosenblums, present world champions, won the first half of the American League race this season, and will have to play off with Rochester for the title, but will still have a possibility of tying for first place in the second half if they win tonight.

PATERSON has some of the league's most prominent players in its lineup, including Bob Grody. This clever center is a fine defensive man, combining brains and skill, and, like Dutch Dehnert, of the Rosies, is said to know the weakness of every rival player in the loop.

If tonight's game here goes over successfully, there may be a chance of Pittsburgh's geting an American League professional franchise and team next winter. The move has been under consideration for some time, and the transfer of the Cleveland-Paterson contest was arranged as a test to determine whether a pro club can operate profitably in this city.

After losing four of its first five games, the Scarlet rallied and won its last nine, topping off the list by defeating Princeton last Saturday night, 40 to 28?.....And they're calling that Rutgers team the "Fightingest Ever?".....That both Knute Rockne, the Notre Dame coach (who now writes for the Sun-Telegraph), and Glenn Thistlethwaite, the Wisconsin coach will be speakers at the annual banquet of the University of Pennsylvania Varsity "P" Club in Philadelphia, March 20, because the Penn eleven plays both of these teams next fall?.....That when Tommy Loughran boxes Jack Renault at the Arena in Philadelphia next Monday night he will be making his first appearance in his home town since October, 1928, when he defeated Jack Gross, the southpaw, in a bout at the Phillies' baseball park?.....That the same Gross took a bad beating from George Godfrey before his seconds tossed in the towel in the fifth round of their battle at the Arena last Monday night and may show ill effects in future bouts?.....That the Godfrey-Gross bout drew more than 300 more paid admissions than the Primo Carnera-Ace Clark go in the same building a week before, but the receipts were $12,310 less because the tickets were scaled at from $1 to $3 instead of from $2 to $5?.....That the barring of Stanislaw Petkiewicz, the Polish distance runner, from competition in the United States by the A. A. U. was not inspired by newspapermen who found his name too tough to spell?.....That the reported engagement of Primo Carnera, the heavy lover, to an Italian girl living in London was good copy while it lasted, which wasn't any longer than it required for his managers to read about it in the papers and issue a denial?.....That the St. Vincent's College passers deserve a big hand for their feat of holding the great Pitt five to a one-point margin of victory?.....That the Sun-Telegraph is the only Pittsburgh newspaper that annually sends its sports photographer to the Pirates' training camp 'way out in California, in addition to its baseball writer, Chilly Doyle, and that this photog., D. E. Benjamin, is one of the best of his species in the land?..... That he's hot on all sports and at his best in snapping the highlights of baseball and football games?.....That Albie Booth, Yale's great football halfback and basketball star, will be the regular shortstop of the Elis' baseball nine this spring?.....And that he weighs 160 pounds for all he's called "Little Albie" and keeps active in sports the year 'round?—HARRY KECK.

TRAPSHOOTERS MEET

The annual meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Trapshooters League will be held this evening in the directors' room of the Chamber of Commerce. Officers will be elected and a program for the season arranged.

POWLEY MAKES HIT WITH GIANTS

By TOM BIRKS.

Now that the spring training season is well under way, fans around Western Pennsylvania watching the doings of the local boys who are trying to make the grade with big league clubs might be interested to know that Harry Powley, latest addition to the big league camps, is making a hit with the New York Giants.

Harry Powley

The Verona Community boy, in a letter, says he feels quite at home at San Antonio, Tex., where the McGraw clan is holding its annual grind. Powley stated he has pitched more innings than any twirler in camp. In the game against the Chicago White Sox, Ray Schalk sent him to right field when Melvin Ott hurt his leg.

He did not get a hit in his first three times at bat. Two days later, Powley pitched the last five innings against the White Sox. He hit a home run in the fourth, and then in the eighth frame, he came up and tripled with the bases loaded. The Verona boy is still hitting the old apple.

Jack Scott and Genewich, star Giant pitchers, are teaching Harry how to make his curve ball break faster. Hans Lobert and Ray Schalk are treating him fine.

Powley is eager to make good, especially seeing that Honus Wagner sent him to the big show. Wagner is watching the work of Powley and Chippy De Stout very close. De Stout also wrote from Anniston, Ala., after seeing two good workouts under his belt. These two proteges of the famous ball payer show indication of staying with the big time.

The Commercial and Industrial League will meet this evening at Honus Wagner's. The loop will be closed at this session, Reick-McJunkins, Carnegie Steel, B. & O., Crucible Steel, Joseph Horne's, National Union, Reliance Life and Mine Safety Appliance Company have been requested to have representatives on hand. All business preceding the league opening will be finished.

By JULIUS LEVIN.

The Duquesne University gymnasium will be the mecca for the followers of professional basketball tonight when the Cleveland Rosenblums, champions of the world, oppose the Paterson Crescents in a regularly scheduled American League battle. The battle will bring into action the cream of professional basketball stars in the American League race and should attract a capacity crowd.

There is considerable importance attached to the first American League game to be staged here, inasmuch as the Rosies must win to remain in the fight for the second half championship. The Rosies copped the initial round of play and will win a bonus of $5,000 if they succeed in taking the second, thus preventing any chance of a playoff series.

POWERFUL TEAM

The Paterson club, led by Benny Borgeman, strongest contender for the individual scoring honors; Bob Grody, a former member of the New York Celtics; Roxbury, Powers, Nagel, Sullivan and Wyka, has proved a tough opponent for the Rosies as attested by scores in recent games and will present a powerful front against the champions tonight.

One of the features of the battle will be the appearance of Chuck Salador, famous American Professional League referee, who is rated by close followers of the game as the premier official in basketball today. Salador has been assigned to the game by J. J. O'Brien, president of the American Professional League. Salador, who is an umpire on the staff of the Pacific Coast League, is a prime favorite in this section, having made a decided hit in his last appearance at Duquesne University. He handled the Celtics-orrys game here several years ago. One of his staunchest friends is Ziggy Kahn, athletic director of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, whose team meets Monessen Knights of Pythias in one of the two preliminary games on the card.

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED

The appearance of the famed professional league stars here has attracted attention in all sections of Western Pennsylvania and unless all signs fail a capacity crowd will attend the battle. Coaches of virtually all district high school teams have made reservations to attend the game. Due to the W. P. I. A. L. elimination game at the Stadium pavilion, the pro game will not get under way until 9:30 p. m.

Cookie Cunningham, recently recalled by the Cleveland Rosies from the Toledo National League club, will appear here with the world champions. Cookie may be used at center in event Joe Lapchick's knee compels him to leave the contest. Others who will wear the Rosies' colors are Carl Husta, Henry Skurnick, Pete Barry Dutch Dehnert, George Glasco and Dave Kerr. The Clevelanders will be accompanied by Manager I. S. (Nig) Rose and their sponsor, Max Rosenblum.

CATHOLICS IN PRELIM

The second preliminary on the card will be between St. Veronica High School and the local Central Catholic High Freshies. Between halves of the big game, the Trinity Tritans and Trimmers will stage a short exhibition.

Coffey Club night will be celebrated at the Young Men's Hebrew Association next Thursday night, when the members of that famous basketball team meet the Y. M. H. A. West Penn League club.

Tonight Y. M. H. A. meets Westinghouse Club on the Y. M. H. A. floor.

SHIKAT TOPS JONES

ATLANTA, Ga., March 13.—(AP.)—Dick Shikat, recognized in New York and Pennsylvania as heavyweight mat champ, defeated Paul Jones, of Texas, here last night.

NOTED TURFMAN ILL

the map of baseball.

Years ago a rookie reported to Detroit that nobody had ever heard of. He was Tyrus Raymond Cobb, and he made his presence felt so quickly that baseball had a new deal and Detroit subsequently was destined to win three pennants in a row.

In this limited space I will not attempt to furnish more parallels. Last year, Cleveland put forth a young right-hander, totally unknown, in Wesley Ferrell, who almost as soon as the race started developed into a pitcher who baffled the most powerful adversaries in the league.

Strength of Foes Problematical

SO WHEN a manager walks around the field where his team is training and watches what his new and veteran players are doing and weighing in his mind whether he is stronger or weaker he has no idea what is taking place at the other camps.

While he is blissfully checking and double-checking on his own assets and smiling inwardly over an important addition here and there he is blind to what is going on among competing teams.

Perhaps at one of these rival training bases there is some future Cobb, Speaker, Ruth, Collins, Mathewson, Alexander or Johnson who is starting a career that will add many a gray hair to his head.

I am bearing all these things in mind as I start my thirtieth straight season as manager of the Athletics. My team won the American League pennant and the world series last season, and, while this gives me a strong position in the estimation of baseball sharps, nevertheless I am wondering, and not a little concerned, about what is happening at rival training camps.

As I watched members of my championship team report this spring, I could not help sensing the contrast there is in baseball conditions today as compared with years ago.

Training Long Established

TO THE best of by belief, Southern training started in the late '80's. I trained in Jacksonville, Fla., in the spring of 1888, when I was an aspiring catcher with the Washington club. Southern training was the vogue intermittently with the teams of the '90's, although it was not a regular thing.

It was around 1904 and 1905 that all major league clubs finally decided that an expedition to Dixie in the spring months was indispensable to their success.

I have learned one thing about spring training. The players of today report in better condition than they did when I was a catcher. The player of today lives a clean life all year 'round. He never lets himself go to pot at the end of a campaign, as they did in the old days.

No society debutante ever watched her figure and weight as a ball player does his today. The player of today takes great pride coming to camp and seeing his manager and fellow-players pat him on the back and compliment him on his fine physical condition.

of the sixth round, when he shifted his attack to the body and slightly slowed down Panka. Harry, outweighed by 14 pounds, scaling only 181 to his opponent's 195, was receiver-in-general for everything George threw, and that was plenty for a heavyweight. Williams was out on his feet as they fought after the bell in the seventh round.

Panka never looked better. Setting the pace all the way, never backing up and tirelessly punching away in the clinches, George handed out a sound thrashing to his foe, who had to be game to assimilate the beating and stand up and keep fighting back under it. At the finish, Harry's eyes and mouth were split and his entire face was swollen, while he had taken a bad shellacking about the body.

ANDRUCCI IS WINNER

The decision in favor of Andrucci in the first 10-rounder was as popular and enthusiastically received by the crowd as that for Smackey over him in their second battle at the Moose Temple recently was unpopular and hooted down, yet a close check of the rounds of last night's battle reveals the fact that Smackey had an edge if either man boasted one. Setting the pace from the opening bell, he carried off the first three rounds by good margins before Andrucci began to step out in the fourth, which the latter carried. The fifth went to Smackey, giving him a big lead entering the second half of the route.

In the sixth, seventh and eighth rounds, Andrucci, by clever maneuvering, managed to reach Smackey with his wide hooks, and he swept the three sessions, but weakened under a rally by Smackey in the ninth and was doubled by body blows and forced to hold on. They fought the final round on even terms, with Smackey forcing the fight and Andrucci holding at every opportunity, but connecting at propitious moments. Five rounds went to Smackey, with four to Andrucci and one even, and Smackey never was in serious trouble, while Andrucci appeared to be in danger in the ninth round. Andrucci weighed 134½ pounds and Smackey 136.

PARIS GETS GIFT

Dunn's knockout victory over Mazzeo in the second bout was the result of Johnny's systematic punching, mainly to the body. He took many of Mazzeo's blows that he might have avoided as he moved in close to score effectively and was rewarded when Mazzeo finally collapsed and took the count, although not actually knocked out. Mazzeo was outclassed by Dunn, who scaled 127½ pounds. Marty weighed 125½.

Paris appeared to be stiffened up from his fight with Frankie Porto at East Liverpool the night before and could not get going against Balint in their match, which was an eleventh-hour substitute affair, and he did not win a round, holding his own in the first and being outpunched in the others, yet the decision landed in his lap. It probably only evened up, at that, for some of which he had been deprived in local bouts recently. It was only his third bout in six nights (the loafer!) and he didn't fight his fight. He boxed Johnny Montabano at the Moose Temple last Friday night. Paris weighed 126½ pounds and Balint 128.

GOODMAN-BRANNON NEXT

Jackie Rodgers and Mose Butch, the new National amateur junior bantamweight champion, were introduced from the ring before the main bout and it was announced that Joey Goodman, of Cleveland, will meet Eddie Brannon, Negro, of the Hill, in the main bout in the Garden ring next Wednesday night.

The judges were Frank (Bull) Brown and Jock Bimco. Joe Keally refereed all of the bouts. The timer was Chappie Couch and the announcer Bill Schuster.

BEATTY BOXES SOLMEN AT M'KEESPORT

The fistic scene shifts to McKeesport tonight for the usual Thursday night show, which will be featured by a 10-round battle between Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, and Allen Beatty, of McKeesport. It will be the fourth meeting between the rivals, Beatty having won the first two and lost the third by a knockout in six rounds at Johnstown. The Negro welter has been working out in Flynn's gym and is in fine shape and hopes to erase the memory of that knockout by winning decisively tonight.

Dominick Profio, of Cecil, boxes Billy Holt, of Canton, O., in the eight-round semi-final and Frank Novak, North Side heavyweight, meets Chuck Taggert, of Butler, in the second bout, of six rounds. In the six-round opener, Scotty Graham, of Donora, battles George Evans, of Braddock.

Between Rounds

Promoter Francis Flynn has completed the card for the Tom Maloy-Young Saylor show at the Moose Temple tomorrow night by signing Joe Zink, of McKees Rocks, to box Tommy Ward, of the South Side, in the second bout. He has Jackie Wilson, of Jersey City, in with Charley Tarsan, of Rochester, Pa., in the semi-final and Georgie Tomosky, of Wilmerding, boxing Jimmy Thomas, of the Hill, in the first bout.

Sammy Harris, of Akron, boxes Al Rowe, of Philadelphia, and Indian Tiger West, of Monessen, meets George (K. O.) Nichols, of Buffalo, again in two 10-round bouts at Erie tomorrow night. Jackie Schupack and Johnny Sacco are in a six-round battle.

Earl Mastro boxes Spark Plug Russell at Peoria, Ill., tonight. Nate Goldman tangles with Young Reichel in a return bout at Chester, Pa. Eddie Reed bones Ernie Casser and Eddie Dempsey engages Theodore (Kid) Snowden at Philadelphia.

The Motor Square Garden Club is planning a bout for Joe Trippe, of Rochester, N. Y., who is a favorite here, for a week after its Jackie Rodgers-Archie Bell show, which is slated for one week from next Monday night.

Three six-round preliminaries will back up the George Panka-Ed Greathouse heavyweight battle at Washington, Pa., next Monday night. Young Joe Walcott, of Washington, will box Paul Capp, of Barberton, O., in the semi-final; Jimmy McGray, of Martins Ferry, O., meets Sailor Place, of Washington, in the second bout, and Johnny Pattain, of Washington, opposes Frankie Lane, of Sharpsburg, in the opener.

Due to an infected finger, Billy Jones' bout with Charley Belanger at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has been set back from tomorrow night to next Wednesday night.

Mose Butch, new national junior amateur bantamweight champion, and Tony Martino, of McKeesport, will be two of the contestants in the benefit show to be staged in Duquesne Garden next Thursday night for the striking taxicab drivers' fund.

Johnny Windsor, of Herron Hill, may be the opponent of Muck McTiernan in the main bout at the Moose Temple Friday night of next week. The Duquesne Garden A. C. is planning a Battling Glass-Andrucci battle for an early date.

The Prince Carnera-Chuck Wiggins bout has been definitely set for St. Louis next Monday night.

HOMESTEAD TIES VERONAS

In the County League, the Homestead Ackermans last night went into a tie for the leadership by defeating the Goldensons, 38 to 35. Y. M. H. A., bumped Kingsley House, 23-21, in the West Penn circuit.

The Paterson Club, which plays the Rosenblums here tonight, polished off the Ft. Wayne Club, 24 to 19, in their battle at Ft. Wayne last night.

Westinghouse bowed before Real Estate, 34-26, in the C. & I., while St. Joseph's tripped St. Michaels, 35 to 26, in the Lyceum League. The Goldenson Vanities won another by beating the Comptometer girls, 24 to 19.

COACHES GLAD TO WRITE FOR YOU

In addition to messages from Glenn S. (Pop) Warner and Knute Rockne, who already have signified their pleasure at joining the sports staff of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, the following telegrams have been received from Tad Jones, former Yale coach, and Bill Alexander, Georgia Tech mentor, fellow-members of the All-America Board of Football, who will write for this newspaper next fall under contracts just signed.

These stars of the sports realm, along with Connie Mack, Babe Ruth and Nick Altrock, will provide an unparalleled series of new features for readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The telegrams follow:

By TAD JONES

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Recalling the cordial reception I received in Pittsburgh last football season and the valuable and instructive workouts I witnessed both at Pitt and Carnegie Tech, you may be assured that my interest in your football teams always will be unusual. Incidentally, I may be excused for mentioning that, after one look at Jock Sutherland's squad early last fall, I predicted a great team for Pitt. As a member of the Sun-Telegraph staff, I will do everything possible to cover Eastern football developments to the entire satisfaction of your readers.

By BILL ALEXANDER

ATLANTA, Ga.—Consider it privilege to write for Sun-Telegraph, along with my associates, Pop Warner, Knute Rockne and Tad Jones, all members of the All-American Board of Football. Georgia Tech considers game October eleventh with Carnegie Tech as most important intersectional game of 1930 and I personally am looking forward to meeting many fans in your famous football city.

Hyatt to Toss Up First Ball for Rosies-Crescents

Charley Hyatt, Panther floor ace, will toss up the first ball in tonight's American League pro battle between the Cleveland Rosenblums and the Paterson Crescents in the Duke gym, according to John J. Freund, Jr., promoter of the affair locally.

Freund also announced that a team of former Pitt stars, including Hyatt, Jerry Wunderlich, Paul Zehfuss, Les Cohen, Montgomery, Kowallis and Wrobleski, will meet the Rosenblums in a big game here at an early date, possibly within the next 10 days.

TILT CARDED SATURDAY

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 13.—The basketball game between the Washington freshmen and the Kiski team, called off last week by Kiski, will be played here Saturday night. The game will close the season for the Vice Presidents.

Fight Results

At Duquesne Garden—George Panka defeated Harry Williams, 10 rounds; Andy Andrucci defeated Johnny Smackey, 10 rounds; Johnny Dunn knocked out Marty Mazzeo, 2 rounds; Sammy Paris defeated Paul Balint, 6 rounds.

At Youngstown—George Cook defeated K. O. Christner, 10 rounds; Patsy Fiorino knocked out Angie Carlson, 5 rounds; K. O. Hunt knocked out Red Jadshaft, 2 rounds; Russell Powers knocked out Elmer Madger, 2 rounds; Young Sanienna defeated The Gypsy Kid, 4 rounds.

At Oakland, Cal.—Benny Lenhart knocked out Jack Brinsley, 1 round.

At San Francisco — Louis O'Neill and Kintaro Usada drew, 6 rounds.

NEW ALCOHOL MIXER BARED

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.)—A new non-poisonous denaturant for industrial alcohol, more effective than any now in use, has been discovered by the technical division of the Prohibition Bureau, Dr. James M. Doran, prohibition commissioner, revealed at a conference of industrial alcohol producers.

The denaturant is a product of petroleum and Commissioner Doran said it made alcohol extremely difficult of conversion for drinking purposes. The producers, he said, have given him assurance they will co-operate in the use of the new denaturant.

In a statement after the conference, Dr. Doran asserted that manufacturers had assured him "of their complete co-operation in every move that the bureau might see fit to make in assuring the maximum control of their product."

NOW IS THE TIME TO BRACE UP

Everything in Nature Takes On New Life in Spring—People Should Also.

WORLD'S TONIC MAN SAYS SPRING HOUSECLEANING SHOULD EXTEND TO THE BODY AS WELL AS THE HOUSE.

"When people come through a winter like this last, they are likely to be all stuffed up with colds. Sudden changes of weather and indoor life make these colds chronic in this part of the country," said the World's Tonic man today at the drug store. "A chronic cold is catarrh, and catarrh spreads. It may begin in the nose, and in thirty days be all the system, causing indigestion, sluggish liver, constipation, and overworked kidneys. Sooner or later something gives way under the strain, and then one is really sick.

"It is not wise to let a cold of this kind get firmly seated when a simple treatment with World's Tonic will help free the system of it. Everything in Nature is lively in the Spring. People are not because their systems are all clogged up with catarrhal wastes. The blood is corrupt, and the body and mind are sluggish instead of lively. Such people need a physical housecleaning.

"To get rid of this condition World's Tonic is valuable simply because it is a good systemic catarrhal treatment, that is specially intended to help clear up congestion and help purify the blood. If people would take a few doses of World's Tonic every spring there would not be so many cases of 'spring fever' or malaria."

Mr. Wm. Shetler, of Indiana, Pa., employed as a coal miner, says: "When I came from England five years ago I could dig more coal than any two miners. I weighed 190 pounds. After about two years in this country my health failed and I started taking different kinds of medicines, something I never had to do in the old country. I would take physics all the time to get my bowels to move. No matter what I ate it soured on my stomach. I lost weight until I weighed only 120 pounds. I had decided to go back to the old country to die when a friend advised me to try the new medicine that was helping so many people with catarrh—which we don't have in the old country. After taking four bottles of World's Tonic I am now gaining my old weight back again. I can eat anything and I can whip my weight in wild cats now." World's Tonic is for sale at Dow's, May's & Liggett's, Mayflower, and all other first class drug stores. (A-44)

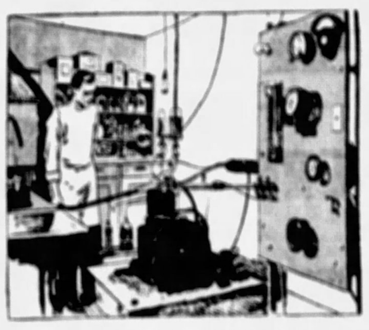
No regular gasoline price ever bought anything like it!

ORANGE AMERICAN GAS was made with just one thought in mind--to produce a gasoline giving the best all-around performance that could be marketed at the price of regular gasoline!

We've done it--and we've proved it! Motorists with "show me" written all over their faces have rolled up to the ORANGE AMERICAN GAS pumps, filled their tanks and rolled away. Then they came back with all their doubts dispelled! They had been shown, convinced, satisfied, enthused. And instead of "show me" they come back to say: "Fill 'er up again with orange juice. Great stuff!"

Not only has ORANGE AMERICAN GAS an exceptionally high anti-knock rating but every gallon packs excessive power, quick pick-up, quick starting, real get-up-and-go spirit!

Tried it yet? If you haven't, you're not doing right by your car!



THIS MACHINE CAN'T LIE!

When we tell you that ORANGE AMERICAN GAS has an exceptionally high anti-knock rating—we're not making claims—we're stating a fact. This is the machine that proves it—the machine on which comparative tests of all gasolines are made every day—a machine which delivers cold, scientific facts—the machine that definitely establishes the pre-eminence of ORANGE AMERICAN GAS among all gases selling at the price of regular gasoline.

EATON GROUP STEEL MERGER FACTOR

Must Be Reckoned With In Further Realignment Of Industries They Back

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, March 13.—The necessity of consulting Cyrus S. Eaton, of Cleveland, in connection with the conversations concerning the possibilities of a closer link between Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube again emphasizes the growing stature of the Cleveland financier.

Having recently consummated the $335,000,000 Republic Iron and Steel merger, Mr. Eaton and his associates are to be reckoned with in any further realignment of the industries in which they are vitally interested. The Eaton group, which recently acquired control of Goodyear, has the largest single interest in rubber securities, and it is understood is taking a three to five-year view of the prospects of putting the rubber industry on a more profitable basis.

Though trained for the ministry, Mr. Eaton, a native of Pugwash, Nova Scotia, early became interested in the public utility industry, which is still one of his preferential channels for investment. He started to improve the management in small gas companies and gradually contributed to the building up of larger systems. This activity brought him into contact with Otis & Co., brokers and bankers, of which firm he became an influential partner 15 years ago.

RESPONSIBLE OWNERSHIP

Mr. Eaton and his associates think that there is a growing opportunity for influential minority interests in great corporations to contribute actively to the prosperity of such enterprises. His group favors the idea of responsible ownership instead of the apathetic ownership of the average small investor, who plays only a passive role.

In this viewpoint, they are like their townsmen, the Van Sweringens, who in 1916 began their career of reestablishing a regimen of parental control in the railroad field, after having already had considerable local success as suburban real estate developers. Though railroading has become the chief occupation of the Van Sweringens, the brothers, it is understood, have recently been quietly increasing their commitments in industrial corporations.

Mr. Eaton keeps breaking into the news, in spite of his consistent policy of discouraging personal publicity. As a result, this soft spoken, mild mannered man of 46 seems to the larger public a man of mystery. His friends describe his tastes as simple and catholic and indicate that his great interest is his family, which consists of a wife and seven children. He loves landscaping and often clarifies his thoughts while sitting on a horse and proceeding leisurely through his fine estate known as Arcadia Farm, in Northfield, O. He is a diligent reader, preferring biography and poetry.

Joseph Stagg Lawrence, Princeton economist, challenges the assumption that the decline in interest rates will hurt the earnings of banks. He argues that abnormally high earnings are symptoms of pathological conditions. Moderate interest rates, he holds, are consistent with bank prosperity.

MANAGEMENT IMPORTANT

With general business facing unusual difficulties this year, the element of management becomes of increasing importance in the selection of investments. Good industrial management consists of resourcefulness in fighting conditions, not in a mere capacity to cash in on boom conditions. Emphasis on superior management helps to explain why selected stocks sell on a higher price-earning ratio than shares of companies of a less outstanding character. The price-earnings ratio is likely to be misleading, unless the analyst is able to supplement nominal official earnings with some knowledge of real earnings.

Many of the best corporations are ultra conservative in their bookkeeping methods, making inordinately large write-offs for depreciation and special reserves. Moreover, some companies abstain from including earnings of foreign subsidiaries, ignoring the excess between dividends disbursed and actual earnings. Another factor, which analytical investors keep in mind, in adjusting nominal earnings, is the extent to which a given company habitually goes to stockholders for additional capital, and thus making available valuable rights. As long as some companies pay earnings and others hide earnings, the mere nominal report of earnings cannot by itself answer all the questions which an investor needs to know.

STOCK PRICES STAGE BRISK ADVANCE

Selling Flurries Sweep Market, But Offerings Are Absorbed by Bulls

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP.)—Expectations of a cut in the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate after the close of today's market provided the background for a brisk advance in prices in today's stock market. Flurries of selling swept through the market at intervals because of the disappointing nature of some of the recent trade news, but offerings were well absorbed and operators for the advance succeeded in maintaining the upper hand.

Revival of speculative activity and strength in the oil shares, a dozen of which moved into new high ground for the year, featured the day's proceedings. Buying of this group was stimulated by the sharp drop in crude petroleum last week, the California court decision upholding the legality of the Yate's restriction scheme, and rising commodity prices.

OILS AT NEW HIGHS

Houston was marked up nearly 5 points to a new top at 86¾. Skelly climbed more than 2 points to a new high at 23⅞, and Standard Oil of New Jersey, General Asphalt and Indian Refining sold 2 points or more above yesterday's final quotations. Barnsdall, Sinclair, Standard Oil of New York, Atlantic Refining, Pure Oil and Independent Oil and Gas were among the stocks to attain new 1930 peaks.

Call money renewed unchanged at 4 per cent, but dropped to 3½ in reflection of the heavy accumulation of funds here in connection with March 15 income tax payments. Bankers' acceptances were reduced ⅛ of 1 per cent for the fourth time in the last fortnight, strengthening the belief that a further cut in rediscount rates was close at hand. The Bank of Poland today reduced its discount rate from 8 to 7 per cent. Following the lead of other central banking institutions of Europe.

PUBLIC ATTRACTED

Pools, having attracted a public following in a number of their favorites, continued to mark up special stocks. Many observers look for a large increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans today because of the reported heavy distribution of stocks in the last 10 days.

Worthington Pump was bid up 6½ points to 190½, duplicating the high established a few days ago. Vanadium Steel was marked up more than 5 points to a new high above 82. Auburn Auto, Simmons and United States Industrial Alcohol, which were under selling pressure yesterday, showed sharp recoveries. Federal Light and Traction, which had been taken over by the Cities Service interests, moved up more than 2 points to a new high at 77. After having been heavy in the early trading, Warren Brothers, Lackawanna, Westinghouse Electric, Electric Auto Lite, Anchor Cap and Gulf States Steel recorded substantial gains.

STEELS HEAVY

Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown Sheet and Tube were all heavy on the announcement that directors of Bethlehem and Youngstown had agreed upon a merger, and that the plan would be opposed by the Republic Steel interests who had hoped to include Youngstown in the new combination.

J. I. Case dropped more than 5 points but recovered its loss.

Coppers were heavy in further reflection of the unfavorable trade statistics published yesterday.

Standard Brands Earns $1.37 Share

NEW YORK, March 13.—Standard Brands, Inc., reports for four months ended December 31 net income of $5,258,252 after minority interest and taxes. For year ended December 31 net income was $18,344,391 after all charges, including minority interests and taxes and depreciation.

Net income, $5,258,252 for four months ended December 31, 1929, is equal, after preferred dividends, to 39 cents a share on 12,630,107 common shares outstanding on December 31, 1929.

Net income for year ended December 31, 1929, of $18,344,391 is equal, after dividends on preferred shares outstanding at end of year, to $1.37 a share on 12,630,107 common shares.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Independent Pneumatic Tool Company reports for year ended December 31, 1929, net income of $1,321,866 after taxes and charges, equal to $7.29 a share on 180,000 no par shares, comparing with net of $1,040,589 in 1928, or $5.78 a share.

Elgin National Watch Company reports for year ended December 31, 1929, net profit of $1,972,971 after depreciation, Federal taxes, etc., compared with $1,749,401 in 1928.

Ford Finds U. S. Workers Licked by Europeans

—By B. C. FORBES—

FORD has smashed another tradition, one proudly cherished by America, especially by American workers.

European workmen are better than Americans!

THAT startling discovery has been made by exhaustive comparisons of production results in Ford factories in the United States and in various European countries. By "breaking down" each operation and checking up exactly how many minutes workmen in the different countries take to perform the job, very exact comparisons, it is claimed, can be and have been made.

The results of this extremely interesting investigation are revealed in London by Sir Percival Perry, chairman of the Ford Motor Company, Ltd. Here is the nub of his pronouncement:

"Given like conditions and treatment, our workers here in Europe actually beat their American cousins."

ANOTHER discovery has been made through this comparison conducted "week after week, and month after month:"

Where the wages are lowest minute costs are highest.

HERE is still another discovery, extremely interesting:

Fords' production costs in Europe were cheapest in Denmark, where the highest wages (in Europe) were paid, and highest in Belgium where the company paid the lowest wages.

By raising wages in Belgium, an immediate reduction in cost of production followed!

SAID Sir Percival:

"This company and its associated companies are employing Englishmen, Irishmen, Dutchmen, Frenchmen, Belgians, Danes, Germans, Italians, Spaniards, Swedes, Finns and Turks, and they are all working in their respectivec ountries and doing the same job with similar tools under equal factory conditions. We compare how long it takes each respective man to complete his work. These comparative statistics have enabled us to establish the fact that the American workman is no miracle-worker. Nor is the British, Irish or Continental artisan any inferior creature. Given like conditions and treatment, our workers here in Europe actually beat their American cousins, as is proved by the standards of our minute costs."

THESE findings, it was emphasized, abundantly justified the introduction in Europe of the Ford policy of paying high wages.

DOESN'T the foregoing inspire profound thought?

Reflection brings to mind the fact that the industries in this country which have been least prosperous in recent years are those whose workers have been most dissatisfied with their rates of pay. The New England cotton textile industry at once springs to mind. So does the coal industry. Ditto our woolen manufacturing industry. Our steel industry used to suffer extreme viscisaltudes when it paid less than half the wages it now pays; since labor conditions were greatly improved in steel plants, the industry has prospered distinctly more.

THESE Ford statements also incite this question. If American workers are not superior to European workers, how is it that so much higher wages can be paid here than in Europe?

Heretofore the assumption has been that American workmen are notably more efficient, more energetic, more productive than those in Europe. Are these Ford conclusions sufficient to blast that flattering theory? Or will American workers argue that allowance must be made for the fact that the whole investigation was conducted, not by an American, but by a Briton?

ADMITTEDLY, the vastly greater amount of our power-driven machinery at the elbow of American workmen has been a tremendous factor in increasing production per man here over that achieved in Europe.

Also, it is generally conceded that the science of management has made distinctly greater progress in the United States than in Britain or in any other country.

That, too, must be taken into the reckoning in attempting to compare the relative merits of American and European labor.

NOTWITHSTANDING all that, however, anyone who has had abundant opportunity to become familiar with the daily activities of both American and European workers is likely to cling to the belief and the claim that our workers go about their duties with a spirit and energy and speed not matched by lower-paid foreign workmen.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Big Celebration

CHESTER POTTS rubbed his spectacles, adjusted them, and stared at the colored pictures unfolded before him by T. Malcombe Higgins, the high pressure real estate salesman.

"That's Paradise Valley," said Higgins—and eyed Mr. Potts secretly.

Chester Potts stared at the picture—trim little orchards and red-roofed homes, row after row of money-making fruit trees were shown.

There were other pictures—packing plums, shipping them at the freight station, receiving "cash money," as Higgins said, for every crate of plums when delivered.

Mr. Higgins talked as eloquently as the pictures were lurid.

"They're expanding—want to get good, industrious people in—that's why $3,000 buys 30 acres right in Paradise Valley," said Higgins.

An elevated train rattled past the windows of the Potts flat and jarred some ornaments on the mantel above the phoney fireplace.

"Instead of that," Higgins waved his arm toward the window where the elevated train was thundering along, "instead of that, you look out on your own acres of fruit orchards; every tree earning money for you while you sleep in the morning as late as you please—no gulping coffee, jamming into the subway and punching a clock—no being docked if you are 10 minutes late."

"It—it looks unbelievable," said Mr. Potts.

"Photographs don't lie," lied Higgins, who had helped doctor up photographs so that they lied disgracefully.

"What you need is a few dollars to go along on until the first crop of plums is ripe, and then your income is steady."

"I'd have to have me a house," said practical Mr. Potts.

"You can buy 'em out there, shipped out ready to put up—anywhere from six hundred to a couple of thousand."

Future Rosy Tinted

Mr. Chester Potts was thinking.

He had four thousand, it represented years of saving. It meant enough for a decent funeral when he passed on and a nice nest egg for Ruth, his daughter. She would be getting married some day, she and Willie Dunham—Mr. Potts glowed with pride to think that he could give them a whole thousand dollars to start with.

Another elevated train thundered past his windows and the crayon enlargement of Mrs. Potts, long since passed on, trembled against the wall from the vibration.

Mr. Potts looked at the pictures. The very name was luring—"Paradise Valley." It did look like a paradise.

Monday he'd have to go back to Younger & Younger, sit at his desk in the poorly lighted room and go struggling through the books again. He was a good bookkeeper, but he'd never get anywhere else. He'd probably flop down on the ledger or day book some day and die.

"Mr. Higgins, I—I've saved some money—I saved it for other purposes, but if you're sure I can begin to make money within a year—"

"Year? Probably within six months," Higgins said, seeing that he had as good as closed the deal.

"I'll buy it. I'll give my notice Monday, you bring me the deed and I'll have the money," said Mr. Potts—who felt as though he were taking a plunge right off the top of the Singer Building.

When Ruth came home he told her.

"But Dad, you can't manage all alone and I've got such a good position here," she protested.

"I was thinking, now that Willie's firm failed and he doesn't like his new job, that he might go out with me. In a year we'd be financially independent, then you could come out and marry Willie."

Goodbye to Routine

When Willie called that night he was just ripe for the proposition. His new job was a blow-out, he said. The boss had nine sons and nephews who would, in time, take all the good jobs, he wouldn't have a chance.

Then Ruth and her father told him about Paradise Valley.

Willie stared at the colored folder.

"Gee!" he said, and then, "Gee, imagine living in a place like that! It looks like th' Botanical Gardens."

"Dad is right—he doesn't want to live cramped up here, working over old books—he wants to be independent," said Ruth, "and them old books are killing him."

"And a year ain't so long to wait, honey," said Willie, "then we'll be married and living like we was always on a vacation in the country."

Willie had saved a few hundred.

Chester Potts thought that Mr. Younger, of Younger & Younger, would be heartbroken and put up an awful yelp when he resigned.

But he didn't. He said he was sorry to lose him and would give him a present of a week's time with salary to get ready to go. In his private office Younger said to Younger: "That's great. I've been dreading to fire the old duffer but he was getting too slow for us."

They gave Mr. Potts a handsome suit case.

Ruth saw them off at the station.

It was quite a while before Ruth heard from them.

Her father wrote that some mistake had evidently been made in the deed. His 30 acres were up on one side of Paradise valley, where there was no irrigation.

Willie wrote that they'd probably straighten it out soon.

Ruth didn't worry.

If she had known the truth she would, for there had been no mistake in the deed. The 30 acres were in Paradise valley, but not in the reclaimed part, nor was there any prospect that it could be irrigated.

That was something Higgins, the high-powered salesman, knew, but he had kept just within the law when he sold the worthless land, as to its being in Paradise valley. He had lied abominably about raising a crop.

Ruth Is Frightened

Weeks passed. Willie wrote that it looked as though they might win out in time. Meanwhile he had a job packing fruit down at the Paradise Valley Station. Ruth's father was checking shipments at the station.

This frightened Ruth a little. She wrote to ask about the house.

They were living in a tent with a board floor and brought water up in the car from the valley.

The year had almost passed before Willie wrote her that there had been no mistake—the land they were shown was what her father had wasted three thousand on. He wanted her to come out. He could get work for her picking fruit and they could rent a little bungalow.

Ruth was nearly frantic by this time, although she wrote cheering letters.

The graduation season over left business in gowns slack. Ruth, with others, was laid off for awhile.

She hated to spend the money, but her father was old and needed her. Perhaps she would bring him home.

The Paradise Valley that Ruth first saw was like a dream of fairyland—even prettier than the colored pictures had been. But Ruth saw up on the slopes great barren stretches. Her heart seemed to sink. She guessed that her father had been stung with 30 worthless acres up there.

She was right.

She located Willie and her father at the freight station, busily at work. They were dumfounded to see her. Willie said he'd find a place for her to stay at the boarding house.

"I'm going up and see how you live," Ruth declared.

So she rode up with them.

She saw the big khaki tent with it's board floor, the makeshift kitchen and everything.

She saw the hurt look in her father's eyes.

"This will be grand, and the view is gorgeous" she cried, "and father looks twice as well as ever."

"But we can't live on views—" Ruth kicked Willie secretly.

"Father is 10 years younger than when he came out," Ruth declared.

"Tomorrow we'll wander around, it's a holiday," said Ruth.

They curtained off part of the tent and Ruth went to sleep after a long while of unhappy thinking.

Strange surroundings made her awaken at daylight.

Miracle Happens

It was the Fourth of July.
She dressed and got out.
Willie came out.

"Get your revolver or gun and we'll fire a salute," Ruth said.

"Nobody carries guns—only in story books," said Willie.

"But we must fire a salute—got to celebrate Fourth of July," Ruth insisted.

"Well, I could take a piece of that dynamite we had left when we blasted the ledge to finish a road up here," Willie said.

He got the dynamite and with Ruth went to the high point of their own land. Willie looked about. Ruth dug down between two rocks and Willie placed the whole stick of dynamite there, when a quarter of it would have been just as good for the noise. He ran the fuse down. They lighted it and hid back of a sheltering ledge.

Breathlessly they waited—and waited—and waited—

"Bo-O-O-R-R-UMP!!!"

It was a terrible noise!

"'Ray for Fourth of July, Dad!" shouted Ruth, as the old man looked out of the tent. Whatever happened she must keep him cheerful.

"What the heck—"

Willie got no further.

"Water!" shrilled Ruth.

That dynamite had uncovered and opened a big vein of water. A little digging uncovered a subterranean brook that had for ages been pent up over that ridge of rocks.

It poured down over the arid 30 acres in a stream.

Men came from all around, including other suckers who had been stuck with that worthless land.

And the irrigation charges that Mr. Potts got were more than a thousand acres of fruit would have profited them.

Another year found a red-roofed white house there, and also little Chester Dunham, aged three weeks.

They had firecrackers and fireworks, but Mrs. Ruth Dunham reminded Willie that there'd never be another Fourth of July like her first one out there, when the dynamite was shot.

"That was sure one big celebration," she said.

INDIANA

Indiana, beloved State, the best that I have known
Though I have traveled far away, Indiana is my home.
I would rather live in Indiana, the place where I was born
Where Bob White calls from the fields of mint, clover, wheat and corn.
Indiana, the central point of a mighty civilization,
Where it is not always Summer but gently falls the snow.
And Santa with his reindeers cracks his whip and laughs, ho, ho.

Where we don't go cold and hungry—we have oil, coal, gas and wood.
And the larder is never empty, we work and live as all folks should.
Where we drink the dripping coolness of water crystal clear.
A better draught in all the world has not been found I fear.
Where awful earthquakes do not come, nor seas that heave beyond their bounds.
And we do not go three miles for one, o'er mountainous, stony ground.
Where the footprints of my fathers I view from day to day.
And like the evening twilight, they softly stole away.
Religion and good fellowship, to our country ever true.
Hurrah, for the State of Indiana and the old red, white and blue.

Class of Americans Want Us to Have Inferior Navy

Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University, leading pacifist and internationalist, sailed for Europe Saturday and issued a parting appeal to the country not to build a navy equal to Great Britain's. Some of his statements are worth examining. He said:

"It may as well be understood that any agreement at London which should call for a program of increased naval construction on the part of the United States would meet with the stoutest resistance here.

"Parity is the latest form of verbal narcotic to be widely used."

Well, President Hoover is a leading sponsor of parity. He said in his Armistice Day speech in November:

"In setting up this London naval conference we have already agreed with Great Britain that there shall be parity in naval strength between us."

Stimson and the entire American delegation at London have declared for parity and Congress' naval program is based upon it.

When Ramsay MacDonald had talked with President Hoover at Rapidan he stated publicly:

"Take parity. Take it heaped full and running over."

Winston Spencer Churchill, leading spokesman for the British Conservatives, said within the last two weeks that his country was not interested in how much tonnage America built, and in Los Angeles last fall he pleaded for Anglo-American parity, but "a parity of strength, not of weakness."

Not Englishmen, but Americans of the Butler stripe are the ones demanding a second-class navy for this country. Such a policy as Butler advocates is the last thing in President Hoover's mind—witness Hoover's Armistice Day speech:

"We must reduce and limit warships by agreement only. I have no faith in the reduction of armaments by example alone."

That is just what President Cooildge had in mind when he sponsored the 15-cruiser bill in 1928 as a means of building up to the British level, after he had found at Geneva in 1927 that the British would not reduce down to our level. Coolidge said on Armistice Day, 1928:

"All human experience seems to demonstrate that a country which makes reasonable preparation for defense is less likely to be subjected to a hostile attack and less likely to suffer a violation of its rights which might lead to war."

But President Coolidge, President Hoover and Congress are all out of step with the country, says Dr. Butler. He waxes particularly bitter against some Senators. "The movement to establish AND SAFEGUARD international peace," he says, find its chief obstacle in "that group of Senators of the United States for whom Senator Borah is usually the spokesman."

These are the Senators who fought successfully to keep us out of the League of Nations, a fight that was indorsed by the people when THEY rejected the League by 7,000,000 votes in 1920 and by 7,000,000 more in 1924. Those uncomfortable facts appear not to have registered on the mind of Dr. Butler, one of the pillars of the League of Nations association, chief propaganda organization working to get us into the League.

So far as Dr. Butler is concerned, Coolidge is wrong. President Hoover is wrong. Congress is wrong. The people voted wrong twice. Who, then, is right?

Answer: Dr. Butler and his League of Nations adherents who circulated and signed a cablegram to the American naval delegation in London, published March 3, demanding (1) that the United States shall not be committed to building any more ships, and (2) that the United States shall agree to consult with European powers when war breaks out and find out what we all can do about it.

Dr. Butler himself says that his group of "genuine leaders of public opinion" represent the country:

"The impressive appeal published on Monday last, signed by hundreds of men and women who are genuine leaders of public opinion, ought to have two quick results . . . it should sit our delegation at London to rise to the full height of the grave responsibility which rests upon them."

Of course, Dr. Butler was one of the signers of the cablegram. It was sponsored by Carrie Chapman Catt, who has publicly advocated American "disarmament by example," and by Raymond B. Fosdick, Prof. James T. Shotwell and James G. McDonald—all of them prominent members of the League of Nations association. In the list of names attached to the cable are 56 persons on record as favoring our entrance into the League.

Another signer was Frederick J. Libby, head of the "National Council for the Prevention of War," who in February, 1928, was summoned before the House Naval Affairs Committee to explain his "deliberate misrepresentations" of the Coolidge navy-building program in pamphlets he was sending through the country. Two months later he was telling school children of East Orange, N. J., that we were going into the League of Nations during the next (Hoover) administration.

We hazard the guess that the public opinion which will prevail at London, AND AFTER, is the wide and deep public opinion that is consecrated to the doctrine of "adequate defense and mind our own business" which, except for Wilson's lapse, has been American policy from the days of Washington, Jefferson and Adams down to Cleveland, Roosevelt, Coolidge and Hoover.

Traitors and Heroes

Often the Same Thing.

Stanley Baldwin, former Prime Minister of England, unveils a memorial to Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the militant suffragets, who 15 years ago battled with the police, terrorized the House of Commons and otherwise disturbed the peace of the British realm.

By a strange irony, Mr. Baldwin was one of those against whom Mrs. Pankhurst's ire was chiefly directed. And, by another, the London police band furnished music for the dedication.

Yesterday's trouble makers have a habit of becoming today's idols—at least in England. Two British premiers, Lloyd George and Ramsay MacDonald, were once considered traitors by nine-tenths of their countrymen. Lloyd George, because he opposed the Boer War; MacDonald, because he opposed the Great War.

In this country we are slower to bury the hatchet.

Some day, perhaps, Atlanta will erect a statue to William Tecumseh Sherman, and the nation will raise a monument to Jeff Davis near the Lincoln Memorial at Washington.

The mere thought of that would shock many sincere persons in the North and South even now, 65 years after Appomattox.

It would not have seemed unreasonable, however, to Lincoln.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

KIDS always have got the best of the argument with their parents, because the kid is younger, as a general rule. If you don't know what I mean, why it's like this.

Georgie was getting a licking from his dad.

The dad says, "Now, maybe that'll teach you not to hit a boy that's a lot smaller than you are any more!"

"Well," says Georgie, who wasn't so very badly hurt, "I reckon it won't. You ain't setting me a very good example in that line, are you, Dad?"

TAPS

By Herbert Kaufman

TWO final distinctions grace the extraordinary career of William Howard Taft. The FIRST colonial governor to become President of the United States, and the FIRST President of the United States to become its high justice, now becomes both the FIRST President to rest in a national burial ground, and the FIRST chief magistrate to convoke the entire nation to his funeral.

Forty million Americans attended his last rites. Forty million folk, transported to the banks of the Potomac by the magic of radio, stood beside his bier and heard the obsequies of the great administrator, statesman and jurist, upon whom the republic bestowed more honors than any OTHER of her illustrious sons.

Meanwhile, by a sardonic quirk of fate, the differences between Russia and the United States, which Taft had so notably striven to prevent, are indefinitely widened by an organized state and federal drive to smash the trojan horses, designed under Soviet direction to invade every industrial stronghold and release their secret forces for sabotage and anarchy.

WASHINGTON accepts the challenge of Moscow with a decision to round up its trouble-making agents, and deal with all like firebrands under laws laid down for undesirable aliens. The departments of Justice and Labor, co-operating with Commissioner Whalen and the New York police, have concluded to prescribe the deportation act for imported "scarlet fever."

Lists of the Reds in their employ are being prepared, and merchants and manufacturers the land over, are urged to rout these plague-carrying rats from their factories and payrolls.

The Federation of Labor, loyal to the flag and still faithful to the traditions of Samuel Gompers, stands ready in solid ranks to protect Democracy from further Bolshevist penetration.

The American Federation of Labor rejects the principle of Communism as unitedly in 1930, as when the Portland convention voted down its radical minority in 1923.

IT refuses now, as it refused THEN, to barter its precious estate for the chaos and empty pottage pots which a hare-brained, renegade system offers in return.

The American Federation of Labor thus justifies the high regard and profound confidence in which its leadership was notoriously held by Mr. Taft, not only during his incumbency as chairman of the War Labor Board, but throughout previous years of intimate association with Samuel Gompers.

The writer vividly recalls an afternoon EN ROUTE to Detroit, practically devoted to a eulogy of Gompers' character, his integrity and his patriotism.

"America will never realize its debt to Samuel Gompers at this crisis in our fortunes," said Mr. Taft. "We may thank God that He has given us such a man to inspire the millions under his leadership to their duty. I dread to think what might happen if he were suddenly lost to us."

AND the writer likewise recalls a morning with Gompers himself, when, with tears rolling unabashed down his seamed face, he asked how he could be expected to hold labor's unstinted zeal and enthusiasm in line, in face of the stupid insults that it was constantly receiving from certain government bodies.

He related how several Federation members had been summoned as experts to Washington, and, whereas the other appointees to that particular board were engaged at stated salaries, suggestion was made to DISCRIMINATINGLY compensate their CONFRERES only for such days as they were actively engaged—and at their regular trade wage scale.

Imagine the effect on the hair-trigger temper of war-workers if Gompers had demagogically proclaimed the sorded affront of these white-collared morons.

There's room enough at Arlington for soldiers of the common GOOD, as well as presidents and military commanders. Sam Gompers would be in more fitting company THERE than in his present HUMBLE bed in obscured ground.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

I AM sitting in a room on the twenty-ninth floor of a Broadway hotel. Below my window New York spreads out to the Hudson River. Most of the buildings are fairly low, six or seven stories. From this height the city is a jumbled mosaic of dingy red, brown, yellow, gray and black. There are gullies through the mosaic with dark clots and specks that are people. Soot crusts the mosaic, smoke and fog hang above it and from it there rises, night and day, a mumbling and yowling, a roar and clatter.

It is a great sight for an artist. But it is not a very great sight for an historian. From this height life doesn't seem to have come very far. You wonder why human beings, New Yorkers particularly, think they have so much on wood ticks and gophers.

But some 12 blocks to the west something looms abruptly above the dark rubble of roofs. An enormous building, covering at least a square block in area . . . 40 stories up now and still unfinished. But even as it stands, incredibly beautiful. The squawl and scum of the city splatter in a dark foam at its base. The mean little roofs lie littered about. But the great, new building rises up and up, above the noise and the darkness—

It rises up and up into the wide, free air and the sunlight catches it and turns its vast setback cliffs into slabs of gold and ivory and pearl. Looming there, far above the city, it seems dissolved in air . . . molded in sunlight. It is like a dream, a splendid, shining dream, hung high above the darkness—

But it isn't a dream. There are moving spots on top of the building, working in the webs of cranes. Those spots are men. Those spots, down there in the dark gullies, are men, too. And here's the amazing thing. They're the same kind of men! The men that designed those streets designed this building. The men that wanted to live in streets like that now want to live in buildings like this. All the time, while they were living like that, they had a wish like this inside them. Ever since they started, back in caves, hunting and killing each other, stealing from each other, torturing each other, men have had a wish like this inside them. And now, at last, they're getting around to it—

Dark streets, cruel streets, with men scuttling like rats through the darkness and filth—

But above the dark streets, a great, new building rising like a dream—rising, shining and splendid into the wide, free air, where men at last can see the glory of the dawn and hear the call of the sea—

And it isn't taking a new breed of men to do it. Just the same old breed . . . common as you or me . . .

Dark little men, but with somewhere in them a spark! You can believe anything, hope for anything, when you remember that!

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

IN making this declaration we are denying a belief, formerly very prevalent, the belief that animal species, as they are now, came into being suddenly, through some abrupt act of Creation. That belief has now become impossible in the face of a countless assemblage of known and established facts.

On the other hand, all these contributing facts build themselves up into the comprehensive vision of Evolution as the fact of facts, the quintessence of the whole display.

H. G. Wells

But we are not attempting any explanation of this fact of Evolution here. We are not attempting any account here of why species have changed. We will write later on the various theories by which an explanation of this central fact is attempted.

We are not discussing here the Theory of Natural Selection, or the Theory of Creative Evolution, or any theory at all of how Evolution has been carried on. First the facts and then these more stormy issues may be faced. Here we traverse ground upon which scientific men of every creed and school are now agreed.

We make this distinction between fact and theory here and, so to speak, underline it, because we know there is still a considerable confusion in the public mind between the fact of Evolution and the conflicting theories about how it works.

Dishonest Creationists, narrow fanatics and muddle-headed people attempt to confuse the very wide diversity of opinion among scientific men upon the questions of how and why, with their assertion of established fact.

Through this confusion it is suggested that the hated fact is still unproven. It is, on the contrary, proven up to the hilt, and here we shall unfold as much of the evidence as is necessary for conviction.

2. The Nature of the Proof.

BEFORE we go on to the evidence, however, let us consider what our evidence must show if evolution is to be accepted as the general process of life.

First, then, all things living, or once living, must fall into a branching plan. Everything in the past must be reasonably shown to be either ancestral to a living thing or else without descendants; there must be no renewal of the process, nothing in the past must be plainly derived from some later form.

Every mammal, for example, is held to be descended from a reptilian ancestor. Suppose in the early coal measures, before ever a reptile existed, we found the skull of a horse or a lion. Then the whole vision of Evolution would vanish.

A single human tooth in situ in a coal seam would demolish the entire fabric of modern biology.

Next there must be an orderly sequence in fossil forms, so far as they are found. We must see very distinctly that form passes into form.

In the days of Darwin such sequences were hard to find. In those days there were probably not a hundredth part of the present multitude of fossils that are now collected and arranged.

The creationists pointed triumphantly to a gapped and fragmentary story, sustained by hypothesis, broken up by "missing links."

Darwin was challenged to show anywhere in the fossil record the steps by which one species has passed into another. It was then quite a difficult challenge.

Today we have an answer, a score of answers, to that challenge, beyond Darwin's utmost hopes.

Then if animals have been specially created just as they are to fit special conditions, it is reasonable to suppose they are perfectly and completely adjusted to those conditions.

There is no reason why any animal should fail to have any structure that might be helpful in its way of life, or possess any structure it has no need for.

If a cat lives on birds and a tiger on ground game, is there any reason why a cat should not have wings because a tiger has not?

But if the diverse species have been evolved step by step, a certain disharmony is to be expected between inherited structure and reactions, and the full possibilities of the life a creature leads.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 13.—Shoplifters cost New York merchants, big and small, another huge fortune this winter. Such pilfering flourishes in cold weather when heavy wraps are worn. The woman wearing a cape is always trailed by a department store detective. A fourth offender recently got a life sentence.

On rainy days the umbrella shoplifters reap a harvest. They are adroit in sliding pillage off counters and into closed umbrellas. The male shoplifter is rare but there are hundreds of women who have made it a profit-means of livelihood.

The master workers are usually young and their success depends largely on being well dressed. Catching a shoplifter is a task that requires judgment and unerring accuracy. False arrests have cost stores enormous losses in damage suits.

Every city has its quota of women from respectable families who are touched by a kleptomania that is expressed in shop lifting. Most of them have been spotted and are permitted to indulge in the thieving as though in no wise suspected. Relatives pay the bills.

Shop lifters are never arrested in stores. The procedure is to follow them until they reach the street and then place them under arrest. This averts excited hysteria resulting from accusations and prevents the excuse they were merely carrying the stolen article to a floorwalker to be priced.

The most famous of the shoplifters was known as Flash Katie. Until she died several years ago she operated in large cities between San Francisco and New York. She was Junoesque, blonde and wore a sable tipped coat with ingenious secret pockets.

When finally caught she was said to be worth more than a half million in securities, the profit of her loot. Innumerable experts work with passers. The "passer" is a confederate to whom the stolen articles are passed and who is quick in vanishing in the crowds.

A most unusual case of shoplifting grazed the first pages last Christmas time. A woman of social prominence was tapped on the shoulder as she was entering her limousine in front of an avenue store. She was told she was wanted in the manager's office. In her handbag was an expensive jade clock which she had purloined. She admitted the theft and pleaded she was overcome by an uncontrollable impulse. So far as could be learned it was her first, last and only offense. Her husband settled and the case was dropped.

A toy store announces a New York millionaire spent $16,000 in the establishment in a year for amusement jim-cracks for his three boys, aged 4, 6 and 8. And I'd like to announce it gives me a shooting pain.

A doctor, whose practice has been among the rich for years, tells me gout is vanishing in moneyed circles. In other days retired and venerable men sat aching with a foot propped upon a stool rest day after day. The malady was considered rather fashionable. More careful diets and abstinence in drinking are credited for the abatement.

* * *

It is the physician's theory the custom of following a highly seasoned dinner with a rich red goblet of rare old port was responsible for much gout. He found that every gout patient was fond of port.

* * *

It is noticeable that fortunates who sit down nightly to those Lucullus-like feasts—the sort featuring golden service plates and an epergne piled high with imported hothouse fruits — usually wind up nibbling at a digestive cracker and sipping tepid water.

Not that it matters, but I have also observed the most competent daughter in any family is one who has a knack for sewing.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

YOU have qualities about you that many people dislike.

Yet you have never thought of that.

You have certain mannerisms and habits that are displeasing.

When you start to pick flaws in others, you must expect your own will be emphasized by those who hear your criticisms.

You are quite unconscious of the fact that you disagreeably affect certain persons—in fact, you think yourself quite free from offensive traits.

You might be surprised to learn how often your mean ways and words are discussed.

Then, there is the person who remarks about personal defects or deformaties, blemishes that are not the fault of the one possessing them.

Is there anything meaner than to make sport and raise a laugh from your vivid imitation of some unfortunate's physical formation?

It is those who are the keenest critics who never think of themselves as queer or unusual in an unpleasant way to others.

Real beauty comes from within.

Perfect features are not more than putty if the soul is warped.

Heart and mind make character and can make a face transcendentally more beautiful than mere physical perfection.
